Local "Bank Burglary Crew" Captured

BY ANDREW HOOVER

Sheriff's Major Crimes Detectives arrested five men early Friday morning after the suspects cut a hole in the roof of Citibank in Diamond Bar.

The crew of burglars used ladders to climb to the top of different banks where they would then cut a hole into the roof of the bank, allowing them access to the cement vault. The suspects would use walkie-talkies to stay in contact with another suspect who acted as the team lookout.

Labor Dispute Halts Chino Hills Trash Pickup

BY ANDREW HOOVER

Chino Hills - The recent Teamsters strike beginning earlier this year has spread throughout the U.S. and even halted trash pickup in Chino Hills.

Chino Hills felt the effects of the recent Teamsters labor dispute strike on Tuesday, April 9. The day-long strike caused the City of Chino Hills to urge residents to hold their trash until the next regularly scheduled trash pickup.

The affected neighborhoods were the north part of Chino Hills from Scenic Ridge Drive to Giant Forest Loop in Payne Ranch, and from the 71 Freeway to Monte Verde Drive.

Once the strike ended, the Chino Hills Disposal website issued a news release on their website on Wed. April 10. "We apologize for the inconvenience, and ask that residents with Tuesday collection in the cities of Anaheim, Brea, Chino Hills, Fullerton, Garden Grove, Placentia, Yorba Linda and Villa Park place extra trash in plastic garbage bags and place it in, or next to their carts, on their next regularly scheduled collection day," the website stated.

"Commercial collection will be handled similar as to when there is a holiday. Chino Hills Disposal will service Tuesday's routes, as well as part of Wednesday's routes today, doubling-up on collection throughout the remainder of the week, so that we are caught up with all routes by Friday," according to the website.

A recent press statement given by the City of Chino Hills stated that there was a trash pickup on Saturday, April 13 as well, due to the effort in getting the commercial and industrial trash collection caught up.

The Labor Dispute put up by the Teamsters is due to Republic/Allied waste's violation of federal labor laws. "For more than a year now, Republic has been trying to squeeze every last cent out of their workers by cheating them out of pay, ignoring health and safety protections, raising their health care costs, and cutting their retirement benefits," said Ken Hall, Teamsters General Secretary-Treasurer in a press release issued by the Teamsters.

"Sanitation work is the fourth most dangerous job in the country, yet Republic has been bullying these workers by locking them out of their jobs without pay, withholding paychecks, and demanding contract concessions - even though it makes hundreds of millions in profits each year," Hall said. "This company thinks these workers aren't strong enough to fight back, but they're wrong."

Trash pick up is now on it's regularly scheduled times and routes.

Don't Trust These Guys

By MARK HOPPER

Recently I was driving through Fullerton and saw a man holding a sign in front of a Used Car Dealer. The card board sign simply read, "Don't Trust These Guys"!

My first thought was, "This man bought a car from this dealership and had a bad experience!" My second thought was, "Why would anyone trust a Used Car Dealer?"

Now, I am sure that there are some reputable and honest companies that sell used cars. There was a car dealer in Tucson, Arizona and his slogan was, "Clyde's Used Cars - Ugly but Honest"! I knew people who had a good car buying experience with him. But many times you hear stories where people did not have a good experience buying a car - new or used - at a car dealership.

Another slogan that you often hear is, "Buyer Beware". That can apply to investing in the stock market or purchasing a new bed. It is especially true when buying a car!

How do you find a reliable and honest contractor or supplier? How do you know if a business deal will be honored? How do you know if a person or salesman will keep his word?

Maybe a better question is, "Do you keep your word?" Can other people expect you to keep your promises and uphold your part of a business deal? Are you reliable and honest? Or, would people say of you, "Don't trust this guy?"

In the Old Testament, Nehemiah put two men in charge of the city of Jerusalem. He appointed them because he said they were trustworthy. (Nehemiah 13:13)

I wonder, if Nehemiah were alive today, would he consider you or me qualified to oversee a city? Would he find you or me to meet the essential qualification of being "trustworthy"?

Today Is The Best Day

By NANCY STOOPS

Today is the best day to start living the life that you really want. Today is the best day to forgive yourself and others and finally move forward. Today is the best day to let go of all that haunts you and all that keeps you stuck. The truth is, all we really have is today because yesterday is gone and we are unsure about what tomorrow may bring. Today is what we refer to as the present or a gift. As human beings, we should be smart enough not to throw a way a present or a gift. Instead we should be excited about the unwrapping of today and what it might actually be, if we allow it to be.

Today, each and every one of us has a chance to start over. Today, we have a chance to take all of that knowledge that we have learned from our past mistakes and apply to living a better life. Today is like a very new white board and we decide what we want to write on it. All of us should be excited about all of that possibilities and opportunities that come with this brand new day. As we start a new day, we should also pay attention to having the correct mindset. We need to be positive and strong. We need to be filled with self-confidence and a plan to help us meet our goals. We also need to be realistic with ourselves and our goals and remember we need to learn to walk before we can fly. We need to be patient and loving with ourselves, as we use this new day to start building a better self.

I believe in all of you and wish today and all the days to be the life you deserve!

Straight Talk With Danice

DEAR DR. AKIYOSHI,

My co worker commented on the fact that I've gained a lot of weight in the past year and asked me if I thought about going to the gym. He said his gym was running a special, and offered to give me the information. I was mad and embarrassed, so I told him that my salon was offering make over sessions for homely guys, and offered to give him that information. He walked away and hasn't spoken to me for two weeks. I don't feel good about what I did, but I don't think it was much different than what he did. What do you think?

Maria
Dear Maria,
Your intentions were mean spirited. Were his? Or is he just one of those people who aren't very bright about social graces? If he was criticizing and judging you, or trying to make you uncomfortable, then he probably deserves your response. If he is just trying to help you, but he lacks social finesse, then you should try to mend this situation. People who don't have weight problems often don't understand just how complicated this issue can be. Far too many people think it's just a matter of calories in and calories out. This is true some of the time, but quite often there is a lot more going on. It is definitely a sensitive and complex subject. I'm sure down deep you know if his intentions were kind or rude. Act on it accordingly.

Sex offender

Thanks to Megan's Law, the public is able to search to be aware of sex offenders in their city and better protect their families. Registered sex offenders are not allowed to live within 500 feet from any school or park, and are not allowed in a zone between 1000-2500 feet (depending on your state) where children congregate.

Megan's Law passed legislation stating that every sex offender must register with their local law enforcement agency. Before August 2004, the information was only available if requested personally or by calling a toll-free number. However, after September 2004, the public has been able to view this information via the internet. The website was designed to list all sex offenders in California, and was named after Megan Kanka, a 7 year old from New Jersey, who was raped and killed by Jesse Timmendequas, a neighbor who had moved across the street from the family. Timmendequas was a convicted sex offender and the Kanka family was unaware of this.

In the City of Eastvale, there are total of 20 cases of reported registered sex offenders. In the 91752 zip code, there are 3 registered offenders, while in the larger area of Eastvale, 92880, there are 17. Surrounding cities rank higher than Eastvale. Chino Hills has 24 sex offenders registered, Ontario has 172, Norco has 24, Corona has 107, and Riverside has 383. The Megans Law website contains a map where the public is able to navigate and see any convicted individuals and detail information of their crimes. According to the website, there is one registered sex offender around Hamner Avenue and Jamestown Ave, five registered sex offender around Limonite and 65th Street, and two offenders next to each other near Lake Springs Street east of Hamner Ave. Complete data is also available on www.meganslaw.ca.gov, where residents can surf the website and be aware when walking children to school, or when children play outside. Many apps have been created to facilitate the information to those who have smart phones, and alerts can be sent directly to the smart phone whenever you approach a sex offender's location.

There are many ways to care for your family, and Megan's law is one way to ensure the safety of your little ones.

Woman funds terrorists

of La Palma and a lawful permanent resident of the United States, was sentenced by United States District Judge Josephine Staton Tucker.

Mihalik pleaded guilty on August 10, 2012, to one count of providing material support to terrorists. When she pleaded guilty, she specifically admitted that she provided money to an individual in Pakistan with the intention that the money would be used to prepare for and carry out attacks against United States military personnel and other persons overseas. Using the alias "Cindy Palmer," Mihalik sent a total of $2,050 in three wire transfers to the person in Pakistan over the course of three weeks at the end of 2010 and the beginning of 2011.

"International terrorists require a steady pipeline of money to maintain and support their operations," said United States Attorney André Birotte Jr. "The defendant in this case knowingly and deliberately made wire transfers to fund terrorist operations overseas, where contributions like these could have a significant and devastating impact on American interests."

Mihalik's "support for terrorism was knowing and intentional – not the product of undue influence or misguided good intentions and not aberrant conduct," federal prosecutors wrote in a sentencing memo. "In fact, as [Mihalik] herself told the FBI shortly after her arrest, she believed [the person in Pakistan] was a member of the Taliban and Al Qaeda, and she knew he was using the money for mujahadin operations against American military forces in the Afghanistan/Pakistan region."

"The FBI is committed to the prevention of terrorist attacks targeting the United States," said Bill Lewis, Assistant Director in Charge of the FBI's Los Angeles Field Office. "Through the partnerships of the Joint Terrorism Task Force, we will continue to hold accountable those who support terrorist causes by financing operations that target Americans and her interests."

Mihalik has been in federal custody since she was arrested on August 27, 2011, as she was preparing to board a flight to her native Turkey with a one-way ticket. As part of this case, Mihalik agreed that the United States can take away her immigration status and that she will be removed from the United States to Turkey after serving her prison sentence.

"While the sum of money involved in this case may not seem substantial, there's no doubt the funds this defendant sent overseas would have covered the cost of an attack on U.S. soldiers," said Claude Arnold, special agent in charge for HSI Los Angeles. "Money is the mother's milk of terrorism and we will move aggressively against those who provide financial support to groups and individuals bent on harming the U.S. and its allies."

The case against Mihalik was investigated by the FBI's Joint Terrorism Task Force. The JTTF includes special agents with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement's Homeland Security Investigations, as well as investigators with the Orange County Sheriff's Department.

Local "bank burglary crew" captured

Each suspect wore identical outfits including identical shoes. They also traveled in a van with a missing license plate.

The Sheriff's Detectives started the investigation with a bank burglary in August 2011 and have been investigating the crew for a year. They believe they are responsible for at least three similar bank jobs in the Diamond Bar and Rowland Heights area, according to a LA County Sheriff news release.

On April 5, detectives watched the burglars operate at the Citibank in Diamond Bar under the cover of darkness. When the burglars left the bank, deputies followed and arrested the crew. Evidence from the arrest were recovered, which included a portion of the bank's roof, roofing material, two way radios, tools, gloves and ski masks.

After the arrests, sixty Sheriff's Deputies served search warrants at seven residences in Banning, Beaumont, Yucaipa, Fontana and Riverside, to gather additional evidence and search for the proceeds from the prior burglaries. Investigators seized 12 high end vehicles, a 24 foot power boat, 7 Ducati motorcycles, several firearms, and jewelry from the locations. Detectives also recovered approximately $30,000 dollars during the search. But, the majority of the money is still missing.

"We're talking a lot of money, about 6 million dollars in total," said Sheriff Lee Baca at a press conference on April 10 when talking about how much the suspects had stolen total during the year.

The suspects arrested were identified as Laurentiu Penescu, 38 of Yucaipa; Lucian Isaia, 32 of Beaumont; Alceu Andreis, 44 of Banning; Dean Andrew Muniz, 45 of Fontana; and Daniel Soto, 36 of Riverside. They were all booked at the Walnut Sheriff's Station and are being held on a bail amount of $500,000 dollars, except for Daniel Soto, who has a bail amount of $3 million dollars.

The suspects were arraigned in Pomona Court and charged with several counts of burglary, conspiracy, grand theft and vandalism.

"One will ask why is this crime considered a burglary and not a robbery? A robbery involves force or fear and this is a burglary because they entered the roof with an intent to steal," said Baca "This is one of the most sophisticated and well organized operations that we have ever come across."
