State Of The City Reminds Us: What's Great About Eastvale

BY ANDREW HOOVER

Eastvale - The City of Eastvale held its Second Annual State of the City Address on the night of April 9, 2013 to give a public update on Eastvale and how quickly it's growing.

The Eastvale State of the City, hosted by the Eastvale Chamber of Commerce, began the event with a speech by Jorge Razo, Chairman of the Board Chamber of Commerce. See Jorge's entire speech on page 13.

The speech was followed by the Showing of the Colors performed by the Jurupa Valley Station Explorer post #880, pledge of allegiance, and a beautiful rendition of the Star Spangled banner sung by Abbey Horan of Roosevelt High School.

After a quick presentation of the sponsors, Dignitaries, and Board of Directors, Jeff DeGrandpre took the stage. "Why Eastvale?" Jeff asked the crowd. "Well, Eastvale has great

Councilman Comments Over Convention Sparks Controversy

BY ANDREW HOOVER

Eastvale - Eastvale City Council members have recently held a crossfire about the Las Vegas International Conference of Shopping (ICN) Centers in May of last year.

At the City Council Meeting on March 27, a motion was called to decide who would be attending the next International Convention of Shopping Centers (ICSC) RECON conference in Las Vegas again. When a motion was made to have Mayor Ike Bootsma and Mayor Pro-tem Adam Rush go instead of Jeff DeGrandpre and Kelly Howell, DeGrandpre was the first to speak up about it.

DeGrandpre stated at this

How To Spot A Marijuana House

BY: ANDREW HOOVER

Eastvale - Several upscale communities like Walnut, Diamond Bar, Chino Hills, and Eastvale have been targets for "marijuana grow houses." Just recently, the Sheriff Dept. has released a statement indicating that over 17 houses have been uncovered in a 20 mile radius since Jan 2013.

A "Marijuana grow house" is typically a house located in a suburban area that is industrialized to grow and distribute Marijuana. This process includes bypassing the electrical meter by way of expensive and high grade electrical equipment or leading a wire to the power line before the meter. The houses must be maintained at a certain temperature as well to ensure the crops growth. Due to this, the houses can possess the ability to create an immediate

The Planning Department Creating a Beautiful City from the Dirt Up!

By CAROL JACOBS, CITY MANAGER

The Eastvale Planning Department is often the first stop for businesses or individuals who are proposing to build a new development, open a business, or expand an existing business. Working closely with other City departments, the Planning Department works to implement the City Council's direction about the type and quality of development in Eastvale. It is Planning's responsibility to ensure that the City is built in a way to ensure that the quality of life that Eastvale's residents' value is maintained and enhanced. Planning provides staff support to the City Council and Planning Commission, and coordinates the environmental analysis of proposed public and private projects. Planning ensures that the City remains up-to-date with regard to state and federal mandates for planning and environmental analysis, and keeps abreast of changes in laws and regulations that affect the City's operations. Planning also works closely with the development community and the public, helping to shepherd projects through the approval process. Reflecting the customer-friendly attitude at City Hall, planners are available at City Hall anytime to answer questions and meet with the public. If the "planner of the day" is busy, the City's "Virtual Planner" system provides a video link to allow a friendly, face-to-face conversation with a qualified planner familiar with Eastvale. The City of Eastvale utilizes the services of the PMC to provide planning services. In addition to a core team of Eastvale planners, PMC brings the expertise of more than 100 other professionals skilled in a broad range of specialized areas, from Housing to Fiscal Analysis. PMC has been with the City since incorporation. PMC was responsible for preparing the first Eastvale General Plan, which was completed ahead of schedule and at a savings of more than $1-million. PMC also worked with the Planning Commission and City Council to update and streamline the City's Zoning Code to make it easier to use. Should you have any questions or comments, City Hall may be reached at Hall (951) 361-0900. City Hall office hours are Monday-Thursday from 7:30 am – 5:30 pm, closed every Friday. City Hall encourages all residents and visitors to register for e-notification on the City's website: www.EastvaleCA.gov.

ing more features and provide several more amenities that would benefit the community. This project was approved by the council. The next item on the agenda was the review of the City plan which was the most important item of the evening, discussing the city's goals and direction. The city had Applied Development Economics fulfill the $39,860 contract in January to prepare the document for the council meeting on April 24. The consultant had held 29 meetings with residents and business/land owners as well as city officials, city council members, the planning commission and public safety commission during the three months that it was fulfilling its contract. The aim of the meetings was to get opinions and ideas based on each person's experiences. The City Plan had 4 main goals, which include: establish a solid fiscal foundation for the city, optimize the city's economic potential, maintain an excellent level of public safety, and provide high-quality public facilities, infrastructure and amenities. "Eastvale Is a prosperous city with an excellent quality of life, attracting metropolitan-level retail, restaurants, and office businesses that employ local residents," stated the Strategic Plan Document. The plan described each goal in detail focusing on what residents and other members of the City said. The council decided to discuss many of the factors and revise the document and will present it during the next city council meeting to state if it is passed or not. Next, the council chose to pass the motion to extended its contracts with Interwest Consulting Group and PMC for engineering and building safety services and planning services by a 5-0 vote. Finally, the council approved a contract with Advanced Towing Inc. to provide on-call towing services to Eastvale with the vote being 3-2. Councilmen Richard "Rick" Welch and Adam Rush cast the dissenting votes.

schools," Jeff stated. Jeff went on to explain that Eastvale also has well maintained parks and is a safe place to raise a family. DeGrandpre explained that Eastvale is the fastest growing city in the Riverside County and the fifth fastest growing city in the State of California. He also pointed out that Eastvale has the highest median household income in Riverside County at $115,025. Jeff expanded on that by adding that Eastvale has absolutely no city debt, passed a balanced budget, and has a healthy reserve. Jeff finished up his speech by adding that Eastvale's sales tax that it earned by consumers in Eastvale grew by 49.58% from 2011 to 2012 and is still growing.

Eastvale's Mayor Ike Bootsma gave his speech next. After a brief introduction of the new businesses in Eastvale, Bootsma went on to the core of the address. "We have wonderful schools in Eastvale, which we are so proud of. Corona Norco Unified School District is the largest district in Riverside County and now the 9th largest district in the State of California, serving over 55,000 students in the cities of Eastvale, Corona and Norco," said Bootsma.

Bootsma also showed the Academic Performance Index, which measures how well students are learning. Out of 1000 points, Eastvale Elementary School topped out at 911 API points with the lowest being 812 API points at Eleanor Roosevelt High School. "We are proud to have 2 California Distinguished Schools in the City of Eastvale: Clara Barton Elementary and Harada Elementary. In addition, the School District has been nominated twice for the prestigious Eli Broad Award which is one of the highest honors a school district can achieve," said Bootsma.

After an introduction of the City Council and staff members, Bootsma stated Eastvale's planned projects for 2013, which included the widening of Hamner Ave. near Citrus for the Silverlakes Project underway; widening of Schleisman Ave. between Hellman and The Enclave; coordinating the tear down of the old cell tower in the middle of Schleisman Rd. which is not a city project; the repavement of Hellman Ave.; develop a Bikeway Master Plan and Truck Route Study; and continue efforts to seek funding from regional, state, and federal agencies to fund additional infrastructure improvements.

Bootsma wrapped up the State of the City Address with Eastvale's City Plan. "The City Council is working on developing a five-year strategic plan as a guiding document for providing leadership and identifying the priorities and direction of the City. This will include the development of a Mission Statement, Vision Statement, and identify the City's Core Values. The plan will provide an organizational strategy that outlines five-year goals and objectives for the City, as well as outlines how the City can successfully reach these goals."

on teaming up with families to teach children the love of Jesus Christ.

StoneBridge Academy first opened their doors on September 24, 2012, by the owner and director, who has over 8 years in the field as a teacher and administrator. "I have a passion for young children with a desire to teach them about the Word of God. Work doesn't feel like work when you are with the kids and you are not only teaching, but constantly learning something from them every day," said StoneBridge.

The main goal of StoneBridge is to provide a strong Christian foundation for your child's future while training their hearts, hands, and minds for an exciting future full of hope in an enriched and nurturing environment.

"Students are provided the opportunity to exceed expectations with highly qualified staff, curriculum, and exceptional activities," said StoneBridge. "Our students are encouraged and awarded while building confidence to take on what God has planned."

Through a Christ-centered education, students will engage in character building based on biblical principles and a unique balance of academic and developmental activities in a safe, fun, and loving environment. Each classroom is equipped with age appropriate curriculum and materials that are designed to meet the needs of your child. Each classroom allows children to grow at different levels with a staff that is keen on allowing children to grow and learn at their own pace.

StoneBridge offers a program that meets the environmental and interactional needs of young children from 2 to 5 years old, and they pride themselves on providing a multi-intelligence approach to learning. The program provides experiences that enrich and enhance each child's cognitive, language, social, emotional, physical and creative development, all centered on biblical principles.

Within StoneBridge's structured schedule, your child will have the opportunity to create, explore the environment, learn problem solving, obtain personal interaction skills, and understand concepts through first-hand experience. Your child will learn through songs, stories, worksheets, flash cards, role play, and games.

StoneBridge offers discounts for multi-child enrollments, current armed forces parents, law enforcement parents, fire fighters, teachers and pastors. They can be contacted by phone at 951-520-1000, on facebook at www.facebook.com/stonebridgechristianacademy, or in person at 4193 Bluff Street, Norco CA 92860. Councilman comments over convention sparks controversy

City Council meeting that he did not agree with the way money was utilized during the last event, which was held last year in Las Vegas.

"I was at the Ontario Airport Monday morning, not Sunday night. Monday morning heading out there, a lady from the County came up to me ... I had my shirt on that said Mayor City of Eastvale, and she said, 'I'm glad to see somebody from the City of Eastvale is finally coming because nobody was there from the Eastvale the night before,'" stated DeGrandpre. "That upset me a little bit. So, I mean, after all, some people went out Saturday, they came with spouses, it was a nice little vacation there."

DeGrandpre went on to further state his side of the conference by making allegations such as, the booth being empty each time he visited it, and how certain developers who are already in the City of Eastvale were being met.

He further stated that it "was a waste of tax payer money."

DeGrandpre was also upset with the developers that Kelly Howell and Michele Nissen met with.

"I'm looking at the report from last year and these folks went to places like In-N-Out, Steak and Shake, a bakery, Hickory Farms, Jersey Mike's, Brunswick Bowling. This is not the purpose of this conference, this conference is not to get another sub shop here in Eastvale, it is to get the development underway, and the developers then go out and get the people that then lease space from them," said DeGrandpre. "My idea of going to this conference, and I already actually have a couple of appointments set, is to get the big developers in here with millions of dollars to get it going, not to go get another dry cleaners. Sorry, that's just a waste of money."

Kelly Howell was next to retort back stating that DeGrandpre's allegations of the trip being a vacation was untrue. "I do like to discount and I disagree with you, regarding the comments you made about going with spouses and making a vacation of it, because that's completely untrue and unnecessary," stated Howell.

According to a document sent to last year's City Manager, Robert Van Nort, Howell and Nissen visited 31 retailers and developers during that time, which accounted for the booth being empty from time to time due to lucrative business opportunities and meetings being made. Some of the developers and retailers being met with included In-N-Out, Jersey Mikes which opened recently in September of 2012, the U.S Postal Service, and Brunswick Bowling.

At the most recent City Council meeting on April 10, Brian Nissen, the husband of Eastvale Public Information Officer Michele Nissen, and local community activist, Richard "Dickie" Simmons, attended the meeting, where both stated that were appalled at the allegations that were made at the last city meeting.

Brian Nissen defied DeGrandpre's notion that they "had a nice little vacation" at tax payer expense. "This is an outright lie," Brian Nissen said. "I did not attend the convention."

Dickie Simmons pointed out that meeting with developers is city business, and that council should refrain from such meetings.

DeGrandpre then defended himself stating that "at no time did I say they misused money." However, he felt the $7,700 that council members voted to use for marketing materials "was kind of wasteful."

"I may have gone off the rails," DeGrandpre added.

At the April council meeting, Kelly Howell provided documents clearly stating every expense made at the conference. She wanted to show her side of the story, as well as allow the public to clearly view the amounts spent by each member as well as a memorandum of the event detailing the business and developers that were met with at the conference.

According to a memo to then City Manager Bob Van Nort, last year in May, the Eastvale City Council visited the ICSC RECON in Las Vegas to allow them to get better acquainted with new developers for the City, make new connections with new developers, and introduce the City of Eastvale to a larger market of individuals and make our cities presence known. ICSC RECON is the world's largest real estate exhibit and convention where approximately 30,000 industry professionals attend with hundreds of exhibitors. Councilman DeGrandpre and Councilwoman Kelly Howell attended ICSC RECON last year, as well as City staff member Michele Nissen.

The total amount that Eastvale tax payer money was spent during that trip was $7,761.26, which covered travel for the event, lodging, pavilion fee, give-a ways, pamphlets, as well as other misc items such as phone and food, which was all necessary toward the conference trip itself.

fire hazard with all the electricity being generated through amateur wiring. However, fire hazards aren't the only downside to grow houses. Most of the time, growers are involved in gang activity which brings the threat of violent crime into your neighborhood. Grow houses can also cause property values to drop which can put a strain on homeowners in the area.

According to the DEA and FBI, marijuana is a multi-billion dollar industry which includes profits made from the "legal" dispensaries across the states that have legalized it for medical purposes. Grow house owner's supply to every market as well as including the medical marijuana dispensaries and the current black market, making marijuana an incredibly lucrative crop and one of the most easily accessible drugs.

Eastvale has been home to multiple grow house incidents. The most notable were the raids that happened in March, which led to the uncovering of a large marijuana grow operation that spanned from multiple cities including Eastvale, Walnut, and Diamond Bar.

In April, four more grow houses were spotted in Eastvale. The first was on April 10 at 1:45 P.M. on the 6300 block of La Mesa St., where deputies seized over 600 marijuana plants, one pound of processed marijuana, digital scales and packaging material. The next grow house was raided on April 16 at 11 pm on the 6900 Block of Rapids Dr. Deputies seized over 1100 marijuana plants, one pound of processed marijuana, digital scales and packaging material. The last and most recent houses were discovered on April 24. The houses were located on the 6400 block of Harrow St. and 13000 block of Running Deer Cir. The first warrant was served at around 4 pm on Harrow Street, where deputies seized over 850 marijuana plants, a half-pound of processed marijuana, digital scales and packaging material. Additionally, electricity was being bypassed around the meter, causing a serious fire hazard and resulting in approximately $3000 a month in stolen electricity. The second warrant was served on Running Deer Circle at around 6 pm when deputies seized over 600 marijuana plants, digital scales and packaging material and estimated that around $4,000 worth of electricity had been bypassed around the meter.

Eastvale police and the Riverside Sheriff Dept. has recently released a statement giving tips on how to spot a grow house. Some of these tips include looking out for windows that are covered from the interior, lights and televisions on timers, subjects moving in commercial grade electrical equipment during the late night or early morning hours, no signs of normal residential occupation, and the smell of marijuana emitting from the home.

It's also advised to never approach someone who you may think is operating a grow house for your own safety, as owners are usually criminals involved in some form of gang activity and do not want anybody interfering with their operation.

If you or someone you know suspects a home of being a grow house, you are strongly advised to call calling Deputy Javier Morando at the Jurupa Valley Station at (951) 955-2600 or the Riverside County Sheriff's Department's dispatch center at (951) 776-1099.

Frequently Asked Tire Questions

STAFF REPORTS

Eastvale – As the summer months approach us, it's important to pay attention to your tires. Here are a few more tire tips provided by Chris Mitsos, President of Mountain View Tires, located at 6080 Hamner Avenue in Eastvale. Remember: regardless how expensive your car is, the tires are the ones that keep you rolling.

Why should I have my tires filled with Nitrogen?

There are a few reasons that Nitrogen is preferred over compressed air.

1) Nitrogen doesn't pass through tires as easily as compressed air, so your tires stay properly inflated longer. When your tires are properly inflated, they help your vehicle roll down the road easier. That lessens the demand on your engine, which reduces fuel consumption.

2) Nitrogen is an inert gas so it won't cause your wheels and the metal belts in your tires to rust like compressed air can over time.

3) Research has shown that tires filled with nitrogen are 20% less likely to fail prematurely.

Given the fuel savings and the fact that nitrogen causes less damage to your tires and wheels, it's estimated that using Nitrogen can save you between 150 and 300 dollars per year.

What are some of the signs of uneven tire wear?

Tires often show symptoms of wear or other problems in plenty of time to have the cause corrected. Look for these signs:

1) A sawtooth appearance on the edges of the tire. This is usually caused by erratic scrubbing against the road when a tire is in need of a toe-in or toe-out alignment correction.

2) Faster wear on the outer edges than in the middle. When a tire is underinflated, a greater percentage of the outer tread makes contact with the road, causing that outer tread to wear faster than usual. Avoid this problem by keeping your tires properly inflated.

3) Faster wear of front or rear tires on front wheel drive vehicles. The rear tires on front wheel drive vehicles may wear irregularly due to the light loads on the rear axle or misalignment of the rear axle. Regular tire rotation will minimize uneven wear. The front tires on front wheel drive vehicles may wear faster than the rear tires because they carry most of the weight and do most of the work. To encourage even wear, have the tires rotated so all four tires wear at approximately the same rate. Check your owner's manual for the recommended amount of time between rotations.

4) Excessive wear on one side. Camber, or toe-in misalignment, which places too much of the work on one side of the tire, is usually to blame for one-sided wear. An alignment correction is required.

5) Cups or dips in the tread. Many things can cause this kind of irregular wear. Misalignment or worn suspension components are the most likely causes.

What type of car maintenance can increase tire life?

Correct vehicle alignment is a must, so have it checked periodically. Improper alignment cannot only lead to excessive tire wear; it also can increase your car's fuel consumption. Tires and wheels should be balanced dynamically (rear wheels as well as front). Off-the-car computer balancing is recommended.

Jersey Mike's Presents Check to Charity

By SARAH ARMIJO

Eastvale – Last month, eight Inland Empire Jersey Mike's gathered at the Eastvale Jersey Mike's to present a check to local charity Steven's Hope for Children, after their Jersey Mike's Month of Giving.

Nationally, Jersey Mike's Subs had set aside the month of March as the Month of Giving, where every store collected donations for a specific charity throughout the month. Also, on one specific day of the month, they donate 100% of that day's sales to the charity as well, according to Eastvale Jersey Mike's co-owner, Alessandra Rubalcaba. The Inland Empire co-op decided to all group together and choose Steven's Hope as the charity for their Month of Giving. On April 18 at around 3 p.m., the owners and the operators of the eight Inland Empire Jersey Mike's, City of Eastvale officials, and Eastvale community members gathered to present a $35,218 check to Steven's Hope founders, Tony and Sandy Cappelli. See page 13 for the picture of this event.

As a brand, Jersey Mike's ended up collecting over 1.7 million dollars for the Month of Giving campaign. For more information on Jersey Mike's, go to www.jerseymikes.com or call (951) 360-MIKE. For more information on Steven's Hope for Children, go to stevenshope.org.

Eastvale Community Foundation Awards First Scholarship Check

STAFF REPORTS

Eastvale – The Eastvale Community Foundation awarded their very first check to the new Eastvale Pop Warner, as part of the County Grant for children's sports and arts programs

The check for $11,700, was presented to Eastvale Pop Warner President and Founder Darrin Acevedo on behalf of more than 20 Eastvale children, who will have their league registration fees paid for by the Eastvale Community Foundation through the Grant Scholarship. Presenting the check to Acevedo were Eastvale Mayor Ike Bootsma and Foundation Board Member Yvonne Ontiveros.

"This program is about the kids and the community. It's a wonderful thing that we can reach out to these kids," stated Acevedo.

The Scholarship Grant check is just the first of many the Eastvale Community Foundation hopes to present to a variety of organizations on behalf of the children of Eastvale. The Grant, provided by the County of Riverside and the City of Eastvale, is for any Eastvale resident children to participate in any approved sport or arts program. Applications and requirement guidelines can be picked up at City Hall or they can be printed off the City of Eastvale website at

"This is one of the reasons the Eastvale Community Foundation was created, so we can help the children and families of this city," stated Foundation Executive Director Al Nassar.

"There is still money to be given away for Arts and Sports programs so we hope all those in need pick up an application."

was obtained for the residence. When officers arrived on scene, they found over 1100 marijuana plants, one pound of processed marijuana, digital scales and packaging material. Additionally, electricity was being bypassed around the meter, causing a serious fire hazard and resulting in approximately $4500 a month in stolen electricity.

April 13, 2013- A postal worker delivering mail in Corona was shot in the left temple by a pellet gun according to police. Mail service has stopped until a suspect is arrested or until the mailbox is moved and/or deemed safe to work again.

April 18, 2013- Booked for investigation of burglary and conspiracy to commit a felon were 35-year-old Eric Lee Rivera, 42-year-old Camilo Rivera, and 22-year-old Dloreen Jae Lachesky. All 3 suspects were accused of robbing grocery stores, pharmacies and hardware stores in Corona, Moreno Valley, Perris, Menifee and Murrieta.

April 21, 2013- A Riverside bus driver is credited with helping police catch a violent robbery suspect who boarded his bus in Corona. Bob Owens, a Riverside Transit Agency bus driver, recognized Eric Cunningham's face from wanted posters. Police said that on April 16, Cunningham, 45, used a hammer or mallet to bludgeon the 52-year-old owner of a Riverside tobacco shop and then grabbed cash from the register. The victim was hospitalized in serious condition, officials said. On Thursday morning, Cunningham boarded the bus on Smith Street in Corona and took a window seat at the front of the bus, according to the Riverside Transit Agency. Owens played it cool, taking care not to look back at Cunningham, appear nervous or report the crime over the radio, for fear Cunningham would hear. Owens waited until he could quietly ask another bus driver to alert police during a stop. Minutes later, Owens made a stop on his route at the Galleria at Tyler, where officers were waiting for Cunningham.

April 12, 2013- A former Corona police officer who did not disclose allegations that a 13-year-old boy was possibly being abused by the pastor and other members of her church was sentenced to three years' probation and 250 hours of community service. Margaret Bell Former cop testified in court on April 12 stating that she was never told that anything criminal was going on at the church other than a witness report stating the boy was poked in the chest with a pair of pliers. Lonny Lee Remmers,

54, Nicholas James Craig, 22, Darryll Duane Jeter, 28, who are the pastor and church members, are facing a slew of felony charges for allegedly threatening and physically assaulting a then-13-year-old boy, one allegation stated that the men tied the boy to a chair in Remmers bathroom and pepper sprayed and pinched him in the chest to punish him.

Eastvale Approves Ordinance On Usage Of The City Seal

By: ANDREW HOOVER

Eastvale - At the City Council meeting on April 10, there was a ordinance called to attention to adopt the city's seal, name, and logo.

The ordinance states that any entities attempting to use the city's seal, name or logo would need to be reviewed by the city manager, if the request was within reason to be used and served Eastvale's best interests, it would then be brought to the City Council for approval.

The ordinance also states that any persons or entities that use the City seal, name or logo without council or city approval, would suffer a misdemeanor charge each day they are in violation and is also punishable by a maximum of one year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

The motion to approve the ordinance was passed by a 5-0 vote.

A Mission To Serve

By MICHAEL ARMIJO

There are church missions, work missions, old Spanish Missions, and even mission impossible. But for Corona resident, Jessica De La Paz, there's a LIFE MISSION.

Jessica's world has brought her to not just go help, but to learn HOW to help. To step onto the soil of a third world country and complete a "hands on" job and help. Her life's mission is to help others, not just in a localized manner, but on a globalized manner.

"I saw a photograph of an African child on the ground starving and there was a vulture standing in the background," said Jessica. "That picture, along with research I did about Africa, made me want to visit, learn, and do something about it."

She also spent time in El Salvador and that gave her more fuel to the fire.

"For the past five years, I've had a burning desire to help kids in Africa, and it grew stronger after I visited Abelines, El Salvador and saw the poverty there."

Jessica currently attends Biola University majoring in Intercultural Studies with a minor in Biblical Studies, International Development, and Social Justice and Human Rights Advocacy. Her hope is to travel to Africa and empower others who are oppressed and vulnerable, while restoring hope and alleviating root issues of poverty.

Her trip to Africa is this month, May 24 through July 26, where she'll finally be on her way to South Africa for her academic-professional internship with a non-governmental organization (NGO) called Orchard: Africa. They are a non-profit organization whose mission is to restore hope by creating sustainable change in rural African villages. Jessica will be learning sustainable and Christ-centered solutions to the poverty/AIDS crisis and its outworking in African communities.

Before she graduates, she'll be interning for this amazing NGO in their education track will be working in the rural African village schools and after-school programs to work with educators to research, develop, and implement educational toolkits to make learning a fun experience for children from preschool through middle school. AIDS and HIV pose serious threats for Africa and results in death and millions of orphans. Orchard, Africa will help her seek ways to stop the cycle of poverty, HIV/AIDS, death, and orphans. Education empowers these kids to go on and become the future leaders of Africa by stopping this vicious cycle and transform the societal issues present in Africa.

Now Jessica needs the help of others, to help those in a larger need.

"I've paid for some of the program myself, but need more support and appreciate those who have already lent a hand," she said. If you wish to help send her to South Africa this summer please visit www.orchidafrica.org/supportinterns and be sure to select Jessica De La Paz for the intern. These donations are tax deductible and you will receive a tax receipt immediately. Any little bit will help her get to Africa and the children of the rural South African villages. President's Message

By: JORGE RAZO, CHAMBER PRESIDENT

Our 2nd Annual State of the City was held last month and was such a tremendous success. We ended up with the highest attendance ever for the Eastvale Chamber of Commerce and made so many connections to the residents and businesses.

The speech I read at the event was inspiring and heartfelt to me, so I wanted to share it with our community:

As I stand before you this evening, I am very proud to be here as your Chamber President and I take great pride in assuming this role within our business community. I live here, I own a business here, and I believe in shopping locally to support our fair city. I also believe that there are many elements in being successful, some I'd like to share with you now...

I have a friend who has done everything under the sun. He sold insurance, he fixed cars, he's even moved refrigerators. After a long, trying day, I asked him a very simple question: why do you work so hard? He responded: "because I have to provide for my family." The lesson learned that day: BE RESPONSIBLE.

I'm reminded of another story: when I was young, I worked at a small business that defined my people skills. A young nurse, who was working at Martin Luther King Medical Center, asked me: "what do you want to be when you grow up." I told her: "I'd like to help join children and families together through adoption, but it seems as though there are so many others doing that, so I'm not sure what I want to do." She responded: "It doesn't matter how workers there are in the adoption world, just as long as you're the best." The lesson learned that day: THERE'S NO SUCH THING AS COMPETITION.

I remember years ago when I started my small business, I felt discouraged on profits and production. I sat there on the ivory colored brick, with my head in my hands. A young woman walked up to me and asked if I was the owner. She wanted to thank me for the extra work we did without charge, for listening to her when she voiced how she felt, and for treating her like a professional. The lesson learned that day: BUSINESS IS LIKE LIFE: SOMETIMES MONEY ISN'T THAT IMPORTANT.

I remember watching a highly acclaimed Oscar acclaimed film, and one character said to another: "The chances of making it are one in a million," to which the star replied: "then at least there's a chance." The lesson learned that day: MESSAGES COME FROM ALL AVENUES OF LIFE. (Actually, it wasn't an Oscar acclaimed film, it was a hen and a rooster in the movie "Chicken Run".)

A few months ago, I interviewed in a position that I've always wanted in an industry I never gave up on, adoption. I was nervous because to me it was a dream job. To help join children and families together through adoption, to help people from all walks of life become families. The lesson learned that day: NEVER GIVE UP ON A DREAM.

And finally, I remember starting at the bottom, struggling, but always trying to focus on helping join children and families together, through adoption. I then realized I've been doing this type of work for many years and it still feels good to help others. The lesson learned that day: SOME DREAMS LAST A LIFETIME.

So I believe that as we travel throughout our lives, our ability to listen and learn will greatly impact our success. Whether it's simple lessons like in "be responsible," "be the best," "chase your dreams," or just "go see a good movie."

My hope for this community is that we all realize we can, together, learn from one another. We all have a common bond: we live together from all walks of life, and we are brought together as a family. We are all "adopting" one another to maintain a family-like environment. Treating one another with respect and love. When we practice this, we will always find the pathway that leads to the peace of mind we all dream of, and professional success we all deserve.

Thank you for this wonderful opportunity.

be sent out to all Chamber members as well.

"As a fairly new chamber, we've decided to utilize the space given to us by the Eastvale Community News and mail copies to our members, informing them of the upcoming events and chamber news," said Eastvale President Jorge Razo. "Most chambers only mail the information to other members, we will be reaching residents AND chamber members, with pictures, highlights, and other information."

Razo also noted that there will be changes to the format, with business member highlights, listings, and pictures. The mailing begins this month, changes go into effect in the June 2013 edition.

My Mom, the Superhero

BY PASTOR MARK LEE

Growing up, my mom had super powers. She could be in the kitchen with the radio on, TV blaring, the garbage disposal running, talking on the phone, and in the middle of all of that, if I was not doing my homework, somehow my mom knew.

It's amazing the kind of powers that God gives every mom, and they need it. First of all, their job is so incredibly difficult. One character on the TV show "The Golden Girls" said, "It's not easy being a mother. If it were, fathers would do it." Whether you're a stay-at-home mom, a single mom, a stepmom, a working mom, it doesn't matter. Mothering is hard work.

Can you imagine what a help wanted ad would look like if you were trying to fill the position of a mother? "Must be on call 24 hours a day. Never have a day off. No sick leave. No paycheck. No pension. No promotional opportunities. Must have infinite patience, boundless energy, and inexhaustible love. Also, may be required to take a second job just to make ends meet."

Moms also need these special abilities because their job is so important. Moms are cutting-edge leaders in the people development business. You are molders of human beings. People who've achieved amazing feats invariably point back to their mothers as being key influencers in their life.

Abraham Lincoln said: "God bless my mother – all that I am, or ever hope to be, I owe to her." Thomas Edison said: "My mother was the making of me." Napoleon put it this way: "The future destiny of the child is always the work of the mother." Thank you Moms for all your hard work and sacrifice. We would not be the people we are without you!

Mother Nature

BY PASTOR TIM EATON

Recently, I was up late working on a home improvement project and the stillness of the house was quickly broken by the screaming of my younger son; "I want Mommy!" Not wanting my wife to have to get up at the late hour, I tried very unsuccessfully to comfort him. In fact, I seemed to do more harm than good. After a few moments she entered the room, spoke a few tender words, and held our screaming son. He fell fast a sleep almost immediately. Why couldn't I do that? There is something about a mother's touch that no one can replace.

A similar situation occurs when one of the little ones feels under the weather. Moms seem to instinctively know how to treat everything. The phrase "Dr. Mom" is a well earned credential. How do they do it? Loving mothers have a bond, a connection with their children that comes from their attentive love. In Isaiah 66:13, God even compares his loving comfort to a mother's: "As a mother comforts her child, so will I comfort you; and you will be comforted..." He promises that his comfort will take effect! Even if mom isn't available, you can take comfort in Him.

Join us for a special mother's day service May 12th, and make your kid's summer special with VBS evenings, June 17th-21st. Online registration is open now.

YOUR LOCAL PASTORS

Seeing Parents as People

BY PASTOR ROB NORRIS

Understanding is a fountain of life to one who has it.

Proverbs 16:22

Not everyone has fond memories of their relationship with their parents. Perhaps even now, the relationship you share with your parents is strained and distant. You may even find yourself avoiding them, weary of being hurt by the things they say or do ... or don't do.

But, one of the great opportunities of being an adult is to step back and look at your parents in a fresh way--as real people, with needs and challenges. By looking at your parents more objectively--by seeing them through the eyes of Christ--you may be able to understand them and your relationship with them. And you may also experience what happens when His grace transforms the hard edges of a strained relationship into something that bears His redemptive fingerprints.

Consider taking a fresh, careful look at your parents today. What do you see? Do you see people who experience worry, insecurity, fear, disappointment and anger--just like you? People who've made wrong and unwise choices in life--just like you? People who struggle--just like you?

I can remember back about 15 years ago when my mom came to live with us, I had to grow out of my childish self-centeredness and my desire for mom to meet my needs. As I began to understand what her needs were, I was prompted to move toward them and wanted to help meet those needs.

Most adult children do not know their parents as well as they think they do. By seeking to understand them, you also honor them in obedience to God's clear command (see Exodus 20:12).

You can tell when it's happening too, because even though their behavior toward you may not change, you find that you don't react to them like before. You find it easier to extend grace and patience. You don't always agree with them, but at least you understand them.

Live It

What are the things your parents are dealing with at this stage in their lives? How could you help meet their needs?

Pray

That God will give you true insight into your parents and help you better understand them and give them grace and honor.

Join us at The Crossings Sundays at 10 am Meeting at River Heights Intermediate School. www.atthecrossings.com Trusting and Believing with you!

All About Change

BY PASTOR STEVE LOO

Our lives can be a blur. We rarely have time to reflect on our lives. Before we know it, we stop learning and growing, and our lives go stale.

It's easy to feel that way as Christians too. We get into a monotonous routine with going to church or listening to a sermon. Yet we stop changing, stop growing, and our passion to pursue Christ goes stale.

But Christianity is all about change! Paul reminds us, Do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, that by testing you may discern what is the will of God, what is good and acceptable and perfect (Romans 12:2).

We are not to be conformed or molded by the prevailing secular worldview around us. Instead, we are to be "transformed," which is where we get the word "metamorphosis." Like a caterpillar transforming to be a butterfly, we transform to be a new person when we trust in Christ. Our goal is to be changed to be like Christ, think like Christ, and love like Christ. Our hearts and desires begin to change. By "discerning what is the will of God," we are to test drive our lives and constantly line it up with the markers of God's Word. This means that change is a given in the Christian life.

So ask yourself, "How has God changed me? Am I different today than I was last year?" True transformation starts with God. The goal is to be like Christ. That means all of us have a goal to grow. Have you been letting your Christian life go stale? Ask God to change you to be a different person from last year!

-Pastor Steve Loo, Sunrise Grace Church www.sunrisegracechurch.org Sunday worship @ 10AM. Sermon series: "Philippians: The Gospel Driven Life."

VALVOLINE TRANSMISSION SERVICE

$159⁹⁵

MAST 1000 COUPON TO GET THIS PRICE

SERVICE NEEDED: After 30,000 miles, transmission fluid begins to turn brown in color and oxidize due to the contamination of time and heat. Deposits form around the transmission's many moving parts. As a result, valves stick and gears slip or are sluggish and chatter as they shift.

SOLUTION: Rather than just draining the contaminated fluid found in the bottom of the pan, special equipment cleans the entire transmission and its torque converter, while new fluid and premium conditioner are added. One of the hardest working parts of your vehicle will shift smoothly and effortlessly for many more trouble-free miles.

Most vehicles. No additional discounts apply. Synthetic transmission fluid extra. Redeem at Mountain View Tire location. See store for complete details. Exp. 5/31/13
