Wife Killer's Parole Overturned By Gov. Brown

STAFF REPORTS

Chino – Convicted killer Samuel Dubyak's parole has been overturned by Governor Jerry Brown. The State Parole Board had recommended the former Chino resident's release from Soledad State Prison in Northern California.

In a written statement from Brown's office, the Governor said, "Mr. Dubyak's claim of innocence is not believable. I am troubled by Mr. Dubyak's lack of remorse and empathy."

Lourdes Dubyak's body has never been found, but the evidence was strong enough to convict Samuel Dubyak of first-degree murder in 1987. According to a pre-sentencing report, Dolores and Samuel had been having marital problems and Dolores was considering divorce. She had also been having at least one affair.

Another Planet

BY MICHAEL ARMijo

Sometimes I attribute it to the way I was brought up, other times to the way my time's been spent. Either way, deep within my spirit, there's a little piece of me that constantly whispers to my soul, "You don't belong here."

When I consistently hear the word "dysfunction," I'm reminded of my life growing up; rather the way I perceived it while growing up. But to me it seems to go far beyond just an upbringing. It sits deep within. I instinctively feel that I just don't belong.

The task at hand seems to be that it just doesn't seem to go away. The feeling seems to linger during a moment of weakness, or a time when I don't feel alert - like a vulture waiting for prey to lie still, waiting for that moment when it's time to be fed.

The better question, or more like a theory, is that I just might be from another time. Or it could be that I can see a light that others cannot? Maybe I've been misled about life because no one has bothered to convince me that life is what many say it is. I don't know why I feel the way I do, but at times, I just can't seem to shake that feeling that I don't belong.

It's a bit difficult not understanding your existence, not knowing for sure the answers to those puzzling questions; always second guessing major decisions, always questioning success. It's not easy feeling awkward during the great times, wondering if I really deserve what I've earned, or waiting for bad news after being surprised with the good. The question that I cannot answer about life haunts me and I carry a heavy heart. Those questions just stay within my spirit, answerless and alone.

I know that somewhere, at some time, I'll find the answer. I'll find the reason why I feel the way I do. Today I'm left with the hope that somewhere out there I do belong to this galaxy of life. I belong to a realm that understands why I feel the way I do, and sees the things that I see. And when this day comes, when I meet these individuals, I will finally be home. And deep within my heart, I will feel as though I am no longer from a far-away land, or another time. It will be on that day that I'll know that I will no longer hear the little whispers from the emotions inside, because on that day I'll know that I'm not really from another planet.

Did You Know?

By K.P. SANDER

When celebrating Memorial Day this month, remember that our freedom has always been won and sustained at a cost; a very precious price has been paid.

Our 34th President of the United States, Dwight D. Eisenhower, said it quite profoundly,

"Freedom has its life in the hearts, the actions, the spirit of men and so it must be daily earned and refreshed – else like a flower cut from its life-giving roots, it will wither and die."

Be proud of our freedom, and remember to thank a veteran this Memorial Day (and always).

-Pres. Dwight D. Eisenhower

Woman assaulted in Hemet

pendent Living Facility. From there, the suspects entered the residence of an 87-year old elderly woman. The woman was asleep, but woke up and found the intruders in her room. One of the suspects then proceeded to seriously beat her.

The victim, whose identity has not been released, was hospitalized. She is now in serious, but stable, condition. She remains hospitalized.

Officers conducted an extensive search in the area that included the use of a blood-hound, and the police were able to track down a 15-year old boy. Following a foot chase and brief struggle, the boy was promptly arrested for the assault of the elderly woman. The suspect has been booked into the Southwest Juvenile Hall.

The second suspect was not caught at the time.

On Thurs., April 24, in Temecula, detectives located the second suspect, 14-year old Raymond Michael Miranda. Miranda was arrested after a brief struggle and taken back to the Hemet Police Department.

According to Lt. Dean Evans, the Hemet Police Department does not usually release the names and photographs of juvenile suspects, but due to the serious nature of the case, made an exception in order to protect the public and aid in the capture of the suspect.

Midnight bandit caught

April 2012 through June 2013. Suspect Jermaine D. Shepherd, a 37-year old male, supposedly had a penchant for wearing plaid shirts during the commission of the robberies.

The news release stated that in June of 2013, a press conference was held asking the public's help in identifying the suspect. The public was shown pictures of the suspect from some of the robberies. Since that press conference, the robberies stopped.

Detectives from the Major Crimes Bureau were able to gain valuable information and evidence regarding the suspect's identify from a combination of the public's help, associated law enforcement agencies, and department technology. One of the clues was the unusual gait the suspect had when he walked. The investigation led detectives to Bakersfield where additional information was obtained. On Feb. 11, 2014, detectives presented their case to the District Attorney's Office where they filed five counts of Armed Robbery, two counts of Assault with a Deadly Weapon, and obtained an arrest warrant for the suspect.

On Feb. 19, 2014, Major Crimes Bureau personnel responded to Bakersfield and with the assistance of Kern County Sheriff's Department arrested Shepherd. Search warrants were executed at three locations and evidence was recovered including shirts believed to be worn in the robberies. After the suspect's arrest, further investigation was completed and the District Attorney filed an additional 26 counts. Shepherd was arraigned and his bail was set at $2.4 million.

The Preliminary hearing is set for June 20, 2014, in Pomona Court, and detectives will seek an additional eight counts of Robbery that occurred in Orange County.

Detectives are again seeking the public's assistance with this case. If you have any additional information, call LASD Major Crimes Bureau at (562-946-7893), or email mcbtips@lasd.org. Anonymous calls are welcomed.

has been damaged, but air conditions have caused many schools to close due to air and safety concerns. Mandatory evacuations for nearly 1,700 homes were issued on Wednesday, but lifted on Thursday.

Schools, including Alta Loma High School, Banyon Elementary, Caryn Elementary, Etiwanda High School, Golden Elementary, Day Creek Intermediate, Los Osos High School, Rancho Cucamonga High School, and Chaffey College, remained closed on Thursday as well.

Santa Ana wind conditions always bring fire concerns, and this season is no exception. The initial cause of the Etiwanda Fire is still under investigation.

her precious children: Peter, 10, has Autism, and his little sister, Gigi, is just 6-years old. These children need their mother.

As Belevick struggles with her Leukemia, she is in urgent need of blood, platelets and bone marrow. While donor drives have been organized, with a blood drive recently completed in Diamond Bar, and a marrow drive to be held in Covina May 3, there is still much to be done for her to win this battle. While her family is not a donor match, supporters out there may be.

You can become one of Cindy Belevick's supporters, and part of her hope. While Latino/Hispanic donors are critical, anyone from 18 to 44 years of age can help save a life. In Belevick's case, time is of the essence. You, or someone you know, may be the key. Help get the word out...

Parole overturned

She was last seen alive on Aug. 11, 1985 by a close friend after her lover had dropped her off at home.

Samuel Dubyak had never had any adult convictions, is a college graduate and had a steady job, making him an unlikely suspect. However, Dubyak did not report his wife missing until four weeks later. Again, according to pre-sentencing reports, he said that she had disappeared after making a phone call and telling him she needed to go out for awhile. Dubyak claims that she was gone when he awoke the next morning.

Later, police learned that Dubyak's brother and neighbor had disposed of the couple's bed. In the written statement from the Governor's office this item was recorded, "The bed had a bullet hole through the mattress and box spring, and a 22-caliber (bullet was) lodged in the box springs. Traces of blood were also found in their room."

Other evidence such as blood in the hatchback of his vehicle, a forged typewritten letter suggesting Lourdes Dubyak was in Mexico City, as well as other inconsistencies, raised speculation. Samuel Dubyak still continues to deny any involvement in this murder and at a 2012 parole hearing he claimed that he had bought a new mattress and dumped the old one, but someone else must have shot the old one.

The Governor, in his written statement, encouraged Dubyak to "continue his efforts to develop insight into the factors that contributed to his crime."

Straight Talk With Danice

By DANICE AKIYOSHI, ND

Dear Dr. Akiyoshi:

I have a friend who is very controlling. Every time we get together, we have to eat where she wants to eat, and see the movie that she wants to see. If I say we did it her way the last few times and make a suggestion, she gives me the silent treatment. Every time this happens, I tell myself to never go out with her again, but when she calls I

Rainbows

By PASTOR MARK HOPPER

Recently my wife and I had the opportunity to go back to Hawaii. We love Hawaii and find it relaxing and enjoyable. However, this time we had some of the worst weather we have ever experienced there. We used to go to Maui during summer vacation. But, now that my wife has retired, we are able to go at other times of the year. The fall is nice, because the crowds are smaller and air fares are lower. But this time, at the last minute, we went at the end of the winter season.

We were surprised at the weather. Strong winds blew all day long during the first three days we were there. These weren't the usual afternoon trade winds. These were strong, steady winds that blew day and night. Even the locals were expressing their dismay with the unusually strong winds. Along the side of the road, we saw a large, established tree that was blown over cave in and do what she wants. I really do like her company most of the time. I'm weak, I know. I need help! Thanks in advance.

Lynn

Dear Lynn:

You are obviously easy going, and that's a good trait, but in this case it's causing you to feel taken for granted. It would be a good idea to set up a fair system with your friend. Continuous feelings of being taken for granted will eventually diminish your self esteem. I think expanding your friendship base would also be a good idea.

Free Counseling Is Available

By NANCY STOOPS

For the past 17 years I have had the honor of facilitating a free counseling group every Monday evening. Even though this group meets at a teen center, I invite people of all ages with all types of issues. This group helps parents, students, and anyone that is struggling in their life. My goal is to make our community healthier and to help create successful human beings.

At this group we work on any array of issues that many people are dealing with in this day and age in a confidential, nonjudgmental and safe place. There is no reason for you or a loved one to stay stuck anymore.

If you are tired of the fight between you and your child regarding homework or need some more effective ways to communicate, this is the group for you. Maybe depression or anxiety seems to be holding you or a loved one back from finding solutions that could be life changing. If you or someone you know is struggling with drugs or drinking, this group is a great place to get some coping skills to get clean. We talk about ways to deal with bullies and how damaging it can be for someone's self-esteem. Bring in an issue and I promise you will feel hopeful and have new tools to help you confront the issue head on. Don't let embarrassment prevent you or a loved one the water - a complete rainbow! During the remainder of that day we saw at least five more beautiful rainbows as we drove from the southern to the northern end of the island.

The first rainbow mentioned in the Bible was during the time of Noah and the Ark. The Bible says that God gave the rainbow to serve as a reminder of His promise to never flood the earth again. We don't see rainbows on sunny days. We see them on rainy days. In the midst of adversity, we can still find reasons for hope.

You may be going through a rainy season in your life right now. But, with God's help, you can find hope and encouragement. He can provide a few rainbows to remind you of His love and concern for you. He can give you the strength to stand against the strong winds and endure the tough times in life.

Pastor Mark Hopper is from the Evangelical Free Church of Diamond Bar, 3255 South Diamond Bar Ave. Sunday services are 9 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. For more information, call (909) 594-7604 or visit www.efreedb.org.

Man convicted of rape

tion, one felony count of sexual penetration by a foreign object by force, and attempted forcible oral copulation. The maximum possible sentence is increased because the crime was committed against two separate victims.

Jane Doe #1, which is the name the District Attorney's office uses in press releases to protect the identity of the victims, is said to have met Ramirez through an online dating website. When the two met in person for the first time on April 3, 2012 at a McDonalds in Santa Ana, Ramirez promised to help her bring her children to Mexico if she first allowed him to give her a spiritual cleansing. She agreed and he brought her to a Santa Ana motel.

After that things went terribly wrong when it turned out Ramirez' claim of wanting to give her a spiritual cleansing turned out to be no more than a terrible ploy to get her alone. Once at the motel, he demanded she remove her clothes and then proceeded to sexually assault her, strangling her when she protested.

Following the incident, Ramirez drove the victim back to her car where she called 911 and an investigation by the Santa Ana Police Department began.

Ramirez also raped another woman, referred to as Jane Doe #2. She endured a similar assault as Jane Doe #1 and came forward after seeing the news reports about the first victim.

Pruners landscaping

landscape you desire is not unreachable, especially if you work with a professional in the field who loves his work.

David Hetland, owner of Pruners, is a licensed landscape artist who designs individual garden work. Pruners is a licensed, full-service design landscape contractor opened since 1997.

The difference between Pruners and other garden places, is that Hetland specializes in garden restoration, "the common-sense alternative to California gardening."

"We're different because of the restoration side of gardening," Hetland said. "I work with the idea of being able to save some of what's good and take out what's bad."

Hetland, who has been landscaping for over 25 years, offers a short, free consultation to analyze the damages, arrange the fix and estimate the cost.

Through garden restoration, your garden can be added on to, brought back to life, or simply be used to build a brand-new garden.

Hetland works closely with clients, on a one-on-one basis, and is able to finish the work at one time, so there are no monthly fees.

He also suggests that prospective customers ask about Pruners beautiful Koi ponds, streams and waterfalls, which are a quick way to add a tropical look to your landscape.

For more information on how Pruners can turn your average garden into a lush landscape, call (909) 468-5017.

Evergreen Puzzle Project Connects Students

By KELLI GILE

Diamond Bar – For April's Autism Awareness month, Evergreen Elementary School hosted a special puzzle project to celebrate. Special Education teachers, Laura Saenz and Ashley Marshman, distributed puzzle pieces to all students on campus. The children were asked to write about what makes them unique.

One by one, the pieces were brought back to their class and connected filling a wall in the multi-purpose room. As the pieces came together, the kids saw how they all fit.

"It is important for our students to see that just like a puzzle piece, each individual has something special and unique that no one else can contribute, which makes the entire picture much more beautiful," said Saenz and Marshman. "We feel that it is important for us to encourage the acceptance of all students."

One student wrote, "I'm special because I have nice friends that support me." Another said, "I am unique because there is only one me and I have my own skills to do. Everyone is special so don't be left out." Some drew pictures to show how they are unique.

Other pieces from staff members said, "Every child is gifted. They just unwrap their packages at different times;" and "Autism is as much a part of humanity as is the capacity to dream."

"This is another wonderful example of our dedicated teachers creating experiences that join students together and celebrate each child's uniqueness, as well as our connections with each other. Evergreen is truly a lovely work of art where each remarkable student is celebrated," said Principal Carolyn Wills.

Suzanne Students Experience Greek Festival

By KELLI GILE

Walnut – OPA! Toga-wearing students at Suzanne Middle School joined in the fun of a Greek Festival on April 25. Over 350 6th Graders learned an authentic Greek dance by Math and Drama Teacher, Helen Papadopoulos. Mrs. Pop, as she is called, proudly shared her culture with the students.

"It was great to be able to share a part of my culture with my drama kids and have them help to share it with the 6th graders. Dancing is something that started in ancient Greece and we are still doing those same dances today!" she said. Once the music began, the kids joined hands and formed circles, dancing round and round, then faster and faster.

Most of the students and staff members fashioned their outfits from pastel-colored sheets and fabric. Some wore traditional floral and ivy garlands. Advisor George Ann Cusson even sewed her Greek Day dress from a shower curtain.

After their morning dance lesson, students played Greek games and sampled Greek food. The festival also included readings of Greek literature.

In the News at Mt. SAC

By STAFF REPORTS

Walnut - Mt. San Antonio College and its Public Arts Council will unveil the first of a series of mosaic reproductions of internationally renowned Claremont artist, Karl Benjamin, during an unveiling ceremony on Thurs., May 15, 5:30 p.m., at the Mt. SAC Art Complex, Building 1A. Following the ceremony, a discussion of the mosaic exhibit will be facilitated in the Feddersen Recital Hall at 7:30 p.m. Both events are free and open to the public.

The unveiling is being held in conjunction with Mt. SAC's 66th Annual Student Art Exhibition, a juried exhibit of works by Mt. SAC art, animation, and photography students, with an opening reception to be held on Thursday, May 15, 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., at the Art Gallery. The free exhibit runs through June 5. Gallery hours are Tuesdays through Thursdays, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., and Tuesday nights, 5 to 7:30 p.m.

For more information, visit the Art Gallery's website at www.mtsac.edu/artgallery, or call the gallery at (909) 274-4328.

Mt. SAC will honor 20 Students of Distinction at its annual awards ceremony and luncheon on Saturday, May 17 at 11:30 a.m. at the Royal Vista Country Club, 20055 E. Colima Road, in Walnut. These annual awards recognize students for competitive, academic, and personal achievement as well as outstanding service to the college. Recipients of this year's Academic Achievement award, who earned a minimum 3.75 GPA, are Aldo Hadiwijaya of Corona, Sijin Yan of Covina, Veronica Chavez of Baldwin Park, and Eunice Briet. Other students are being recognized as well. Tickets for the awards luncheon are $15 and must be purchased by May 6 through the Student Life Office: (909) 274-4525.

Mt. SAC is one of the most prestigious colleges in California, and with all their popularity the busy campus is in need of additional parking. A five-story structure has been proposed to alleviate the current problems, but nearby residents, especially those in the Timberline area, are concerned that the $45 million behemoth will only add to traffic, pollution, and even crime.

The proposed parking structure will include 2,200 spaces, and will be constructed on the current parking lot along Mountaineer Way, in the northwest area of the campus. While residents have proposed other options including more bus passes, pick up sites and construction in a different area, Mt. SAC president, Bill Scroggins, reportedly has already addressed these concerns. Residents have gone so far as to threaten legal action, but officials have been clear that necessary permits and environmental impact reports have already been obtained and approved. The new parking structure design is even intended to preserve the views of homes in the area

At this time Mt. SAC is hoping to begin construction of the new garage in May 2015, with project completion approximately 18 to 20 months later. The structure is being funded by the $353 million generated by the passage of the Measure RR Bond. That measure was approved in November 2008 by 70 percent of the voters.

3D Printer Comes to Panther Country

By KELLI GILE

Walnut – 8th Grade creative explorers at South Pointe Middle School are now seeing their computer-aided designs come to life. The school's Project Lead the Way (PLTW) core has just added a new 3D printer to its classroom.

Science Teacher Crystal Dira couldn't be more excited for the 60 students in the science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM) program.

"Students now get to hold their designs in their hands," she said. "We are thrilled about this program and how it's allowing our students to get a heads up with our growing world of technology in education."

This year, PLTW kids have been focusing on building and programming robotics and working on CAD designs. Teachers Dira and Kellie Muragishi (Science), Allin Everman (Technology), and Deb Brady and Annie Kim (Math), were determined to find a way of finding a 3D printer for their students. They knew it would take an innovative approach to fundraising.

"Let's see if we can get it!" the team decided. First, they researched affordable 3D printers and funding sources. Then they posted their $2,800 dream printer on the DonorsChoose.org website. Within several weeks a donor selected the request and funded the project. The school's Community Club pitched in the remaining $100, and the Maker Bot Replicator 2 was delivered during the first week of March. The professional quality printer is designed for engineers or people who like to make things.

The desktop 3D printer is about the same size as a microwave, but doesn't cook popcorn. With just a touch of the start button it cruises at a high speed, using filament to produce the detailed designs. A cartridge smoothly rotates back and forth distributing thin layers of the melted white, red, blue or clear plastic material inside the unit. In just about ten minutes, a perfectly shaped item is ready to be scooped off.

"We think it's good to have a 3D printer because it exposes us to future technology that will be used in the workforce," said Austin Sun, age 13. "It can mass-produce things people have made by hand. The goal of PLTW is to expose us to these things so we can have experience in STEM careers. The robotics computer programming is really neat," he added.
