Walnut Mayor Meets With Religious Leaders

BY RAYMOND MENDOZA

Walnut – Following a May 5 Supreme Court decision ruling that religious invocations were acceptable at city council and other public board meetings, Mayor Tony Cartagena met with several religious leaders in the area on July 1 to discuss an open invitation to all religions wishing to deliver a prayer to the residents of Walnut.

The original lawsuit was brought on by two women in Greece, New York - one Jewish, and one atheist - claiming that the city's invocations featured prayers to Jesus Christ and were specifically aimed at Christianity.

After the United States Supreme Court ruled 5-4 in favor of allowing religious invocations at city meetings, Cartagena decided to hold a meeting to ensure that even with the large population of Catholic and Christian residents, the Walnut City Council invocation is open to all religions as long as they do not degrade the message of any other religion and do not force their beliefs on unwilling attendees. Cartagena

Walnut's New Mayor, Nancy Tragarz.

Walnut - During the July 9 city council meeting, titles were exchanged and Mayor Pro Tem, Nancy Tragarz, was officially sworn in as mayor for the City of Walnut- promising to uphold the community's values and pledging to serve to the best of her abilities.

Tragarz, who served as mayor of Walnut once before from 2011 to 2012, said she's looking forward to leading the council with a strong sense of leadership, finance, accounting and legal skills to help push along the city's prominence.

"My goal is to create unity and teamwork on the council and in the entire community,"

Tragarz said. "The policy I will fight for is transparency, honesty, ethics, and doing what is in the best interest of the community as a whole."

In consideration for her background, Tragarz brings a wide variety of expertise to her role

SGV women indicted for immigration fraud

Gutierrez, 35, of Pico Rivera, were taken into custody by special agents with U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement's Homeland Security Investigations (HSI). The two women were charged in a six-count indictment returned on June 24 by a federal grand jury.

"Fraud scams run by so-called notarios threaten the integrity of the immigration process and offer false hope to desperate people," said United States Attorney André Birotte, Jr. "The two women in this case victimized immigrants for years by giving the false impression that they could fix immigration problems."

According to the indictment, the defendants submitted paperwork to U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) on behalf of six foreign nationals who were seeking to obtain green cards - or permanent resident status - based on legitimate marriages to U.S. citizens. The applications filed by the defendants allegedly included fraudulent I-94 cards indicating that the immigrants, who originally came to the U.S. illegally, entered lawfully on visitors' visas.

The immigrant victims were originally quoted fees of approximately $7,000, but the defendants ultimately charged them as much as $24,000. To pay the debt, some of the couples borrowed against their credit cards or obtained loans from family and friends. Subsequently, investigators say when several of the foreign nationals sought refunds after they failed to receive green cards, the defendants allegedly threatened to contact authorities and have the aliens deported.

"Tragically, as is often true in such scams, at least some of the victims in this case could have obtained green cards legally," said Claude Arnold, special agent in charge for HSI Los Angeles. "Instead, they placed their trust and, in many cases, their life savings in the hands of individuals who were focused on enriching themselves, rather than on helping hopeful immigrants realize the American dream."

Investigators say the similarity between the name and acronym for Arreola's consulting business and USCIS, the Department of Homeland Security agency that adjudicates applications for immigration benefits, was no coincidence. Evidence developed during the investigation showed that money orders and cashier's checks made out to USCIS had been deposited in bank accounts controlled by defendants.

The probe targeting Arreola's CIS began in 2011 after HSI received leads from USCIS's Fraud Detection and National Security directorate involving several suspicious benefit applications. While only six instances of fraud are charged in the case indictment, authorities believe the scheme is responsible for dozens of fraudulent benefit applications.

"Arreola victimized immigrants for personal gain by pretending to be associated with USCIS," said USCIS FDNS Western Regional Assistant Director Ken Takeda. "We are committed to upholding the integrity of our immigration system by combating these deceptive practices. USCIS strongly encourages the public to seek legal advice or representation from attorneys or accredited representatives."

If Arreola and Gutierrez are convicted, both defendants face a statutory maximum penalty of 60 years in federal prison.

In 2003, the Attorney General of the State of California filed suit against Arreola and Gutierrez, among others, alleging that defendants had engaged in an illegal scheme to provide immigration services in violation of California law. Both Arreola and Gutierrez entered into settlement agreements in which they promised not to engage in illegal immigration consulting services in violation of California law, specifically agreeing not to promise certain benefits or results in immigration cases. In 2006, the defendants began operating California Immigration Services and engaging in the conduct alleged in the indictment.

This case is part of an ongoing, nationwide effort by the Department of Justice and the Department of Homeland Security to target unscrupulous immigration practitioners and combat the unauthorized practice of immigration law. The initiative relies on federal, state and local resources to combat the widespread problem of unauthorized practice of immigration law. Other partners involved in the Los Angeles effort include the Federal Trade Commission, the Los Angeles County Department of Consumer Affairs, the State Bar of California, the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office, the Los Angeles City Attorney's Office, and the Attorney General's Office of the State of California. For more information on the initiative, please visit <http://www.uscis.gov/news/national-initiative-combat-immigration-services-scams>.

HSI and USCIS believe there are additional victims in this case who have not yet been identified. Call the L.A. County Department of Consumer Affairs at (800) 593-8222 to seek assistance or get information.

Rapper buys Eastvale home

gone against the typical rapper stereotype and settled down not in Los Angeles or Beverly Hills, but a former dairy community that had only just become a city four years prior. The fast-growing city of Eastvale is home to about 59,000 residents. Crime rates are low, and the houses are cheaper than neighboring coastal areas in Orange and Los Angeles counties.

The home Lamar purchased is said to have been built in 2006. The two-story residence is on an un-gated street, and is a short walk from the local shopping center. The home is 3,529 square feet, and includes three bedrooms, 2.5 bathrooms, a pool, and is said to have been purchased for $523,500. In comparison to what many successful rappers spend, Lamar paid a very modest price for his new home in Eastvale. Rapper Drake reportedly paid $9 million for his Southern California mansion; Tyga spent $6.5 million for his residence; and Dr. Dre recently dished out a whopping $40 million on an estate in Brentwood.

A few Eastvale residents have recently tweeted that they have spotted the star cruising around town in a sports car and visiting the city's Picnic in the Park summer carnival. However, Lamar says that he plans on remaining in his current home in L.A.

Walnut mayor meets with religious leaders

reached out to all local churches and religious groups to discuss a schedule for reading invocations during upcoming council meetings.

According to Cartagena, the meeting had representatives from the First Baptist Church of Walnut, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, the City Blessing Church of Walnut, the Gospel Life Community Church, and the Walnut United Methodist Church.

Cartagena said the meeting was successful and allowed for each responding representative to learn about the rules regarding the deliverance of invocations and that the City Council meetings would soon play host to various religious leaders who would like to offer their prayers to the community.

Furthermore, Cartagena said he was happy with the Supreme Court's decision because Walnut has a long standing tradition of hosting prayers at the City Council meetings.

"By having invocations at the Walnut City Council sessions, religious leaders could play important roles in seeking help from our almighty God for the legislative body to formulate decisions that would enhance Walnut's quality of life, among other things," said Cartagena. The mayor also called the meetings "essential" to the local government.

Some religious leaders, like High Priest Missionary, Felix Maico, of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, said the inclusion of many religions during the invocation will help strengthen the community because it would create connections between the many religions in the city. Maico also noted that freedom of religion is the right of all American citizens and that every religion should have the chance to believe in whatever they want to believe.

Pastor Paul Tan, of City Blessing Church of Walnut, said the decision to allow invocations from all religions will be a boon for the city and its residents, because it will give some individuals the chance to see the friendliness behind other religions.

"It will be beneficial because we need to know one another," Tan said. "Sometimes we don't love one another because we don't know one another. Maybe this will change that."

Lifeguard drowns

were rather precarious for visitors on the 4th of July weekend. With over 100,000 people enjoying the sun and surf on Sun., July 6, the Newport Beach Lifeguard staff of about 80 had a busy day with over 200 rescues and 3,000 warnings issued by the time seasoned lifeguard, Ben Carlson, 32, dove from his rescue boat to help a distressed swimmer close to one of the main piers.

Reports say that just after 5 p.m., when Carlson hit the water and valiantly tried to reach the unidentified swimmer, the strong current and huge swells overtook both of them and Carlson disappeared. Because of the conditions, fellow lifeguards were not able to reach Carlson, despite a frantic search.

Lifeguard authorities stated that 25 people from multiple agencies searched the water, 30 more scoured the shore, and a police helicopter looked from above. Carlson was finally found in the ocean at about 8 p.m., and was rushed to nearby Hoag Memorial Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

The swimmer made it back to the shore and survived.

Carlson, who worked for the Newport Beach Fire Department, had 15 years of experience as a lifeguard. He was reportedly one of the strongest and fastest swimmers on staff, and had experience with big swells from years as a surfer. It is reported that Carlson also had additional skills as a rescue swimmer and driver of patrol boats.

Carlson was the first lifeguard to die in the line of duty in Newport Beach's history. He was raised in the Inland Empire, attended the University of California, Irvine, and loved to surf and be in and around the water. Colleagues say being a lifeguard was his life's goal. He was a true hero, doing what he loved best.

personally invite you to come and celebrate with them.

A favorite of locals and visitors alike, Mandarin Taste prides themselves not only on their authentic, gourmet Chinese cuisine, but on the quality service that accompanies every meal.

"We're like a family restaurant," says restaurant manager, Chi Young, when describing the feeling that customers get when visiting their establishment. "People are always smiling," he adds.

Mandarin Taste has thrived and endured because of the family-friendly atmosphere and the delicious Hunan/Szechuan style dishes that customers enjoy. Honey Walnut Shrimp, wonton soup and fried dumplings are favorites, but one visit will help you develop your own craving.

Another reason Mandarin Taste is so popular with the community, is that they offer fundraising opportunities with 15 percent given back to local groups. Fundraising is easy when you are guaranteed an excellent dining experience. And don't forget about their all-you-can-eat buffet and delectable Sunday Champagne Brunch.

Mandarin Taste also has special Party Trays, and with an order of five or more trays, you can receive a 15 percent discount. Celebrating a birthday? Spend $80 or more on food at your group's party and receive $30 off (one coupon eligible per table/order, with ID required).

So come in, enjoy a cocktail and an authentic gourmet meal, and help celebrate the 30th Anniversary of Mandarin Taste. If you need a little incentive, bring in their special coupons on page 7 of this publication, for some extra savings.

Mandarin Taste is located at 23391 E. Golden Springs Drive, in Diamond Bar. For more information, call (909) 861-1819.

Gil Rivera works to 'sell your casa' quickly

and selling a home. He is a reliable, experienced, and an affordable Realtor, Broker, and Certified Appraiser.

Rivera sells houses, condos, and 2-4 unit investment properties in Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside Counties. He also does real estate appraisals for banks, estates, trusts, divorces, attorneys, refinances, home purchases, and upon death of a homeowner for tax purposes. Rivera also has assistants that work with him who are fluent in Spanish and Chinese, which helps him to reach people of different dialects all over Southern California.

Rivera is in his 20th year of business and has SOLD homes in 26 different cities in Southern California, so his coverage area is expansive. Rivera said, "I can do this because I appraise homes in so many different cities and have the knowledge and expertise associated with your marketplace. Give me an opportunity and you will surely be happy you did!" In Feb. 2013, Rivera listed a home in Monterey Park worth $470,000. Rivera received 53 offers in seven days and SOLD it for $515,000!

Rivera's philosophy is to "treat my clients the way I want to be treated." In fact, Rivera said that he became a Realtor because he did not like the way his Realtor treated him when he was buying his home. Rivera shows respect for his clients at all times. He listens to what they say, so that he can better serve them.

Rivera also does not push his Buyers into a sale. Rivera said, "I always tell Buyers: 'You will know right away when we walk into the house that's meant for you.' Whether it takes a week or months, my Buyers will always be satisfied with their purchase and never pressured into it."

Rivera's sellers love the fact that he offers a discounted commission, but with full service. Rivera offers a 4% Total Commission for Sellers. This includes 2.5% to the Buyer's Agent and 1.5% to Rivera's office. Most Realtors negotiate a 6% commission because they have to split the fees with their brokerage. But, Rivera passes on the savings to the Seller. This will save Sellers thousands of dollars in commission fees. His team offers full service for that discounted rate including high quality flyers, professional photos, open houses (as allowable by Seller), and extended advertising coverage on the Internet and social media.

Rivera's current promotion is "We will SELL your house in six weeks at highest value! We only request a listing period of six weeks, while most other Realtors ask for six month listings." Rivera says that "Buyers need to know that they do not need to pay their Realtor any fees for representing them on a purchase. The Buyer's agent is paid by the Seller, not the Buyer."

Rivera absolutely loves what he does. He loves selling homes to Buyers because he helps fulfill their dreams of home ownership. His favorite part of selling homes to is transferring the keys to excited Buyers. Rivera loves selling homes for Sellers because he enjoys the uniqueness that each property offers and selling the positive attributes of the home. Rivera says, "Many agents spend their time showing houses....I SELL them!"
