Attorney Guilty Of Helping Launder Marijuana Profits

STAFF REPORTS

Santa Ana – An attorney who engaged in a conspiracy that allowed the owner of a chain of marijuana stores to hide some of his income has pleaded guilty to federal financial offenses.

SCE To Ontario: No TRTP Undergrounding

By K.P. SANDER

Ontario – The Tehachapi Renewable Transmission Project (TRTP) has been under construction since September of 2013. The Project's objective is to deliver electricity from new wind farms in the Tehachapi area to Southern California Edison (SCE) customers in an effort to meet the State's renewable energy goal of 33 percent by the year 2020.

There have been some ups and downs for SCE along the construction way. The City of Chino Hills was granted a tower undergrounding proposal by the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) in July of 2013. The decision for this approval stated that the burden imposed on the City by the overhead power lines was unfair and contrary to community values. Chino Hills was granted the removal of a 3.5 mile tower section, and an underground cabling replacement. This approval cost TRTP an additional $224 million, on top of the over $2 billion budget that will ultimately be passed on to ratepayers.

In a déjà vu-like attempt, the City of Ontario has stated that their situation is as bad, if not worse, than Chino Hills'. When TRTP erected Ontario's towers in April, the impact suddenly became very apparent.

Ontario reportedly asked for a stay of construction to sort things out, and the CPUC allowed legal proceedings to be reopened in October.

According to the City of Ontario, they filed an amended petition with the CPUC on Nov.

Charges Dropped Against Teacher Bramlett

Amy Corinne Bramlett

San Bernardino – On Mon., Dec. 15, charges were dropped against the Indian Springs High School teacher, who last September was accused of having an inappropriate sexual relationship with two students.

Citing insufficient evidence, prosecutors have dropped all charges against Amy Corinne Bramlett, 46, of Highland, without prejudice (meaning charges could be re-filed should new evidence come to light). A San Bernardino County District Attorney's Office spokesman is reported as stating that based on their investigation, they were unable to move forward with the case.

Bramlett was initially charged with oral copulation of a child under age 18, and penetration with a foreign object. However, there are reports that the two boys, who accused the teacher of

Eastvale Transforms Operational Structure

By JENNIFER JESTER-MADRIGAL

Eastvale - This year, the City of Eastvale has seen some big changes and restructuring. With the resignation of City Manager, Carol Jacobs, a few months past, and the appointment of temporary City Manager, Robert Van Nort, the operation of the City has come under some scrutiny.

Van Nort's contract has recently been extended for another 90 days, until March 2015.

Public Information Officer, Michele Nissen, has assumed the helm as Acting City Manager during a short absence by Van Nort, currently effective through Dec. 8.

The City is expected to open the official City Manager position up to applicants imminently.

Eastvale's City Council was affected by the bizarre resignation of councilmember Jeff DeGrandpre last July. This created an immediate opening to which Joe Tessari was voted in to serve out the remaining two years of DeGrandpre's term.

At the recent General Election, three seats on the Council were open. Council members William Link, and Mayor Pro-Tem Adam Rush ran for reelection, while Councilman Ric Welch did not. Nine candidates applied and campaigned for those positions. In the end, Link and Rush were reelected, along with newcomer, Clint Lorimore.

Lorimore, a small business owner who has lived in Eastvale since 2004, is anxious to start his first term on Eastvale's Council.

"I am committed to the idea that together, we can make Eastvale a better place to live, work and play. I am looking forward to working with my fellow council members to implement policies of smart growth, which na Police Department, Yvette Silva was found to be stabbed to death. The motive for the murder is still unknown at this time. Silva was the mother of a 12-year old son.

Pomona Homicide Detectives have investigated every lead in an attempt to find the suspect in this murder, and they have identified Alex Clever, 26, from Pomona.

Clever – an acquaintance of Silva – was recently released from prison and was currently on Post Release Community Supervision. The San Gabriel Valley East AB-109 Task Force arrested Clever as he rode a bicycle away from his parents’ home in the Phillips Ranch community in Pomona. He was taken to the Pomona City Jail and booked for murder.

The San Gabriel Valley East AB109 Task Force is a multi-agency team comprised of officers from nine agencies and includes representatives from the LA County Probation Department and the Los Angeles District Attorney’s Office. Their primary responsibility is to conduct compliance checks on those individuals who have been released from prison under AB109 to ensure that they are in compliance with their terms of release. The Task Force is responsible for enforcement in the cities of Azusa, Baldwin Park, Claremont, Covina, Glendora, Irwindale, Pomona, La Verne, West Covina and Whittier.

Anyone with information regarding this homicide is urged to call the Pomona Police Department’s Detective Bureau at (909) 620-2085. Anyone willing to provide information, who wishes to remain anonymous, is urged to contact “Crime Stoppers” at 1-800-222-8477, or “We-Tip” at 1-800-782-7463.

Attorney guilty of helping launder marijuana profits

Mon., Dec. 15, by United States District Judge, James V. Selna. Monday’s action concludes proceedings in which Brizendine pleaded guilty to two counts, money laundering and conspiracy to structure cash deposits to avoid federal reporting requirements.

According to the United States Attorney’s Office, Brizendine was an attorney for John Melvin Walker, who operated marijuana stores across Los Angeles and Orange counties and generated approximately $25 million in income over a six-year period. Brizendine conspired with Walker and others to accept cash from the marijuana operation and invest the funds into several corporations. According to court documents, Brizendine agreed to accept more than $10,000 in cash and then make smaller deposits into different bank accounts so as to not trigger federal requirements that financial institutions report currency transactions of more than $10,000 (this process is called structuring cash transactions). By pleading guilty, Brizendine specifically admitted that he structured approximately $389,700 for Walker.

The case against Brizendine was announced after Judge Selna unsealed documents associated with the case.

Last year, Walker was sentenced to nearly 22 years in federal prison for operating a chain of marijuana establishments and failing to report millions of dollars in revenues was on his taxes.

Brizendine is scheduled to be sentenced on May 4, 2015. At that time, he will face a statutory maximum sentence of ten years in federal prison. Until that time, he will remain free on a $500,000 bond.

The investigation of Brizendine and the marijuana operation was conducted by the Orange County Sheriff’s Department; the Drug Enforcement Administration; the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives; IRS-Criminal Investigation; the California Board of Equalization; the Orange County District Attorney’s Office; and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Shoeboxes ‘Virtually’ Change Lives

STAFF REPORTS

Chino – Chino-area residents rallied together to pack 8,400 shoebox gifts last month for children worldwide struggling with war, disease, poverty and other difficult circumstances. Although the collection sites are closed for 2014, Chino residents can still contribute to the local collection number by packing a shoebox gift online at samaritanspurserg.org. With Operation Christmas Child’s virtual-packing tool, it is quick, easy and convenient to pack a Christmas gift for a child in one of the hardest-to-reach countries. The online tool allows anyone to go from a virtual shopper to a vital influence in just a few clicks. At samaritanspurserg.org, visitors select a child’s age and gender, shop through an online selection of culturally relevant gifts, “build” their shoebox and finish it off by uploading a photo and writing a note of encouragement to the child who will receive it. For many, building a shoebox online provides the perfect complement to a busy lifestyle and a perfect way to provide a tangible expression of love to children living in desperate situations. The virtual-packing tool also offers participants the option to challenge friends to participate, or the opportunity to give a donation that lets others build online themselves. Operation Christmas Child is a project of Samaritan’s Purse, an international Christian relief and evangelism organization headed by Franklin Graham. Through simple shoebox gifts and a mes-will provide comprehensive solutions to the challenges we face as a young and growing community,” said Lorimore. Rush - who was Eastvale’s First Mayor in 2010, and has been a council member ever since - is excited to continue to work for the people of Eastvale and keep this City on the right track toward responsible growth, safe schools and a strong fiscal foundation. Link - who was nominated to fill Kelly Howell’s vacated seat in 2013 - plans on continuing his focus on economic development and growth, as well as public and traffic safety. The Public Safety Commission has also had a few bumps this year with the resignation of several commissioners for family and job related issues. New Public Safety Commissioner, Chris Hook, and family.

Chris Hook, recently appointed by Mayor Ike Bootsma, is the newest commissioner. Hook hopes to increase and promote safety awareness around school zones and parks in effort to lower the amount of accidents involving pedestrians. His goals include creating a worry-free and safeguarded environment for parents and children in school zones and recreational areas. Hook brings 20 years of safety and security experience to the job, with 18 years as a proprietor of his own security business. Below are the Official Results for Eastvale’s City Council, from www.voteinfo.net.

21 in order to modify the 500kV lines from tower construction to undergrounding – specifically Segment 8 of the Project. With TRTP employing multiple public proceedings prior to construction, SCE is reportedly questioning why the City of Ontario did not come forward at that time, rather than after the fact. If the community is somewhat shocked as to the appearance of the towers and the proximity to new housing developments, more due diligence should have been completed up front. In essence, SCE’s answer to Ontario is, “No.” Most recently, in a document submitted to the CPUC on Dec. 5, SCE attorney Angela Whatley stated, “A party that has not engaged in the proceedings should not be able to derail this crucial project at such a late stage in development.” In October and November, legal staff at the City of Ontario consulted with the City of Chino Hills, and on Dec. 9, the Ontario City Council approved the hiring of an Environmental Engineer to review and analyze California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) Mitigation Measures Compliance by SCE. Council also approved the hiring of a Utilities Consultant to review and analyze easements for compliance and any title issues. SCE filed requests on Dec. 5 that CPUC deny the City’s petition to underground, and to deny the construction stay. On Dec. 15, Ontario filed documents to the contrary. As it stands now, the CPUC will consider the documents filed by all parties in accordance with this case. TRTP states that the CPUC is expected to rule on the requests within the next few months, with further hearings, as well as an absolute decision, a possibility. TRTP is scheduled to be completed in 2016.

abuse, recanted their story this past November. There are also alleged reports that one of the boys was in the midst of a burglary at the teacher's home, and used the abuse fabrication to shield his own crimes during interrogation. CBSLA.com previously reported Bramlett's attorney as saying that the first alleged victim "...was facing first-degree burglary charges when these allegations came up, so he clearly had motivation to be dishonest."

Bramlett, who was free on $100,000 bail, has been on administrative leave from her job as a Program Specialist. She will be working with the San Bernardino City Unified School District on what steps are needed to return to her job.

At this time, there is no word on whether charges will be brought against Bramlett's accusers.

Kinematics Physical Therapy and sports performance

perfect sense that the more active a body is, the easier it is to remain active; but sometimes injury or illness gets in the way of a body in motion.

"Kinematics" is the study of bodies in motion, and Kinematics Physical Therapy and Sports Performance Clinic is in the business of ensuring that your mobility is as smooth and efficient as possible.

Dr. Matthew H. Fujita, PT, DPT, OCS, is the Director of Kinematics Physical Therapy, Inc. As a board-certified orthopaedic physical therapist, Dr. Fujita's philosophy is to give back what he has been provided with from the people around him.

"My business is in operation to serve others and take care of our local community," says Fujita. "It is only by sacrificially giving that we truly receive our reward."

As such, Kinematics sponsors and supports sports teams and schools such as the Chino Legends Soccer Club and Eleanor Roosevelt High School; and businesses like Vantage Point Church, Ignite Youth Ministry, and Living Room International. Dr. Fujita says he is looking forward to adopting more schools in the Corona-Norco Unified School District in the near future.

Kinematics is a clinic truly dedicated to getting their patients better, faster. They practice therapy by evidence-based standards, and design treatments to dynamically conform to the patient on a daily basis (as opposed to the boredom of a set program).

"I treat the whole patient by placing equal value on the physical as much as the mental and spiritual stabilities," says Fujita.

Dr. Fujita, who has been practicing for five years now, has a B.S. in Kinesiology from Cal State San Bernardino, a Doctorate in Physical Therapy from Azusa Pacific University, and completed his Orthopaedic Residency at Rancho Physical Therapy. He takes his practice very seriously, and says that he loves being able to serve others to help restore their wellness.

"The best gratification is to see someone be able to return back to their normal activities through hard work and dedication," says Fujita.

Kinematics provides free orthopaedic assessments and athletic screenings. They also offer three treatments with an athletic evaluation for just $20. In addition, home evaluations and treatments are available by appointment. And ask about their in-clinic discount for cash-payment patients.

Kinematics Physical Therapy and Sports Performance is located in the Norco Campus Office Park, at 1761 Third Street, Suite 105, in Corona (92860). They proudly serve Eastvale, Norco, Corona, Chino, Mira Loma, Ontario and Riverside. And see their ad on Page 7 of this publication.

wheat kernel that has been magically transformed into warm, nutritious, whole-grain goodness - cleverly disguised as a beautiful loaf of bread - just waiting to dazzle you with superior taste and satisfaction.

To say that Eastvale is lucky to become the newest home for the Great Harvest Bread Company is - in my humble opinion - an understatement. For more than 30 years, Great Harvest has been pursuing perfection in the baking of their breads, and very soon citizens in and around Eastvale will be able to enjoy their full range of incredibly tasty treats, including a wide variety of artisan breads, sandwiches, cookies, muffins, and much more.

Most important, perhaps, are the benefits of whole grains that you will easily be able to provide for your family by making breakfast and school lunches with the Honey Whole Wheat or Farmhouse White choices; but there is something so comforting and soul-feeding about freshly baked bread. Grilled cheese takes on a whole new meaning when you pair it with the Cheddar Garlic Bread. Ever tried a roast beef sandwich with fresh Chimichurri sauce? If you aren't already salivating, know this...your family will throw a ticker-tape parade in your honor when you make them French toast using the Cinnamon Chip bread. I could go on and on.

Meredith Sumenek, the owner of Eastvale's Great Harvest Bread Company, is very excited to be opening the doors to her all natural bread and sandwich shop in the city she calls home.

"We grind our whole wheat flour on site for the freshest bread around - without preservatives," says Sumenek. "As owner, I strive to find the freshest ingredients and support other local businesses by purchasing as much as I can locally."

Sumenek has been baking since she was a toddler, and because her mother never bought bread from the store, but baked every roll, cookie, cake, pie and loaf of bread from scratch, she has very discernible tastes and standards. After 20 years in the financial services industry, becoming a professional baker was a very logical choice for her.

"Our [Great Harvest] breads and sweets taste like no other. Every loaf of bread is hand-crafted from start to finish in the store daily. We knead every single loaf and roll it by hand until it is the way your mother or grandmother would have made it," Sumenek says (and I believe her). "We do not take shortcuts...it takes five hours to make a single loaf of bread, and it shows in the taste and texture as well as the healthy ingredients," Sumenek goes on to say.

"Our sandwiches are fresh and amazing with all of our sauces made from fresh ingredients in the store," she continues. How about smoky ham and slightly melted brie cheese, with tart green apples and a homemade mustard-apricot spread on - if I might be so bold - Cranberry Orange bread? Just sayin'...

When asked why she got into the Great Harvest business, Sumenek says, "I do this because I have a tremendous love of fantastic tasting, healthy bread, and the desire to be a part of the local community. Great Harvest Bread Company is a way to help build the marvelous community we are all making here in the Inland Empire, and I want to have something to pass on to my family, friends and team."

If you've had the pleasure of visiting a Great Harvest Bread Company location, you know what you're in for. I'm not saying that the drive to Temecula is in vain just for a loaf of their bread (okay, lots of reasons to visit our local vineyards), but now I no longer have to buy in bulk. I can just run 'round the corner to my favorite bakery any time I like. Trips to Temecula can now focus on the perfect grape to accompany my local bread purchases.

So don't take my word for it, visit our new Great Harvest Bread Company, with an opening date scheduled for Dec. 5 in the grand city of Eastvale. Meredith Sumenek will be waiting for you, saying, "I look forward to meeting all of you, sharing old memories, and making new friendships."

VALVOLINE TRANSMISSION SERVICE

$159.95

SERVICE NEEDED: After 30,000 miles, transmission fluid begins to turn brown in color and oxidize due to the contamination of time and heat. Deposits form around the transmission's many moving parts. As a result, valves stick and gears slip or are sluggish and chatter as they shift.

SOLUTION: Rather than just draining the contaminated fluid found in the bottom of the pan, special equipment cleans the entire transmission and its torque converter, while new fluid and premium conditioner are added. One of the hardest working parts of your vehicle will shift smoothly and effortlessly for many more trouble-free miles.

Most vehicles. No additional discounts apply. Synthetic transmission fluid extra. Redeem at Mountain View Tire location. See store for complete details. Exp. 12/31/14.
