Eastvale council recap

Business section started with the 4.1 Budget Study Session for the Annual Operations and Capital Improvement Budget Fiscal year 2015-2016. The budget draft was presented, which included revenue and expenditure results through the first eight months of the fiscal year 2014-2015, as well as updated projections of general fund results through the end of fiscal year June 30, 2015.

According to the Eastvale City Council Minutes, City Manager Michele Nissen introduced the item and presented her department's budget. Then, each department head presented their department's budget for the 2015-2016 fiscal year. Lastly, Council members discussed the item and staff answered related questions.

The City Council did not make any changes to the proposed budget, but thanked staff for all their work on the budget. Nissen stated that the final budget adoption will go before the City Council at the June 10 City Council meeting. After this, the meeting was adjourned at 5:36 p.m.

The second meeting of the month was held on May 27, and was dedicated to Robert Craig, the Jurupa Community Services District board member and committed community volunteer who passed away recently.

The Council focused on a variety of topics ranging from anniversary pins to the cruciality of conserving water.

The meeting began with Pastor Ed Moreno of New Day Christian Church leading the group in prayer, asking the Lord to provide His blessings onto the City.

Skipping the closed session, the meeting started with the Presentations/Announcements. A City golf tournament will take place on Aug. 24; volunteer positions have been opened for the Picnic at the Park event taking place June 26 to 28. The City is also looking forward to the popular Concerts in the Park series every Friday night from July 10 to Aug. 28.

The Student Liaison Report was provided by ERHS Junior, Julia Sung, who gave her report on upcoming school graduation ceremonies.

In regard to the Consent Calendar, the board motioned for the passing of the Surplus City Hall Property, which would declare the outdated City Hall property as being surplus, authorizing the City Manager to dispose of the property.

Moving onto the Public Hearings, City Manager, Michele Nissen, spoke regarding the 2015-2016 Waste Management Rate Increase Request. Having been motioned, the public hearing regarding Waste Management would continue onto the June 10 City Council Meeting agenda.

There were no Old Business items.

Moving on to New Business, there was a brief discussion on a pin design for Eastvale's 5th Anniversary – Designs A and B - and if it would be best to produce 500, 1,000, or 1,500 pins to sell in the future. After discussion, the committee motioned for the production of 1,500 pins for Design B.

The conversation moved onto the approval of the Landscaping and Lighting Maintenance District No.89-1, which approved the agreement between Riverside and the City, and led to the adoption of levying and collecting assessments.

Before concluding the meeting, Councilman Lorimore addressed the City Manager's Report. Following a statement Governor Jerry Brown had made in early April, Lorimore reminded the Council that because California was in a crucial drought, Brown has had to impose cities with a severe 25% water usage reduction. Lorimore argued that Eastvale citizens are not overusing water; however, he recommended citizens monitor their water usage to avoid fines from JCSD.

The meeting was adjourned at 7:08 p.m., and the next meeting will be held on Wed., June 10.

Meet your new city manager

May 13. Mich0ele Nissen, who has been seated as the Interim City Manager during the search, was unanimously voted into the position, effective immediately. Nissen was selected from 28 applicants in a nationwide search over the past six months.

Eastvale's Mayor, Ike Bootsma, summed up the Council's sentiments perfectly in a recent press release from the City of Eastvale:

"We are very excited to have Michele serve as the City Manager of Eastvale. She has been working for the City in many different roles since incorporation and is well-known by the citizens and stakeholders – which is an asset to the community. Her knowledge of internal operations, along with her dedication and hard work, made her the clear choice for City Manager. I am confident that she will do a great job in her newest role."

In an effort to help citizens get to know the new City Manager just a little bit better, the Eastvale News sat down with Nissen for an interview:

Q: How long have you been in Eastvale?

A: My husband and I moved to Eastvale in October 2001 with our son Christopher, who was nine months old at the time. We moved here from the South Bay where we grew up. When we first moved to Eastvale, we didn't know a soul here and there were more cows than people. In fact, I used to wake up every morning at about 5 a.m. to the sound of cows hitting the feed gates. Our family has grown a little bit with the addition of our second child, Olivia, in 2002, and our furry, four-legged son, Conrad, who joined us in 2009. Conrad is a huge yellow Labrador Retriever.

Q: When did you start working for the City of Eastvale?

A: My service with the City of Eastvale began in November 2010, when I was appointed to the Eastvale Planning Commission. It was an honor to serve as former Council member Kelly Howell's planning commissioner for 18 months. Prior to incorporation, I had been working in a volunteer capacity as part of the Eastvale Community Committee, and I coordinated the quarterly Eastvale Town Hall meetings for about eight years. I also had the pleasure of being one of the editors and writers for the Eastvale Edition. In July 2011, I was asked to participate in a part-time, temporary assignment to develop a new city website. This was a very exciting project for me due to my background in journalism, public relations and website content development. As the City grew and the service demands increased, this part-time, temporary assignment became the part-time Public Information Officer position. In July 2012, I became the full-time Public Information Officer. I served as the City's PIO until December 2014 when the position was combined with the role of Assistant City Manager. During my tenure with the City, I have also served as the City's Acting City Manager when needed. The search for a permanent City Manager began in November 2014, and in March 2015 the City Council appointed me to serve as the Interim City Manager while they continued the search for a permanent solution. It was an honor to be appointed as the permanent City Manager in May. Being the City Manager is not a role or responsibility that I take lightly, because Eastvale is where my heart is.

Q: What do you love about Eastvale?

A: There are so many things that I love about Eastvale, it's hard to narrow it down. I love the people of this community and the dear friends that I have made since moving here. The residents are caring, dedicated, and proud - which is reflected by the quality of life that we have created here in Eastvale. Over the years, I have coached both boys' and girls' soccer with the Empire Soccer Club, been a team mom for Eastvale Little League, and assisted with many community events. I love running into the kids that have been on one of my teams and hearing about what they are up to. It's exciting to watch our youth grow up and become the next generation of leaders and scholars. I also love the clouds and sunsets in Eastvale. My kids tease me because I take a lot of pictures of clouds and sunsets.

Q: As City Manager, what plans do you have for Eastvale?

A: One of my goals is to successfully implement the policy directives, goals and objectives of the City Council, while creating a service-oriented culture at City Hall.

In her new role, Nissen will be responsible for a City budget of approximately $14.7 million, as well as a staff of eight employees and 20 contract employees for building, public works and planning. She holds a Bachelor's degree from Loyola Marymount University and will complete her Master's degree in Public Administration from Cal Baptist University this August.

The Eastvale News congratulates Michele Nissen on a job well done, and her new appointment as City Manager for the City of Eastvale.

A Special Thank You

By PATRICIA FLINN

Eastvale – The Wives of Law Enforcement and Fire-fighters (W.O.L.F.F.) recently had the pleasure of recognizing and remembering law enforcement officers and firefighters who have spent countless days and nights protecting our local communities.

On May 7, W.O.L.F.F. - along with the Cities and Chambers of Commerce for Norco and Eastvale - honored the men and women who fought the recent Highway Fire in the City of Norco. Members of the Norco and Eastvale stations of Riverside County Cal Fire, and the Corona Fire Department, were presented with plaques and certificates to show appreciation for their diligent efforts in fighting this fast growing fire. In addition, the Stonebridge Christian Academy students created banners and wrote thank you notes for our local fire stations, while Eastvale Elementary's 1st Grade class presented thank you cards to one of our own, Battalion Chief Robert Harris, who led a team to Nepal for earthquake relief efforts.

On May 20, members of W.O.L.F.F. attended the L.A. County Peace Officers Memorial Ceremony, which recognizes law enforcement officers who have recently lost their lives, including Lieutenant Patrick Liberton, an Eastvale resident. Lieutenant Liberton suffered a fatal heart attack during a traffic stop on Aug. 12, 2014.

The topic of the essay was, "Reasons Why I Should Win A New Bike." Students were encouraged to elaborate on why they were deserving of this terrific prize, with judging criteria based upon creativity, content, grammar and spelling.

There were two categories: 1st through 3rd Grades (100 to 200 words), and 4th through 6th Grades (200 to 300 words) – with a new, age-appropriate bicycle to be awarded in each group.

There were two drop-off locations in Eastvale - Great Harvest Bread Company, and Mountain View Tires – with collections any time within the contest timeline of May 6 through 27.

After careful consideration of all entries in accordance with contest criteria by the Eastvale News Editorial Staff, the following individuals were determined to be the winners:

- Zachary Richards, 1st Grade
- Christian Jimenez, 5th Grade

Out of all the entries received, Zachary's stood out not only because he did a good job on the essay, but he was the only one who submitted a picture. And the fact that he wanted to be a "professional bicycle trickster" tugged on the Editorial Staff's heartstrings.

Christian's entry was not only competent beyond his years, but he expressed thanks and appreciation for consider-

Reasons Why I Should Win A New Bike 2015 Essay Contest
by Zachary Richards age 7
First grade - Clara Barton

mem: Shannon Richardson

I know four reasons why I should win a new bike. First, I need a new bike without having one. I want a big bike like a 16; I would learn how to do bike tricks. Because I want to be a professional trickster. Next, I would like to ride the River walk trail by my house. The River walk trail is fun to ride on my bike. Last, I like to exercise with my mom. I like to spend time with my family and be healthy. Obviously, I want a new bike and would be really excited and happy and thankful.

Christian Jimenez
5th Grade
Clara Barton

My name is Christian Jimenez I am a fifth grade student in Clara Barton Elementary. I am 10 years old and will be 11 in June. I like to play outside I also like to ride in the dirt. I like to play Baseball and Basketball. I have two friends that go mountain bike riding with their parents and I would love to get into that sport. I think it would be really cool if I can get into that sport because I love to ride in dirt.

One reason I feel I should get a bike is that there are some good trails where I live. I love to ride on the river trail on the dirt side. I go when I am out of school with my mom and ride. There are many trails around where I live to ride on.

Second reason why I feel I should get a bike is that if I win and I get the new bike, I could give my old bike to someone who doesn't have a bike. Then who ever I give my old bike to they will be happy and then they will have a new bike to ride on too.

Third reason why I feel I should get a new bike is that I can get some exercise from riding the bike. I can get outside more and be healthy and strong. I love being outside and playing and riding in the dirt.

All in all, winning a new bike would be awesome. Mountain bike riding will be a cool sport to get into because I like riding on dirt trails. I greatly appreciate your time and your consideration in choosing the winner of the bike.

Etiwanda Preserve Rescue

Sheriff's Aviation and SB County Fire rescue injured hiker after 50 foot fall

STAFF REPORTS

Etiwanda Preserve – On Mon., June 1, Darren Taylor was hiking with friends in the Etiwanda Preserve, which is located just north of Rancho Cucamonga. Taylor attempted to climb down a steep cliff and fell approximately 50 feet into a creek bed. Friends hiking with Taylor immediately called 911 and requested assistance. Taylor was suffering from major injuries.

Personnel from the Rancho Cucamonga Fire Department responded. After arriving, personnel determined Taylor would need to be hoist rescued due to the remote location and rugged terrain.

San Bernardino County Sheriff's Air Rescue 6 was requested. The crew arrived a short time later and began the hoist rescue operation. Taylor was hoisted from the location and flown to a nearby trauma center for treatment.

To The Pointe Dance Productions

Training dancers and transforming lives

By K.P. SANDER

Chino – It isn't often you come across a business dedicated to students that provides a Christian atmosphere, and promotes not only artistry, but modesty, authenticity, faith and community as well – but To the Pointe Dance Productions (TTP) is all that, and more.

Founded in 2004 by CEO and Artistic Director, Lindsay Dixon, what started as teaching three students on Saturday mornings as a way to make some extra cash has developed into a faith-based business of integrity – reaching out to the community in a variety of caring ways.

Dixon – whose lifelong love of dance has led her on a wonderful journey – received her formal training in ballet, pointe, jazz, tap, and lyrical at the Talent Dance Studio in Chino. While studying there, she was a six-year member of the nationally acclaimed Showstopper dance team, and also a competitive lyrical and pointe soloist, receiving numerous regional and national titles. also holds a B.A. in Philosophy with a Minor in Business Administration from Azusa Pacific University. She has been providing dance instruction to children and adults of all ages since she was 15.

Now enjoying its 11th year of business, the non-profit TTP has realized the potential for a faith-based dance training program where students can explore movement and performance in a non-threatening and loving environment. Serving 200 students at over 30 weekly classes, TTP caters to children and adults of every ability. From their annual spring and Christmas recitals to their vibrant specials needs programs, there is definitely something for every dance student. They even offer an apprenticeship program with the Inland Empire's only professional contemporary dance company, Aletheia Contemporary Dance Theatre.

But more than anything says Dixon, "We have a family of teachers, parents and peers to support and encourage development – not only as dancers – but as loving and compassionate human beings."

The focus on TTP is not on competition, but on providing dancers with the skills and resources to reach maximum potential. Whether students want to dance professionally or use their gifts to minister to others – or just dance for the love of dance – TTP is there to provide a nurturing environment and show that their ultimate reason for dancing is to draw closer to God.

Dixon, her husband, two-year old son – and baby girl on the way – live in Eastvale.

To find out more about TTP, including Summer Dance Camps, class offerings and schedules, special needs programming, scholarship funds, or to make a donation, visit www.ttpdance.org.

TTP is located at 14058 Euclid Ave., Building A, in Chino. They can be reached at (909) 628-4242, or email office@ttpdance.org. And see their ad below this article.

Corona Bank Robber Gets Prison

Driver and accomplice gets State Prison sentence

Patricia Cheree Smith, 26

By CLAIRE LEWIS

Riverside – On Feb. 4, Paul Alfred Eugene Johnson, 59, and Patricia Cheree Smith, 26, both of Hemet, robbed the Pacific Premier Bank located at 102 E. Sixth Street in Corona. Johnson threatened bank employees at gunpoint, and fled the scene with a large sum of money in a vehicle driven by Smith.

According to the Corona Police Department, Officers quickly intervened and located the vehicle, and a chase ensued into the city of Chino. As Officers attempted a high risk enforcement stop, the vehicle stopped briefly nearly San Antonio and Bickmore avenues and the driver emerged. That's when things went from bad to worse.

The pursuit then continued with Johnson at the wheel. He led Police to the 71 Freeway where he crashed off the side of the expressway. As he exited the vehicle, he was struck multiple times by Police gunfire. Johnson was pronounced dead at the scene.

As Smith exited the vehicle in Chino, she was immediately contacted by Police where she declared she was the victim of a hijacking at the scene of the robbery by a man with a gun. Further investigation by Corona Police Detectives revealed that Smith was an accomplice in the bank robbery.

On May 18, Smith appeared in Riverside Superior Court. She pleaded guilty on three counts of armed robbery. With three strikes, Smith was sentenced to State Prison.

Senior Award Night

BY EMILY AGUILAR

Eastvale - After four years of grueling work in studying, sports, and being active in prestigious clubs, ERHS Seniors were finally recognized on Senior Award Night. The event was held on Thurs., May 14, at 6:30 p.m.

Behind the stage, numerous students were cheering one another on; most of the award recipients were life-long friends. The atmosphere was filled with love as students took selfies and congratulated one another on their awards.

While the award ceremony rewarded students with certificates for being in nationally acclaimed clubs such as CSF and NHS, or receiving anywhere from $500 to $5,000 in scholarship money, the award ceremony was more of an opportunity for teachers and staff to reflect on how grateful they were to have worked with a plethora of talented students.

There exists a rare group of teachers who rightfully believe their students will influence the rest of the world. Thankfully, these teachers can be found at ERHS. As Victor Ruelas, an AP Government teacher, presented the Principal's Award to Shukan Patel, he began to cry as he swore that Patel's diligence, brilliant mind, and dedication to politics will one day make him "the next president of this country."

Patel, who will be attending UCLA as a political science major, was only one of students to be recognized for his brilliance. Future UC Berkeley student, Alex Tung, was showered in scholarship gifts, recognitions, and praise until the night came to a close.

At the end of the ceremony, Valerie Kwee, who had already been given a scholarship for science, was called on stage once more to be declared as the school's valedictorian. The designation had been a close call with fellow student and friend Alex Tung, and although Kwee was excited to have received the honor, she remains humble about the title.

When asked if she felt relieved to have received the honor, Kwee said "To me, education is a process and it doesn't just end once you receive a title. I guess you can say being a valedictorian is more exciting than it is relieving."

Kwee will be attending Harvey Mudd College this fall to study biomedical engineering.

With the awards they have received, and the caring support they have received by peers and fellow friends, ERHS students have nothing less than a bright future ahead of them thanks to the dedicated effort they have put in place for the past four years of high school.

ERHS Student Gates Millennium Scholar

BY TARA LANNING

Eastvale - Daliyah Ross, a senior at Eleanor Roosevelt High School was recently given a bright, new future. As the recipient of the prestigious Gates Millennium Scholarship, Ross will enjoy a full ride through her next four years of college.

The Gates Millennium Scholarship Program is funded by a $1.6 billion grant provided by the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation. This grant is a 20-year commitment designed to fund the college education of 20,000 high-achieving minority students. Individuals selected as Gates Scholars will receive funds in an amount determined by the Foundation based on financial need, as well as the cost of tuition, fees, books and living expenses – and other aid received.

For the 2015-16 academic year, 57,000 students applied for the scholarship, but only 1,000 received the award.

ERHS is very proud of Ross, who will be attending Hampton University in Virginia this fall.

tary in Corona.

"Principal of the Year" is an Association of California School Administrators (ACSA) award, and those in consideration must demonstrate exemplary performance in criteria for exceptional leadership in managing school programs, strong support of school management teams, and commitment to educational quality and student achievement (and much more).

Each year ACSA sends out ballots with the names of those who are eligible in multiple categories, and administrators vote for who they think are deserving of the awards.

Says Dietrich, "Every year I try and take the process seriously and vote for who is doing a good job."

Obviously Dietrich's peers thought the same thing when they nominated him.

"Dr. D," as he is fondly called by his students, has been with CNUSD for 15 years. He began as a 5th Grade teacher at John Adams Elementary in Corona, and in 2009 became principal of that school.

Evita Tapia, Public Information Officer for CNUSD says about Dietrich, "He is the perfect fit to be an elementary school principal, with his high energy and amiable personality."

Two years ago, the District moved Dietrich to William McKinley Elementary to implement some of the successes he had realized at John Adams.

In Dietrich's tenure, McKinley is definitely enjoying some success. McKinley is the first in the Inland Empire to become a "Leader in Me" site, a whole-school transformational process that teaches students how to be leaders of themselves, and how to work with other people using the soft skills of the 21st century (focusing on Franklin Covey's 7 Habits of Highly Effective People).

Implemented in over 2,000 schools worldwide, the Leader in Me process has schools consistently reporting an increase in students' self-confidence, teamwork, initiative, creativity, leadership, problem solving, communication, diversity awareness and self-directed learning – as well as dramatic decreases in disciplinary issues (according to the Leader in Me website).

"What's great is that the Leader in Me program has bonded the staff at McKinley; it's given us something to be proud of. And, its turning heads, making other schools notice us," says Dietrich. "Other District schools are now in the process of becoming Leader in Me schools because of what we are doing."

Surprised that he won the award, Dietrich says, "It's validating for what is happening at

"My hope is that what we are doing with the Leader in Me program is so impactful that eventually it has nothing to do with me – but it has everything to do with McKinley and what they are doing."

McKinley. I'm the one getting the recognition, but it's all about what the team is doing."

In fact, Dietrich's team was just notified that they are receiving the Models of Academic Excellence and Innovation award from the Riverside County Office of Education; and they are one of CNUSD's three nominations for the California Golden Bell award, a prestigious recognition from the California School Board Association.

"Individuals are getting recognized, but it is all because of what's happening in the totality of the Leader in Me process," says Dietrich. "Parents are recognizing that what we are doing is much more impactful for the whole child in preparing them for the future."

When asked what his biggest hope for McKinley is, Dietrich says, "Our WIG (Wildly Important Goal) is to become a Lighthouse School by the end of next year. To become a Lighthouse School means you have checked off every box and have done all the things that you can do to ensure that the leadership theme has been built into the culture. If the principal leaves, the program doesn't. My hope is that what we are doing with the Leader in Me program is so impactful that eventually it has nothing to do with me – but it has everything to do with McKinley and what they are doing."

Dietrich holds a Bachelor's degree in Exercise Science and Master's degree in Curriculum Instruction from Concordia University, and a Doctorate in Educational Leadership and Administration from La Sierra University. He and his wife, Sarah, have three children: Emma, Justin and Luke. He is active in his church, extremely handy around the house, and enjoys sports – as an avid St. Louis Cardinals and San Diego Chargers fan; he also enjoys the Lakers ("Just not lately," he says). "Dr. D" also teaches leadership classes at Concordia University. The Dietrich family lives in Eastvale.

Four Table Legs

By SARAH SANCHEZ

I work with the youth ministry at our local church, so I'm around teenagers about twice a week, in addition to talking to them almost daily. As I've worked with the local youth, I've begun to understand that they have a lot more to deal with than when I was in school.

It's a lot easier for a teenager to feel overwhelmed with the pressures of today's society. To us adults, their problems don't seem like a big deal because we know there is so much more to life with so many more responsibilities that our teens haven't even dealt with yet. But a teenager doesn't understand that. When something significant happens, their whole world can feel like its falling apart - which can lead to serious depression or even suicide.

I like to think of a teenager's life like a table with four legs. If you knock out one leg of the table, it will begin to fall. In comparison, one leg represents one part of a teenager's life. When you take a part of it away, their world starts to feel as if it's falling apart, just like the table. If you knock down all the legs, they can feel as if there is nothing worth living for, which is what triggers the depression and suicidal thoughts. So understanding your teenager's table legs is crucial to being able to help them.

Based on my experience, a teenager's world consists of the following four table legs (typically in this order of importance):

Leg #1: Friends/Dating Relationships. I put these two in the same category because it's usually one or the other. If a teenager is in a relationship, it means they are spending all their time with their boyfriend/girlfriend and aren't spending much time with their friends. But if they aren't in a relationship, all their free time goes to their friends. Of course, there are a few exceptions.

If your teenager just got dumped or is being excluded from his/her group of friends, it's a big deal to them because this is their number one priority in life. They can't just go off and sit with new friends. Have you seen the movie, "Mean Girls?" ("You can't sit with us."). I remember sitting in the bathroom and eating my lunch by myself when my high school friends were mad at me, because that seemed better than walking up to a group of strangers to eat with. It doesn't make sense, but a teenager's brain doesn't always make sense.

Leg #2: School. This is where your teenager spends most of his/her day, so it's actually pretty important. If your teenager is a junior or senior, they have a lot of pressure with SATs (these are insanely hard now!), graduation, and college applications.

If that's not enough, what also falls under the school category is social status, which is everything to a teenager. A lot of my students struggle with self-esteem issues because they care so much about what their peers think of them. And with teenagers on five different social networks at a time (yes, there are now five of them), it's a lot easier for their life to be made public. If something in their life is posted on social media by a peer, it can not only jeopardize their social status and cause them to be isolated from their peers, but a mistake can even haunt them for the rest of their life (said in the dramatic voice of a teenager).

An example might be if your teenager decides to go drinking with their friends (oh, don't act surprised; you were a teenager, too), and someone videos them drunk - that video can end up on any or all social media avenues. One click of the "Post" button can share the unfortunate incident with friends, who can share it with their friends, and so on - perhaps even going viral worldwide. One post can change your teen's life. Maybe they are even the ones posting the fate of someone else. The guilt associated with either action can really affect a teenager.

Leg #3: Extra Activities. This category is for anything outside of school and friends, whether its sports, theater, work, or volunteering. These activities are very important to a teenager because they're spending their free time doing them. So whether they are doing it for fun, money, or for their college applications, they are getting something out of it. But with the perks, comes the stress of succeeding in whatever they are pursuing.

Leg #4: Family. Yes, sadly, family is usually last on the priority list (it's nothing personal). With school, activities, and friends taking up most the day, there's not much time left for family. However, even if you hardly see your teen, they are very aware of what's going on at home. It's probably my most popular prayer request: parents fighting, financial struggles, family feuds; the list goes on and on - I've heard some crazy stories. So imagine your teenager struggling with friends and the pressure of school or extracurricular activities, and then you top it off with them hearing about your marital or family problems. All this can push them over the edge with stress that they don't need. If they are around this turmoil enough, it could affect them more than any of the other categories.

It's important to understand how any of these falling legs can affect your teenager's life. I suggest that you talk openly with your teens, even share your own experiences with them; and don't take their depression lightly.

In my group of about 15 girls, almost all of them have admitted to being bullied, eight have suffered from major depression (53.3%), and four have admitted that they have either attempted or thought about suicide (26.6%). These are just freshman girls. They just entered high school and have already struggled with serious issues. Luckily, they are

My Snow White

By "TONY THE BARBER"
ANTHONY VILLALPANDO

When I was a boy of about 8 or 9 years old, I thought about what it would be like to be a father one day. I looked into the sky and asked God how many children he was going to give me, what they were going to look like, and what they were going to become.

I wanted to become a real father, just like Pinocchio wanted to become a real boy - realizing that I had to have a real life, with a wife, and be responsible.

My question to God was, "How do you get a wife?" and he said, "I will bring her to you and you will marry her." I thought I heard him chuckling as he said that my wife would tell me the secret of how to have real children. I smiled to myself and went on my merry way.

Many years later, I was given five healthy and handsome sons. Being content with my getting professional help now.

Is your teenager suffering from depression or suicidal thoughts, too? Are they receiving the love and help they need? Have you taken a step back from your busy life to notice if they're handling theirs?

Growing up, my dad used to tell me that no matter what I did, he and my mom would never stop loving me. He said that even if I falsely accused him of something and he ended up in jail for it, he would still love me. He told me this to make sure I knew that there was nothing in this world that was worth committing suicide for because I always had two people who would love me no matter what mistakes I made. That statement meant everything to me. Yes, I still struggled with depression and even suicidal thoughts growing up, but when it came down to it, I knew it wasn't worth it because my parents would love me no matter what I did.

So, please, try to understand your teenagers (and their table legs) and show them unconditional love. You never know if one day it might be too late.

boys, I was quite surprised a few years later when another baby was on the way. On delivery day when my little girl - Sylvia "Denae" - entered the world, there was no life or movement in her. I did not want to panic and show her mother that I was fearful and crying in my heart. I just kept saying to my baby, "Daddy loves you" over and over again - and she came to life. And from that moment, oh what a bond we have had.

My little girl is now a young lady in high school. She teaches the children at her church and she tells me, "Dad, I love my kids." And those kids love her; in fact, everyone loves my daughter. She tells me that one day she is going to be a real mom. Now I'm the one chuckling.

Denae fills our life with laughter, hugs, kisses and unconditional love. She cooks for us, and likes going places with her brothers. My son, Dallas, asked me one day how we would manage when Denae goes off to college. I told him to just enjoy what he has now, and love her every day.

Each night Denae kisses and hugs us all good night. She never misses her routine, even if she is tired or bogged down with homework. She is our Snow White, and we are her dwarves.

It has been a privilege to be a father to Jonathan, Brandon, Dallas, Tony Jr., Andrew - and of course my love, my little Snow White. One day I will let her go, and place her hand in the hand of her real prince.

And one day I will have to let go of her warm and tender heart as I close my eyes and take my last breath to be with my Father in Heaven...but she will always be my Snow White.

Happy Father's Day!

the ceremony were Eastvale’s Mayor, Ike Bootsma; City Manager, Michele Nissen; and executives from Goodman Birtcher – a subsidiary of development giant, Goodman Group, one of the most respected real estate investment companies in the Western United States.

Located adjacent to the I-15 Freeway between Cantu-Galleano Ranch Road and Bellegrave Avenue in Eastvale’s most northeast corner of the City, the Center will ultimately span 200 acres of retail, medical, business park and Class A logistics.

nomical benefit to the City. There will be employment opportunities during the construction process and after it is built. This is the first official office space in Eastvale. Small and large business owners will be able to call Eastvale home,” said Nissen. “It’s also a plus that Hamner will be widened, which everyone will love.”

The $366 million project is the first of its kind in Eastvale, and the outstanding municipal demographics as well as the close proximity to highways, the Ontario airport and Long Beach/ Los Angeles sea ports will make this a major commerce hub in the very near future. The Center will bring substantial business to the area, $28 million in public improvements (including the significant upgrade to Hamner Avenue with six lanes of traffic), and – perhaps best of all - an expected 4,000+ employment opportunities. Each day, over 155,000 cars will have visibility to the upcoming prominent freeway signage, expanding the capital potential even further.

Over two million square feet of industrial space will be available as soon as the second quarter of 2016, as Phase I of the Center nears completion.

Said Goodman Birtcher Chief Executive Officer, Brandon Birtcher, “We are very excited for what we have to offer to the Eastvale Community.”

Conquer It With Him

By PASTOR TIM EATON

As we go through life, the challenges we face are often the things we want to happen least of all. Many of us will live life trying to sidestep and avoid every challenge that comes our way. Even if you are the adventurous type who loves "A Challenge," these tend to be in superficial areas.

Maybe you have completed a marathon, or climbed Mt. Whitney. Those are tough challenges, but somehow they seem much more pleasant than the ones life throws at us.

It's the challenges we don't choose that truly test what we are made of. Maybe it's the loss of a job, the infidelity of a spouse, the illness of a child, the loss of a loved one - or even the chance of a lifetime. These challenges may demand more from us than we ever could have imagined or trained for.

The only thing we can be certain of is that these challenges will come. Very few of us will finish life without encountering challenges bigger than ourselves.

So, what do we do? How do we face them? Do we buckle down and man up? Do we find wisdom and solace in friends? Absolutely. But often, that just isn't enough. When challenges are bigger than us, we need help that is bigger than us!

Psalms 46 gives hope: "God is our refuge and strength, an ever-present help in trouble, therefore we will not fear."

When praying for personal strength, the apostle Paul heard from God, "My grace is sufficient for you, My strength is made perfect in weakness," (2 Corinthians 12:9).

Help your children discover God's strength at Edgewater's Everest Vacation Bible School: Conquering Challenges With God's Mighty Power. This event will be held July 20 to 24, at Ramirez Middle School. For more information and to register online, visit <http://edgewaterlutheran.org/#events/vacation-bible-school>.

Multiple Ways To Heaven?

By PASTOR ROBERT JEWETT

There are people who hold to a belief that all roads lead to heaven. They believe that as long as one is sincere in his or her beliefs, then they will go to heaven - regardless of what they believe.

The standard for them is not truth, but rather sincerity. No matter how sincere someone is about not succumbing to the force of gravity prior to jumping off a building, they will soon plummet to the ground at 9.8 meters per second. Although they may have been sincere, the truth prevailed.

The apostle Peter boldly proclaimed that "there is salvation in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved," (Acts 4:12).

Those who wish to push aside the claims of Christ are quick to judge Christians as arrogant and narrow-minded. Jesus was not concerned about those who would make such claims about him. He unashamedly declared, "I am the way, and the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me," (John 14:6).

Jesus made it very clear that sincerity in anything other than him would not save anyone. He alone came to die so that the sinner may live. He alone rose from the grave to conquer sin and death. He alone is the way to heaven.

Word of Truth Community Church meets Sundays at 10:30 a.m. and Wednesdays at 7 p.m., at 850 E. Parkridge Ave., #110, in Corona. For more information, visit WordOfTruthCC.com.

Where Do You Find Your Hope?

By PASTOR MARK LEE

In many ways, this time of year is all about hope. Whether you are preparing to graduate, planning a wedding, or simply anticipating a vacation, this month is full of promise. Because of this, June has the ability to turn everybody into school kids anxiously awaiting the start of summer. After all, who doesn't like to have something to look forward to?

It is common for people to believe that something better is on the horizon. In fact, it can actually be beneficial. Research indicates that hopeful individuals experience higher levels of achievement. In scientific studies, athletes, college students, and test takers all performed better when they were optimistic about the future.

The problem, however, is that it is not always easy to be optimistic. We expect our vacations to bring us freedom, our graduations to bring us wealth, and our weddings to bring us companionship. But what happens when our vacations are over, our job hunts are unsuccessful, and we are fighting with our spouses?

As humans, we have a tendency to believe that specific people, events, or accomplishments will fix our problems. We put our hope in these things, expecting that they will improve our lives. But, this doesn't always happen. And, when it does, the results are often temporary. Those things that once brought us hope can often leave us feeling hopeless.

For a guaranteed and permanent solution, we have to look beyond this world. In Psalms 25:3, David wrote, "No one whose hope is in you will ever be put to shame." Unlike the people and things in our lives, God is all-powerful and ever-present. If we place our hope in Him, we will never be disappointed.

VantagePoint Church meets at Roosevelt High School on Sundays at 9:30 and 11:00 a.m.

"Legacy"

By PASTOR DENNIS MORALES

"As for you, my son Solomon, know the God of your father, and serve Him with a loyal heart and with a willing mind; for the LORD searches all hearts and understands all the intent of the thoughts. If you seek Him, He will be found by you; but if you forsake Him, He will cast you off forever," - 1 Chronicles 28:9.

David instructs Solomon to "serve God with a loyal heart." These are instructions of a father on his death bed to his son.

On a personal level, I have been given the greatest gift in my dad, which is a legacy of faith and loyalty to the Lord. He has not ceased to reflect Christ in his every action. He never misses a morning to pray with my mom or to make her favorite toast with honey and peanut butter. He often shows Jesus in the little things he does. It's an honor to see my dad serve faithfully in my church.

Some fathers think that fatherhood means that they should be waited on all the time, but the Bible indicates a father should be quick to serve. "The Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many," (Matthew 20:28).

God has placed parents as the authorities in the life of the child. In many ways, as fathers, we represent God to our children. Often as men, we think about the mark we will make in this world. I believe the greatest mark we can leave is the legacy we pass on as fathers, not an inheritance or a good name. It is the spiritual heritage that we give to our children. So pass it on, Dads!

Calvary Chapel Eastvale meets Sundays at 10:30 a.m.; and Wednesdays at 7 p.m., at Clara Barton Elementary (7437 Corona Valley Ave., Eastvale). Visit their website at www.CalvaryEastvale.org.

Down But Not Out

By PASTOR ROB NORRIS

"We have troubles all around us, but we are not defeated. We often don't know what to do, but we don't give up," - 2 Corinthians 4:8

Have you been through a period of life when everything looked bleak? When it seemed everything around you was coming unraveled? When you hoped the phone wouldn't ring for fear it would be more bad news?

During seasons like that, I'm often reminded of this story:

Karl, a Norwegian fisherman, had taken his two teenage sons out for a day of fishing. The morning had been beautiful when they started out, but the afternoon turned nasty in a hurry - catching them too far at sea to beat the incoming storm to shore. The wind-whipped ocean began to work into a frenzy, until Karl and his sons were battling for their lives. As darkness fell on their frantic efforts, even the steady beacon of the seaside lighthouse was suddenly extinguished by a terrific bolt of lightning. Hope seemed lost.

But things were actually worse than Karl knew. Lightning had also struck his home and the structure quickly erupted into a fireball. So when Karl and his sons finally staggered ashore, exhausted, he was met by his wife with the bad news.

Strangely, Karl seemed unfazed, much to his wife's frustration. As he stroked her tear-lined face with his tough, leathery hands, he said, "Don't you understand, sweetheart? When the lighthouse went out, the glow on the horizon became my compass. The fire that destroyed our house guided us home."

Tami and I and our family have certainly gone through times when there were "fires" burning. But we've also discovered that during these times, these crises have guided us "home," because they've forced us to hunker down in faith, crying out in absolute dependence upon God.

"Lord God, You know what You are doing! We don't know what You are up to, but we trust in You."

Live It: What is an example of a trial you've experienced that turned out to have a good consequence from an eternal perspective?

Pray: That you will face the fires together and that your faith in Christ will grow stronger as you go through them.

The Crossings meets Sundays, 10 a.m., at River Heights Intermediate, 7227 Scholar Way, in Eastvale. For more information, call (951) 847-6836, or visit www.atthecrossings.com.

The Importance Of Rest

By PASTOR ED MORENO

In Mark 7:24, 31 we read something very interesting. These verses tell us:

"Jesus left that place and went to the vicinity of Tyre. He entered a house and did not want anyone to know it...Then Jesus left the vicinity of Tyre and went through Sidon, down to the Sea of Galilee and into the region of Decapolis."

What Jesus is doing here can be missed if one does not know the historical context and geography of Jesus' little trip.

Jesus had been healing and ministering to people; the Jewish religious leaders had been causing conflict in an attempt to mess up Jesus' ministry; and so Jesus is tired. He needs a break. He needs some rest. And so Jesus takes a vacation.

That's right! Jesus took a vacation. When Jesus goes to the vicinity of Tyre, this is the very first time Jesus leaves Israel. He goes to where he thinks no one knows him and, apparently, rents a house.

Tyre is a coastal town. It sits on the Mediterranean. They have beautiful Sunsets there.

At this juncture Jesus wants to go unnoticed and to keep his identity and presence a secret. And when he leaves Tyre and makes his way back to Israel, he takes the long scenic route. That is, Jesus took the 120 mile route rather than the 30 mile route. And he does no ministering along the way.

The point is this: "Sometimes the most sacred thing you can do is rest."

Look, to be good for the long haul in ministry or our secular occupation, rest must be scheduled into our weekly, monthly and yearly rhythm.

I just got back from a two-week vacation. During that time I took no phone calls, and I did not read any texts or emails. Does that mean I do not care for the people I serve at New Day? No! It means that I do care and want to be there for them for the long haul. And to accomplish that, I must make sure I get rest. Are you including down time in your life? Jesus did!

New Day Christian Church meets Sundays at 9:30 and 11 a.m. They are located at 7155 Hamner Avenue (formerly "A" Street), at Schleisman Road next to the Fire Station. For more information, call (951) 278-8367, or visit www.newdaycc.net.

Hello Eastvale:

It's always a little bittersweet when someone who has put time into a company decides to pass the torch and move on. There are usually big shoes to fill and lots to learn for the one accepting that torch.

So how does one grab the torch and run with it?

I am Linda Ceron, the newly named Director of Corporate Sponsorship for the Eastvale's Chamber of Commerce. I am up for the challenge and come with a wealth of knowledge, experience and three decades of Sales and Marketing background working for a Fortune 500 company. I look forward to continuing on in the past Director's footsteps, providing the high level of programs and services that our business community has come to expect. I am excited to work with each and every Chamber member, Town official and potential new member business.

The Chamber's mission, in short, has always been "to make Eastvale a better place to live, work and do business." We know that what is good for business is good for the community. If businesses prosper, then people work and communities stay strong. I am proud to take the torch and run with it.

Here are some key things the Chamber will do for you as a member.

• We will keep you informed.

The "information explosion" has hit businesses hard. There is so much new information out there that it's impossible to keep up; health-care, taxes, new federal and state regulations; business trends. Of course not all of this information is vital to your business, but a great deal of it is. That's where the Eastvale Chamber of Commerce comes in. We function as a clearing house for information that's important to local business. Through newsletters, seminars, monthly mailings, weekly e-minders, and networking events, we get the word out to our members in an efficient, timely manner.

• We give you a voice. A single voice crying in the wilderness might have been effective in Biblical times, but in today's ever changing business landscape there's more truth to the old adage about "strength in numbers." As an Eastvale Chamber of Commerce member, your concerns are our concerns, and we'll use every bit of political muscle we have to make sure our members concerns are addressed in the proper forum.

• Many times, working "behind the scenes" lets the Chamber achieve some very impressive results that significantly benefit one or all of our 170 member businesses. We haven't achieved "wizard" status yet, but we intend to keep trying!

• The Chamber improves our community. If your business is a work of art, then your community is the frame that shows it off. The Eastvale Chamber of Commerce knows that good citizenship is good business, so we are the synergistic focal point for Eastvale business interaction with the community. We maintain liaison with Town government, service agencies, and other area non-profits to make sure that Eastvale business resources are effectively utilized to benefit every segment of the Town's population.

If you'd like to learn more about the great work we are doing here at the Chamber and in your community - or just say "hello," please feel free to give me a call. I look forward to helping grow your business.

Linda Ceron

Director of Corporate Sponsorship,
Eastvale Chamber of Commerce
