Here We Grow Again

By ANTHONY SAUDE

Eastvale – Since it first became a city in October of 2010, Eastvale has grown immensely. An area that was once mainly known for dairy farms is now buzzing with shopping centers, beautiful parks, and great schools. The growth our city has experienced is not letting up any time soon either! Here are some of the new businesses, developments, and projects that are taking place or coming to Eastvale soon.

Eastvale - Some may say that Rock and Roll is dead and hasn't been main stream for quite some time and is just for old people. Well I say that is because you haven't heard the Thursdays in Suburbia perform on stage or in the studio for that matter. The members of this band are still enrolled in high school in the City of Eastvale.

The band members met at Rock Stars of Tomorrow Musicians Academy in Chino Hills and formed a band just one year ago. What they have accomplished in their short time is together and at their age is nothing short of astounding. Their most recent accomplishment is taking home the gold in their first competition as a group at the Battle of the Bands Vans Warped tour.

CITY OF EASTVALE HIGHLIGHTS

Water Safety!

Being safe is like breathing. You never want to stop.

WATCH YOUR CHILD. WATCH THE WATER.

Drowning Prevention Tips:

- Learn life-saving skills. Everyone should know the basics of swimming (floating, moving through the water) and cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR).
- Fence it off. Install a four-sided isolation fence, with self-closing and self-latching gates, around backyard swimming pools. This can help keep children away from the area when they aren't supposed to be swimming. Pool fences should completely separate the house and play area from the pool.
- Make life jackets a must. Make sure kids wear life jackets in and around natural bodies of water, such as lakes or the ocean, even if they know how to swim. Life jackets can be used in and around pools for weaker swimmers too.
- Be on the look out. When kids are in or near water (including bathtubs), closely supervise them at all times. Because drowning happens quickly and quietly, adults watching kids in or near water should avoid distracting activities like playing cards, reading books, talking on the phone, and using alcohol or drugs.

Special Day For Special Needs By Scout Pack 2017

BY MELODY KRAMER

Eastvale - The 2nd annual Special Needs Game Day event in Eastvale was held on Saturday, August 4th at Harada Park. I was so excited for this day since both my boys are autistic. It was very special day that was made possible by Tom Donatoni and Scout Pack 2017.

It was a special gesture to have a free event that was designed just for them, the little heroes in our lives. The event ran from 4 pm to 8 pm and had over 1000 participants, approximately 3 times as many as the first year.

I had been excited for weeks waiting for this day, both my boys are autistic and participants in the games.

We all were given a wristband upon check-in, and the kids were given numbers on their wristband. The numbers were for the groups they would be in for the games.

There was opening ceremony, it consisted of the pledge of alliance and a prayer from Mark Lee, the pastor of Vantage Point Church in Eastvale.

After the opening ceremony, an announcement was made about where to line up for the games according to the number that each child had on their wristband.

The games that were in the middle of the event consisted of Tug a war, an obstacle course, bean bag toss, foot races, water balloon toss and many more.

There were some very helpful vendors in attendance that had program and services information for the parents of special little heroes. They also had special activities for them to participate in. Pack 2017 thought of everything on this day, having three jumpers and a slide set up for the kids. (I think this was my youngest son's favorite. He loves to bounce and bounce).

There were also many characters in cosplay costumes walking around interacting with the kids and posing for pictures. My boys loved the Power Rangers, and the characters from the Star Wars universe and many others.

Water stations were set up, and free water bottles were given out to all that needed cold water. It was a very hot day, and that water was much needed and appreciated.

A BBQ Dinner was served to everybody in attendance and there was plenty of food to go around and was enjoyed by all.

The organization of this event was very well orchestrated and made possible by many wonderful volunteers who were in attendance. I am so happy that we attended this event. It was a great day, and my little heroes sure enjoyed themselves.

A huge thank you to Tom Donatoni and Eastvale Scout pack 2017 for bringing this unforgettable selfless event to our little heroes. It indeed was a fantastic day! ■

Abandoned Baby Found Dead in Corona

STAFF REPORTS

Corona - Corona Police reported that an abandoned infant was found dead in the city of Corona.

The baby was found in the area of Cajalco Road and Interstate 15 on Friday afternoon, according to police. The call came in and officers were dispatched to the scene at 2:36 p.m.

When the officers arrived, the infant was already deceased according to the authorities. The cause of death is still being investigated but won't be known until an autopsy has been performed.

The investigation into the child's death is ongoing and anyone with information is asked to contact Detective

Mario Hernandez at 951-279-3659 or email Mario.Hernandez@CoronaCA.gov.

Corona police have said there are several "Safe Surrender Sites" where parents can safely surrender an infant within 72 hours of birth — no questions asked. Those places include hospitals, fire stations and police departments.

The safe surrender law allows a parent or legal guardian to confidentially surrender an infant, three days old or younger, to any hospital emergency room or other designated Safe Surrender site. As long as the baby has not been abused or neglected, the person may surrender without fear of arrest or prosecution for child abandonment. ■

How Many Americans are Finding Affordable Housing

STATEPOINT

With the cost of housing continuing to rise faster than wages, it's no wonder that many Americans nationwide are struggling to make ends meet. Luckily, solutions already exist to address the affordable housing shortage, say experts.

For example, more than 22 million people in the U.S. now live in manufactured housing -- homes built to a federal standard in factories and placed on a homeowner's land or on rented lots in manufactured home communities, according to the Manufactured Housing Institute (MHI). In many parts of the country, homes like these are the least expensive kind of housing available without a government subsidy. The cost to buy a manufactured home averages about $70,600, compared with $286,000 for a single-family site-built home, not including land costs.

In response to growing market demand, almost 93,000 new manufactured homes were built in the U.S. in 2017, an approximate 15 percent increase over 2016, according to MHI, but this is still not nearly enough to meet the nation's affordable housing needs, according to experts. Advocates say that zoning restrictions and other rules and regulations in many areas are preventing manufactured housing from closing the gap -- as certain jurisdictions only allow manufactured housing in locations far from town centers and other jurisdictions have considered banning them altogether.

"Part of this bias may be based on the negative stereotype of earlier generations of manufactured housing, however, today, our homes are built with quality construction materials to meet rigorous federal standards for safety, installation and construction," says Richard Jennison, president and CEO of MHI.

What's more, today's manufactured housing includes features that today's homebuyers want, such as luxury bathrooms, vaulted ceilings and state-of-the-art kitchens with energy-efficient appliances. Often situated in communities with swimming pools, playgrounds and clubhouses, they can be a very attractive option for families and retirees seeking affordability. To learn more visit, manufactured-housing.org.

"At a time when there is a great need for high-quality, affordable housing, today's manufactured homes are an effective solution for many American families and communities," says Jennison. ■

Autism Mom

Proud Mother

BY MELODY KRAMER

My children are autistic
You may not see it from the start.
If you only knew the challenges you would understand my heart.
I try my best from when they wake to when they sleep,
Most nights I go to bed and weep.
I'm exhausted to no end
and coffee gets me through the day, but nothing compares to the love that my boys give away.

They have their moments
Oh and are they tough
I ask God for patience cause it can get rough.
If you only knew what I go through daily from their tantrums to them losing control.
You wouldn't be so quick to judge and more acceptable to console.

It isn't always easy raising kids, especially one or two who's autistic.
So forgive me please if at times I seem distant or cold
I'm just trying to hold it together, so I don't lose control.
I love my boys with all my heart,
The lessons they teach me, the joy they bring,
the love they share, the smiles they give, the songs they sing.
God blessed me more than I could ever imagine

And yes they are a challenge
what more can I say
I am so thankful I am their mommy every day.

Our Life

Proverbs 31 Woman

BY SARAH SANCHEZ

The Bible describes a perfect woman in Proverbs 31. It describes a beautiful woman who cares for her family and teaches them about God. It describes a woman that is faithful and serves God with all of her heart, mind and soul, in addition to serving His people. A Proverbs 31 woman is described as someone who works hard and is smart with her money. In addition, the passage describes a woman who is "clothed with strength and dignity" (Proverbs 31:25). These are just a few of the many traits described in this passage.

When reading Proverbs 31, many women will strive to be this "perfect" woman and many men will strive to marry someone with these qualities. But when I read this passage, I instantly think of my mom. Of course, my mom isn't perfect, but she is pretty close and she is truly a great role model. I believe she is a Proverbs 31 woman.

My mom cares and loves others, and she has taught me to do the same. Growing up, we would drive by a person living on the street and she would go out of her way to find the nearest drive-through, purchase food, and go back to give it to that person.

My mom is also a loving mother that has always cared for our family. Growing up, she would make our lunches everyday and put a heart shaped note inside that would tell us how much she loved us. She would pack us healthy snacks to take to school too. She still brings me snacks and lunch at work and I'm already a married adult! But she just has the gift of nurturing and loving others.

Proverbs 31 talks about this perfect woman being a woman of God; and man do I owe my faith to my mom. She would be the one to drag us out of bed for church every Sunday. Even when my brother and I went through a rebellious stage, she still prayed for us and sent us scripture (whether our punky teenager-selves wanted to hear it or not). She never gave up on us. I think it paid off because we were all baptized and are currently striving to live Godly lives. If it wasn't for my mother constantly sharing her faith with us and believing in us, I'm not sure where we would all be.

My mom is a woman I admire and hope to be one day: both as a wife and mother. She is a strong woman who never loses faith in our God, no matter what circumstance we are going through. Growing up, I always believed she had a special direct line to God because her prayers were always answered. But really, it was because she had an enormous amount of faith and she truly believed that God would answer her prayers.

My mom is amazing and I'm sure yours is too; or maybe you know someone who has been like a mother to you. Whoever it may be, as we celebrate Mother's Day this weekend I ask that you honor your mothers. Whether she is with you today or not, take a moment to remember all the good things that she has done for you...even if the only good thing is that she gave birth to you. Whatever it is, tell her, show her, write to her, and honor her. Because Proverbs 31:31 says, "Honor her for all that her hands have done, and let her works bring her praise at the city gate." ■

INCIDENT: FATAL TRAFFIC COLLISION INVESTIGATION

WHEN: 7/26/18

WHERE: LIMONITE AVE. & ETIWANDA AVE., JURUPA VALLEY

DETAILS: On Thursday, July 26, 2018, at 9:55 p.m., officers assigned to the Jurupa Valley Police Department responded to the area of Limonite Avenue and Etiwanda Avenue, in the city of Jurupa Valley, regarding a vehicle versus pedestrian traffic collision. American Medical Response and California Fire Department personnel also responded to the scene. The Ultimate Summer Dining Out Guide: 10 Tips for a Healthier You

By STATEPOINT

With summer, comes BBQs, beach days and dining out with family and friends. And if you're trying to lose weight or maintain your healthy lifestyle, a big part of being successful is having the freedom to enjoy the things you love and not feel deprived. Strike the right balance with this ultimate summer dining out guide from Mandi Knowles, dietitian for South Beach Diet.

1. Be choosy. Don't default to your neighborhood greasy spoon just for the sake of dining out. Try a new restaurant and make it a special occasion.

2. Go online before you dine. Most restaurants post their menus online. Make a game plan beforehand so you won't be tempted by healthier options in-person.

3. Know your meal plan. Commit to ordering foods like lean protein and veggies steering clear of calorie bomb add-ons like heavy dressings and condiments.

4. Don't show up starving. Don't skip out on breakfast or snacks so you can splurge. Showing up overly hungry makes you likely to overindulge. Plus, skipping meals could lead to a blood sugar crash and subsequent snacking, throwing you off track.

5. Be the portion police. Restaurant portions are often two or three times the amount you need for any given meal. Consider sharing an entrée with a friend, saving half your meal for later, ordering from the kid's menu or choosing a few healthy appetizers instead of a full meal.

6. Start green. Start with a side salad to sneak in a serving of veggies and prevent overdoing it once your main meal arrives. Hold the croutons and cheese and ask for the dressing on the side.

7. Have it your way. Don't be afraid to ask for what you want. Seek out lighter preparations. Think steamed, broiled and grilled instead of breaded, battered and fried. Switch preparations, substitute ingredients, nix the butter or cream and if that's not possible, ask your server to point you to healthier selections.

8. Make reservations. Nothing's worse than waiting when you're hungry. Before you know it, you're seated and your desperate tummy is calling the shots.

9. Stay hydrated. According to a study published by the National Center for Biotechnology Information, drinking just over two cups of water 30 minutes before a meal helped dieters consume fewer calories and lose 44 percent more weight than those who didn't hydrate before meals. Bring a water bottle in the car with you so you feel fuller when you arrive.

10. End with coffee. Skip dessert and enjoy a coffee, tea or espresso to give your stomach time to signal your brain that you're full. Plus, you're ending the meal with a pick that's not packed with sugar, processed carbs and unhealthy fats.

Its primary mission is to provide quality, affordable, individualized care to seniors in a Christian environment, making it a place you can feel right at home.

Inland Christian Home, being licensed as a Continuing Care Retirement Community (CCRC) through the Department of Social Services, provides many different levels of care which include Independent Living, Assisted Living, Memory Care, Adult day care, Skilled Nursing and Rehab and Custodial Home care Services. The availability of different levels of care and service arrangements on the same grounds, offers seniors very unique advantages. facility in which they live, where all are treated as individuals and they participate and are given choices in how they live.

The availability of different levels of care and service arrangements on the same grounds offers residents some very unique advantages. Residents can continue to reside at the community even though their abilities may change. Resident and their families have the comfort in knowing that their needs will be met. Inland Christian Home is a close-knit community that promotes the maintaining of social relationship residents have with other residents, friends, and family.

Inland Christian Home also provides services to those who prefer to stay in their own homes. Custodial Home Care services make it possible by providing assistance with housekeeping, cooking, shopping, meal preparation, bathing, and dressing through educated caregivers.

Inland Christian Home is here to promote aging in place, and gives seniors the ability to live at the lowest level of care even though their abilities change and their families have the comfort in knowing their needs will be met; making it a place you can feel right at home. ■

Don't be Scared

BY ANTHONY SAUDE - MEN OF IMPAKT

In America today the climate is extremely volatile; you never know who might fly off the handle about somebody's beliefs that don't match their own. It doesn't matter what side of the fence we might be sitting on it has become the thing to judge, attack and even demean a person for their beliefs.

There isn't a lot of communication going on anymore. There are, on the other hand, a lot of people condemning each other instead of listening communicating. Listening to somebody doesn't mean opinions will change but it should be ok to have to express an opposite one without causing animosity. People are different and that is what makes life so wonderfully beautiful.

This behavior only creates fear in people to communicate their thoughts or opinions about anything. This can only lead to a society full of people that don't learn how to have a proper emotional response to any adverse circumstance, regardless of how simple it might be. This fear coupled with all the technology creates emotionally stagnant citizens.

Courage is not the absence of fear, but the triumph over it. Courage is the answer, we need to be courageous enough to share or thoughts calmly and intelligently, all while being courageous enough to listen to the other side without losing our cool.

The verse Philippians 2:3-4 says: Don't be selfish; don't try to impress others. Be humble, thinking of others as better than yourselves. 4 Don't look out only for your own interests, but take an interest in others, too, says all others. There is no qualifier ALL means ALL whether they believe what they believe or the opposite the verse is clear. If we are always thinking of others HATE would be exactly what it is, a four letter curse word.

See Pastor Sean Ortiz at New Beginnings Community Church, Jurupa Valley. ■

Growing

BY DENNIS MORALES

1 Corinthians 3:1 "I couldn't talk to you as...spiritual people..."

My two boys have just moved up another grade in school. It's really hard to assimilate sometimes in my parental cortex, but they are growing. I couldn't be happier that they are growing and healthy. Paul spoke to an audience dealing with stunted growth, not in a physical sense, but a spiritual sense. People had told us prior to our sons being born; don't talk baby talk, because it will affect their maturity and speech. When Paul spoke to the Corinthian church, he said that he couldn't speak in spiritual terms because they were still spiritual babies. They should have grown or progressed, but they were immature.

They should have passed up the milk and gone on toward food that requires you to sink your teeth into it. Paul says that immaturity was evident because of the things that were happening among them like strife, divisiveness, immorality, and envy (1Corinthians 3:3). Their behavior didn't change, and they weren't maturing. Unfortunately, many people have never grown up spiritually. They made an initial commitment to follow Christ but have never really understood what it means to be committed in following Jesus. Saying a prayer of commitment to Jesus is not all a Christian life is. Jesus becomes Lord and you begin to understand what it means for Him to lead your life. Spiritual growth should not just be Christian radio listening to sermons or music but cutting into your own food. We need to learn how to feed ourselves the spiritual food. Your foundation starts with your Bible.

The Bible is likened to bread (Matthew 4:4), meat (Hebrews 5:11-14), and even Honey (Ps 119:103). As we take steps closer to God, we experience His goodness, grace and glory in our lives in new ways.

Calvary Chapel Eastvale meets at Clara Barton Elementary in Eastvale. Services are held Sundays at 8:30 and 10:30am. Wednesdays at 7pm. ■

Growing Gardens

BY PASTOR ROB NORRIS

Let us not lose heart in doing good, for in due time we will reap if we do not grow weary.

Galatians 6:9

I like the way a garden looks when it's clean and neat, when all the soil is evened out and the weeds are pulled up. But I know too well that the hard work of a Saturday morning will be repeated again and again, all season long. It never takes more than a week or two of neglect before weeds are sprouting all over the place.

Parenting is a lot like that. Just when you think you've finally mastered one area, you wake up the next day and a whole new issue is facing you. It's so easy to forget that parenting is a process. A long, long process.

You go to bed at night sometimes relishing those little victories, thinking all is secure and right with the world. But it's not very long before something else crops up.

Remember that building character is the most important goal in parenting. Imprinting a child's heart with the image of God takes time and repeated effort, often reworking the same ground repeatedly to keep bad behaviors from becoming habits.

So I encourage you today not to give up. Don't lose heart. The Bible promises great rewards to those who faithfully persevere through the long days, the long battles that often don't even stop for bedtime. I assure you, all that weeding will pay off.

Make a decision to believe it and hold on to God's promise by faith without wavering.

Meeting @ 10:00 at River Heights Intermediate School 7227 Scholar Way, Eastvale CA. Trusting and believing with you, Pastor Rob ■

The Church of Today

BY PASTOR JEREMY MERCER

When I grew up in church, I often heard that my generation was the "church of tomorrow." Even though that phrase might have sounded good it left the impression that we, as young people, didn't matter "today." My natural response was, "well, do you want us all to leave and come back 'tomorrow?'" And that is how most of my generation in the church felt, at least at the church I grew up in anyway. Sadly, much of my generation did leave church and never went back.

Then, as the years went on, I saw a movement in many churches to reach the younger generation, often times at the expense of the older generations. And that didn't work for me either. Psalm 145:4 says the generations ought to declare the mighty acts of God to each other. Titus 2 tells the older women to instruct the younger women. Proverbs continually tells fathers to instruct their sons. It is God's design for the generations to be linked together...think Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

The church of "today" should include everyone. We should not attend a church just because it has all the musical styling's that our generation likes. Nor should we choose a church based upon the style of clothing the pastor wears, whether you like a suit and tie or skinny jeans and a v-neck t-shirt. We should attend a church where we can be discipled in the Word of God, can be mentored and mentor others. At the risk of sounding a bit like President Kennedy, find out what you can do to help your church, be better and not just demand that your church cater to you. Trust me; your pastor would LOVE to have that conversation with you!

When we fail to recognize the value in reaching across generational lines, I believe, we fail to reach our highest potential...in both generational directions.

The Balancing Act shows detailed information on where the city budget money comes from and where it's allocated to. The Tax Payer Receipt will calculate your annual taxes so you can prepare financially. Both, in complete detail, can be found on the city's website BALANCING ACT: <http://coronaca.abalancingact.com/adopted-budget-fiscal-year-2018-19-general-fund>. The TAX PAYER RECEIPT: <http://coronaca.abalancingact.com/taxreceipt>

The City of Corona's fiscal year begins July 1 and ends June 30 of the next year. The annual process to develop the budget for the coming fiscal year typically begins in January and starts with a series of public workshops and meetings culminating with adoption in late June. Through a public process, the adopted budget commits financial resources to a multitude of services and programs that the City provides. In other words, the adopted budget commits funding to what we do, and it works to legally limit funding as well.

All City services and the cost of providing services can be organized and tied back to one of 6 key service areas which together, influence the quality of life in Corona. The 6 key service areas are: Citywide Internal Support; Community and Economic Development; Infrastructure, Maintenance and Open Space; Leisure and Culture; Public Safety and Emergency Response; and Utilities and Transportation.

The Fiscal Year 2018-19 Adopted Budget and Capital Improvement Plan establishes the City's authorized spending limits for a variety of City services and programs, funded by multiple revenue sources, as well as for a host of capital improvement and/or multi-year projects. Multi-year projects are budgeted separately from the operating budget because these projects do not occur every year.

The city encourages the citizens of Corona to utilize the tools that Corona has pioneered to engage the community in the budget process and provide a deeper understanding of how our resources are allocated and planned. These tools were specifically designed with public engagement, education and transparency at heart.

“We are taking the best practices of the private sector and utilizing them in a local government application,” added Nissen. “This is a really new concept in local government operations. People tend to think funding is available because we get sales tax and property tax dollars, but with the state shifting more and more responsibility down to the local level, taking away funding, and CalPERS pension obligations increasing, all local governments are looking for innovative ways to stretch $1 and get more out of less. The data allows us to identify operational efficiencies and change our processes to maximize the return and increase efficiency.”

For questions about the budget documents, please contact Kerry Eden at 951-736-2315 or email Kerry.Eden@CoronaCA.gov.

Eastvale band wins battle of the bands have been honing their ever evolving skills at Rock Stars of Tomorrow for most of their young lives. Liam Eastwood, 15, guitarist and Aiden Kunhardt, 14, drummer have been taking lessons there since they were 6 and 7 years old. The hard work and dedication has been on display at places like The Whiskey in Hollywood, House of Blues, Chain Reaction and several festivals all over the area including a memorable performance at a Picnic In the Park Concert in front of their hometown crowd in Eastvale.

“Our future plans are to finish our original music and get our EP out to the public as soon as possible just two more songs to finish that project. We'll see where that will take us. Hopefully opening for someone big like Red Hot Chili Peppers or Foo Fighters.” said Margie Eastwood, the bands manager.

“The band just played what could be their last concert for a while on August 2nd in Rancho Cucamonga. The band will be spending a lot of time in the studio right now so they could finish their EP project as soon as possible. All the members of the band are very gracious and appreciative of all the support their loyal fans have shown up to this point.

Although the band thoroughly enjoyed the Vans Tour competition and wouldn't trade the experience for the world, they aren't planning on any competitions in the near future. The band just wants to play anywhere and everywhere and share their music with as many music lovers out there as possible.

When CityofEastvalenews.com asked the band members who they would like to play with either living or dead they said;

Serena Tario Singer 15

I would play at the Rose Bowl in front of Jim Morrison

Aiden Kunhardt drummer 14 playing drums since he was six

I dream of playing at the Forum in front of thousands of people.

Reece Borski bassist 16

I just want to play anywhere and everywhere

Liam Eastwood guitarist 15 Playing guitar since he was 7 years old

I would play in front of Red Hot Chilli Peppers with John Frusciante at the old House of Blues in LA so I could ask for criticism on both my technique and songwriting.

Rock and Roll is alive and well in the Inland Empire and it seems, soon, in many other parts of the country and who knows, maybe the world. ■

Eastvale budget adopted, 6.5 million in reserves mation on the City's methodology and composition of the Police and Fire contract rates with the County of Riverside. The workshop included information on public safety staffing levels, response times, and other related service statistics as well as what resources can be appropriately allocated to accomplish additional public safety initiatives.

The May 23 budget workshop provided in depth discussion on Council goals and priorities; the proposed operational and capital expenditures; and what resources can be appropriately allocated to accomplish these major initiatives.

Since the City of Eastvale's incorporation in 2010, the City has delivered a balanced budget year after year while building healthy reserves. The City of Eastvale is proud to deliver a balanced budget again, with an estimated surplus of $6.5 million-dollars for FY 2017-2018. This surplus comes from $4.3 million in Vehicle License Free Adjustment Amount (VLFAA) and $1.5 million in Sales Tax. Eastvale will also have approximately $35 million in reserves as part of this adopted budget. That kind of reserve is almost unprecedented for an infant City especially with challenges like the end of the “great recession” and losing approximately $19.3M in Vehicle License Fee (VLF) revenue from FY 2011-2017.

The City of Eastvale will continue to strive for excellence in a conservative yet innovative approach to their budget. The City is also very excited to share that they received a Certificate of Achievement for the FY 16/17 Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) from the Government Finance Officers Association. This is the sixth straight year Eastvale has achieved this accomplishment. Eastvale is now beginning our interim audit for FY 17/18, and the City fully intends to make it seven years in a row.
