Fire Safety Tips for California Homeowners

BY CALFIRE

Sacramento – Today's home fires burn faster than ever. In a typical home fire, you may have as little as one to two minutes to escape safely from the time the smoke alarm sounds. Knowing how to use that time takes planning and practice. Although people feel safest in their home, it is also the place people are at greatest risk fire. Over-confidence contributes to a complacency toward home escape planning and practice.

"As we approach Fire Prevention Week, now is the time to take a look around your home and see where your hidden hazards are," said Chief Dennis Mathisen, California State Fire Marshal. "That means go room by room, and really look closely at where you have items placed, stored, and plugged in. We all can do a better job of reducing our risks by being more fire aware and creating a potentially life-saving escape plan and then practicing it."

Smoke alarms are the eyes and ears to alert people to a fire. Smoke alarms can mean the difference between life and death as working smoke alarms cut the risk of dying in a home fire in half. Install smoke alarms in every sleeping room, outside each separate sleeping area, and on every level of the home, including the basement. Take the time to plan an escape route for everyone in the home, designating a "meeting spot" outside. What good is an escape route, if no one remembers it? The answer is simple: practice, practice, practice and make it fun! The more often you practice (day and night), the more comfortable your children will be in escaping, and less likely to hide.

Heating equipment is one of the leading causes of home fires during the winter months. Space heaters are the type of equipment most often involved in home heating equipment fires. All heaters need space. Keep anything that can burn at least three feet away from heating equipment. Have a three-foot "kid-free zone" around open fires and space heaters. Purchase and use only portable space heaters listed by a qualified testing laboratory. Maintain heating equipment and chimneys by having them cleaned on a regular basis.

Remember these three easy things when making your home safe:

- Look for possible fire hazards in your home and eliminate them. Are your outlets overloaded? Check the circuit loads of your electrical appliances and devices and unplug when not in use. Inspect your appliance cords. If any are torn, ripped, or damaged in any way, replace them immediately. If a cord or plug ever feels hot, unplug it.

- Listen for the sound of the smoke alarm. Know that you may have only minutes to get out if a fire starts.

- Learn two ways out of every room. Exits should be easy to access and free of clutter. After leaving the home, go to your family's designated meeting spot that was created when you set up your home fire escape plan.

3 Ways to Simplify Your Holidays

By STATEPOINT

It can be easy to feel overwhelmed by the busyness of the holiday season -- from perfecting your home décor to searching for gifts for everyone on your list to creating a delicious holiday menu.

To help simplify the holidays, Dollar General is offering easy tips, so you can spend more time enjoying the most magical time of the year.

Deck the Halls:

Get festive this season by creating a holiday wonderland in your home. Pick a color theme like red and green or blue and silver -- whatever best fits your taste. Carry the theme throughout your home as you decorate the tree, holiday table, mantle and gifts. Consider adding a wreath to greet guests as soon as they arrive, as well as candles. With varieties like salted caramel and amber spice, those from Dollar General's private brand trueliving will capture the scents of the season. Small touches like a table runner or a floral centerpiece can also make your home feel like the perfect holiday escape during this busy season.

Holiday Meal Prep:

Cooking for a big crew can certainly be stressful. This year, use digital recipes to help you plan for the big event. Holiday sweets are always a favorite, so consider gifting your favorite desserts. If you plan to spend a lot of time prepping for a big holiday party or just a special dinner for your family, don't forget the snacks to tide everyone over as you await the main course. For snacking you can feel great about, consider wholesome choices like roasted almonds or granola with less sugar.

Gift-Giving:

The holidays are the perfect time to gather with friends and loved ones to exchange presents in celebration of the season. If you're worried about finding something affordable for everyone, consider shopping at a discount retailer, like Dollar General. With deals throughout the store on picture frames, books, candles, coffee mugs and more, you can treat everyone on your list without breaking the bank. Plus, they are offering an instant 25 percent savings on any qualifying toy purchase of $75 or more through December 24, 2018. By downloading the store's app, you can access DG Digital coupons. New customers automatically receive a digital coupon for $1 off their first purchase of $1.01 or more.

Don't forget the giftwrap! Get creative with your gift trimmings by choosing a unique theme for each person on your list. With so many wrapping paper, gift bag and ribbon options, you can make every gift as special as the person receiving it.

This season, keep your sights on the essentials. Simplify your shopping by creating a signature theme for home décor, finding deals on gifts for everyone on your list, and baking up something easy and delicious for the whole crew. Plan ahead this year and enjoy the extra time celebrating the season with friends and family. ■

December 1, 1955: Rosa Parks Ignites Bus Boycott

By HISTORY.COM

In Montgomery, Alabama, Rosa Parks is jailed for refusing to give up her seat on a public bus to a white man, a violation of the city's racial segregation laws. The successful Montgomery Bus Boycott, organized by a young Baptist minister named Martin Luther King, Jr., followed Park's historic act of civil disobedience.

"The mother of the civil rights movement," as Rosa Parks is known, was born in Tuskegee, Alabama, in 1913. She worked as a seamstress and in 1943 joined the Montgomery chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

According to a Montgomery city ordinance in 1955, African Americans were required to sit at the back of public buses and were also obligated to give up those seats to white riders if the front of the bus filled up. Parks was in the first row of the black section when the white driver demanded that she give up her seat to a white man. Parks' refusal was spontaneous but was not merely brought on by her tired feet, as is the popular legend. In fact, local civil rights leaders had been planning a challenge to Montgomery's racist bus laws for several months, and Parks had been privy to this discussion.

Learning of Parks' arrest, the NAACP and other African American activists immediately called for a bus boycott to be held by black citizens on Monday, December 5. Word was spread by fliers, and activists formed the Montgomery Improvement Association to organize the protest. The first day of the bus boycott was a great success, and that night the 26-year-old Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., told a large crowd gathered at a church, "The great glory of American democracy is the right to protest for right." King emerged as the leader of the bus boycott and received numerous death threats from opponents of integration. At one point, his home was bombed, but he and his family escaped bodily harm.

The boycott stretched on for more than a year, and participants carpooled or walked miles to work and school when no other means were possible. As African Americans previously constituted 70 percent of the Montgomery bus ridership, the municipal transit system suffered gravely during the boycott. On November 13, 1956, the U.S. Supreme Court struck down Alabama state and Montgomery city bus segregation laws as being in violation of the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. On December 20, King issued the following statement: "The year old protest against city buses is officially called off, and the Negro citizens of Montgomery are urged to return to the buses tomorrow morning on a non-segregated basis." The boycott ended the next day. Rosa Parks was among the first to ride the newly desegregated buses.

Martin Luther King, Jr., and his nonviolent civil rights movement had won its first great victory. There would be many more to come.

Rosa Parks died on October 24, 2005. Three days later the U.S. Senate passed a resolution to honor Parks by allowing her body to lie in honor in the U.S. Capitol Rotunda. ■

Lost in New York City

BY MARK HOPPER

Recently, my wife and I had the opportunity to travel to New York City. I had been there 30 years ago on a trip with my father and my wife had been there about 20 years ago with two girl friends. But, we had never been in New York City together.

We had a great time seeing the sights and enjoying things together. We stayed at a small hotel near Times Square. It was fun to see the huge billboards illuminated at night and amazing to see the large crowds of people filling the area.

We went to see two Broadway shows while we were in New York. We were able to walk from our hotel to the theaters. We saw the Carol King musical “Beautiful” and the Disney musical “Aladan”. We really enjoyed both of them.

We rode the “Hop on - Hop off” bus tour around the city. This enabled us to get off at some specific locations we wanted to see. The tour also allowed us to hear a lot about the history and highlights of Manhattan. We went to the top of the Empire State Building and we also visited the “9-11 Memorial”. We actually saw the name of James Hopper listed as one of those who was died when the Twin Towers collapsed. We don’t know who this was but the name caught our attention.

There is so much more we could have done and seen, but we really enjoyed our short visit to

New York City. However, we did get lost a few times as we walked through different parts of town. We had to stop and ask for help several times trying to navigate our way around the city. People were very helpful.

One night before we went to a Broadway show, we went to a nice restaurant near the theater. My wife’s cousin lives in Long Island and she was able to drive into the city and join us for dinner and the show. The restaurant was packed. Thankfully, we had reservations and were seated right away. The food was great and we were glad to spend time with her cousin. After dinner, we walked right across the street to the theater.

After the show, we went back to the restaurant to pick up our “left overs” that they kept in their frig for us. We walked her cousin back to her car and then walked through Times Square back to our hotel.

The next day after our the tour of Manhattan and decided to try to get last minute tickets to another Broadway show. We stood in line at the box office and were glad that there were tickets for a show that night. However, when I went to pay for our purchase, I discovered that my Visa credit card was missing! Where was my credit card? It was lost in New York!

I shared in my last article that my wife and I enjoyed a memorable trip to New York City. We went to the top of the Empire State Building and visited the 9-11 Memorial. We also enjoyed two Broadway shows. But, my credit card got lost! I had all my other cards, but the Visa card was gone.

We were able to purchase the theater tickets with another credit card, but now the search began. Where was my credit card? We had made several purchases during the day but most of those were with cash. We tried to think back to where we had been during the past 24 hours. Should we call the credit card company and report the lost card? What should we do? Where could it be? It was lost in New York!

I knew that one place I had used the credit card was at dinner last night before the show. I called the restaurant to see if I had left it there. They took my name and information and said they would call back if they found anything. It was clear that they were very busy. I decided to walk from our hotel to the restaurant to talk with someone personally. One of the employees said this happens a lot and she went to check in the office to see if my card was there.

I held my breath and said a short prayer hoping that had my credit card. After several minutes, the employee came back with my credit card in hand! She asked for my ID to make sure I really was the owner and then gave the card back to me. I must have left the card on our table when I was signing for the check and packing up our left over food as we were leaving for the show.

Attitude is Everything

BY NANCY STOOPS

Do you see a half filled glass as half empty or as half full? Do you tend to see what’s wrong with your life or do you focus on what is right with your life? Would you consider yourself a negative person or a positive person? Do you wake up everyday being happy do be alive and hopeful about a new day or do you dread getting up?

The way that you have answered the above questions is probably also the way that you live your life and the way you view your life. I believe having a positive attitude is foundational in being a successful human being. Being positive, is essential to everything good that comes with this life. I think it all starts by being positive about who you are and about behaving in a manner that makes you proud of whom you are. Generally, if you like who you are and are a good person, people will like you as well. Also, if you like who you are, you will want only the best for yourself. This will cause you to go to college; get a good job, find a good mate and believe that you can make your dreams comes true.

On the other hand, being negative only prevents you from following your dreams. Being negative also causes a lot of self doubt and really gets in the way of accomplishments. Learn to look at the good in your life and at what you have done right so far. Learn from your mistakes but don’t focus on them, otherwise your life will feel like one big mistake. Look at all that you already have going right for you and learn to build on the positive and if you do, more positive will come to you!!!!

DB sister church breaks ground to begin building a church and worship center.

Founded in 2008, VantagePoint Church has grown from a handful of families to become the largest church in Eastvale, currently averaging over 1800 men women and children in 4 services each Sunday. For nine of those years, they've been a portable church, meeting at Roosevelt High School. It has always been the church's dream to build a permanent home in Eastvale to better serve their surrounding communities.

Earlier this month, VantagePoint Church's dream took one step closer to fulfillment as they celebrated their official groundbreaking at their new church home, 8500 Archibald Ave, Eastvale, CA 92880.

Over 2000 people gathered on the 10 acre property to dedicate the land to God and to the vision He has for their property. Gathered with the people of VantagePoint Church were several members of the Eastvale City Council, including Mayor Clint Lorimore and Mayor Pro Tem Todd Rigby.

Construction of the church facility has begun and will continue through October of 2019, when the new campus of VantagePoint Church Eastvale will open its doors to the community. The campus will initially consist of a state of the art 650 seat auditorium, children's buildings, and community spaces. Eventually, the church's master plan calls for a larger 1250 seat auditorium, a splash pad, cafe, and community meeting spaces.

Until construction is finished, VantagePoint Church continues to meet at Eleanor Roosevelt High School in Eastvale on Sundays at 8:30am, 10am, 11:30am, and 6pm. Visit their website at: www.vantagepointchurch.org. ■

"This new style of teaching is giving me the ability to check for understanding more frequently than ever before," the teacher said.

"I've definitely noticed that engagement increases." In total, four pilot classrooms at South Pointe are providing 21st century learning environments.

Science teacher Kellie Muragishi now displays laboratory procedures along with examples of scientific phenomena using a projector and multiple viewing screens.

"I love the fact that all of my students have equal access to the information I am presenting," she shared on Wednesday.

There is no front or back of the class in any of these new innovative learning spaces.

"No matter where a child sits, they have a clear view of demonstrations, lecture notes, and homework problems," Muragishi added.

The flexible seating and table configurations also allow students to move around and work collaboratively according to the needs of each lab activity.

"We're getting to learn in an environment that is not just looking through the textbook," commented 8th grader Dana Yang.

"It's easy to hear instructions and we don't waste time having Ms. Muragishi repeat things over and over again."

Muragishi says the teacher microphone has become a "lifesaver."

"I thought I had a loud voice, but now my voice is not strained at the end of the day!" ■

Sell your casa with Gil Rivera

you'll only pay $20,000 for both realtors to split. That's a savings of $10,000!!

Rivera's Sellers love the fact that he offers a discounted commission, but with full service. Rivera's offer of 4% Total Commission for Sellers includes 2.5% to the Buyer's Agent and 1.5% to Rivera's office. Most Realtors negotiate a 6% commission because they have to split the fees with their brokerage. But, as Rivera is the Broker, he passes on the savings to the Seller. This will save Sellers thousands of dollars in commission fees. His team offers full service for that discounted rate including high quality flyers, professional photos, open houses (as allowable by Seller), and extended advertising coverage on the Internet and social media.

Now, more about what you're getting from Gil Rivera at SellYourCasa.com: It's important to know all aspects of your business. For Gil Rivera from SellYourCasa.com, he absolutely knows every aspect of buying and selling a home. He is a reliable, experienced, and an affordable Realtor, Broker, and Certified Appraiser.

Rivera sells houses, condos, and two to four unit investment properties in Riverside, San Bernardino, Los Angeles, and Orange counties. He just recently sold another home in Eastvale last month. He also does real estate appraisals for banks, estates, trusts, divorces, attorneys, refinances, home purchases, and probate/inheritance for tax purposes. In addition, Rivera has assistants that work with him who are fluent in Spanish and Chinese, helping to reach people of different dialects all over Southern California.

Rivera's philosophy is to "treat my clients the way I want to be treated." In fact, Rivera said that he became a Realtor because he did not like the way his Realtor treated him when he was buying his home. Rivera shows respect for his clients at all times. He listens to what they say, so that he can better serve them.

Rivera also does not push his

Buyers into a sale. Rivera said, "I always tell Buyers: 'You will know right away when we walk into the house that's meant for you'. Whether it takes a week or months, my Buyers will always be satisfied with their purchase and never pressured into it."

Rivera's current promotion is, "We will SELL your house in four weeks at highest value! We only request a listing period of four weeks, while most other Realtors ask for a six month listing." Rivera says that "Buyers need to know that they do not need to pay their Realtor any fees for representing them on a purchase. The Buyer's agent is paid by the Seller, not the Buyer.

Check out Rivera's website at www.SellYourCasa.com to see how many different cities Rivera has sold in and for additional information about his company. You can also call the toll free number at (877) 888-SOLD (7653), or cell phone number (909) 967-4525.
