Sell Your Casa: Gil Rivera

Rivera's Sellers love the fact that he offers a discounted commission, but with full service. Rivera's offer of 4% Total Commission for Sellers includes 2.5% to the Buyer's Agent and 1.5% to Rivera's office. Most Realtors negotiate a 6% commission because they have to split the fees with their brokerage. But, as Rivera is the Broker, he passes on the savings to the Seller. This will save Sellers thousands of dollars in commission fees. His team offers full service for that discounted rate including high quality flyers, professional photos, open houses (as allowable by Seller), and extended advertising coverage on the Internet and social media.

Now, more about what you're getting from Gil Rivera at SellYourCasa.com: It's important to know all aspects of your business. For Gil Rivera from SellYourCasa.com, he absolutely knows every aspect of buying and selling a home. He is a reliable, experienced, and an affordable Realtor, Broker, and Certified Appraiser.

Rivera sells houses, condos, and two to four unit investment properties in Riverside, San Bernardino, Los Angeles, and Orange counties. He just recently sold another home in Eastvale last month. He also does real estate appraisals for banks, estates, trusts, divorces, attorneys, refinances, home purchases, and probate/inheritance for tax purposes. In addition, Rivera has assistants that work with him who are fluent in Spanish and Chinese, helping to reach people of different dialects all over Southern California.

Rivera's philosophy is to "treat my clients the way I want to be treated." In fact, Rivera said that he became a Realtor because he did not like the way his Realtor treated him when he was buying his home. Rivera shows respect for his clients at all times. He listens to what they say, so that he can better serve them.

Rivera also does not push his Buyers into a sale. Rivera said, "I always tell Buyers: 'You will know right away when we walk into the house that's meant for you'. Whether it takes a week or months, my Buyers will always be satisfied with their purchase and never pressured into it."

Rivera's current promotion is, "We will SELL your house in four weeks at highest value! We only request a listing period of four weeks, while most other Realtors ask for a six month listing." Rivera says that "Buyers need to know that they do not need to pay their Realtor any fees for representing them on a purchase. The Buyer's agent is paid by the Seller, not the Buyer.

Check out Rivera's website at www.SellYourCasa.com to see how many different cities Rivera has sold in and for additional information about his company. You can also call the toll free number at (877) 888-SOLD (7653), or cell phone number (909) 967-4525. He also currently has large freeway billboard signs throughout the San Gabriel Valley and Inland Empire. Call today for a free market evaluation. ■

Walnut Elementary fifth grader Alicia Clark was spotlighted with the Super Star Student Award. Alicia is an outstanding student who always has a positive attitude in everything that she tackles. She displays great enthusiasm toward learning and academics, and gives 100% effort in class projects, assignments, and tests. She is involved in singing, dancing, and acting, and her creative talents have earned an award for a short film in China. She also displays exemplary leadership qualities while guiding and teaching her peers how to sing and dance. Additionally, Alicia is one of the few students on campus who is helping choreograph the upcoming Lunar New Year Celebration.

Parent Stella Hess received the Partner in Education Award for her dedicated work as Community Club vice president and schoolwide volunteer. Six years ago, Stella started out as a classroom helper and quickly found herself "addicted" to volunteering, according to Principal Robert Chang. "She soon was in the Library, carting around our STAR prize store, revamping the whole STAR Store system, heading the library volunteers, cheering at the track meet, reading aloud to our Genius Hour Story Time and Sketch class, chaperoning field trips, and organizing book fairs," he said. Stella thinks with her heart and makes sure everyone on campus feels welcomed, loved, appreciated, and noticed. She is truly a cheerleader for educating the whole child by making the school a better, happier, safer, and more fun place to learn and grow.

Suzanne Middle School parents Betsy Castellanos and Sonal Choksey were honored with Partner in Education Awards. "They are not only phenomenal volunteers, but also help build stronger school and family relationships," said Principal Dr. Amy Smith. They have helped raise over $175K as Community Club Booster Fundraiser co-chairs for the past two years. During efforts, and striving to make those around him successful. Teachers describe Calvin as being "hardworking, a good citizen, respectful, and caring." Most recently, the talented pianist and violinist was recognized during the Challenger Breakfast while volunteering at the event. Calvin also strives to make the world a better place through his efforts for disaster relief organizations, Breast Cancer Week, Toys for Boys, and tutoring. He is amazing!

Pastor's Corner: Meet the President

BY MARK HOPPER

Recently my wife and I were traveling to Texas to meet some friends in San Antonio. Our flight on Southwest airlines took us to Dallas first and then we waited at Love Field for our short flight to San Antonio. After we found our departure gate we noticed a familiar looking person in the waiting area. I had just seen his picture in the Southwest Airline magazine on our last flight. It was Gary Kelly – the president of Southwest. He was going on the same flight we were to San Antonio.

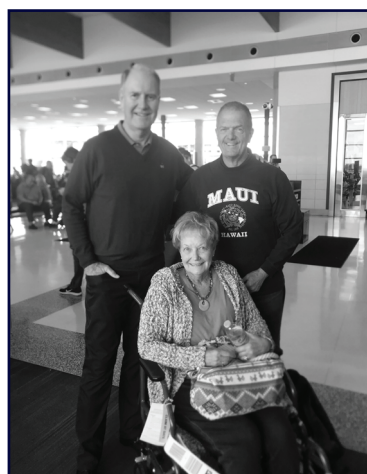

I wasn't sure it was him until I introduced myself and my wife and asked if he really was Gary Kelly. He greeted us warmly and assured us he was the guy in the magazine and he was glad to take a picture with us. I told him we loved Southwest Airlines and we had been flying Southwest since the time it began in Dallas when I was a graduate student in Dallas in 1971. I enjoyed our brief conversation and told him how much we appreciated the way Southwest has personally helped us on several occasions. I told him we had recently flown on one of the new Southwest flights to Hawaii a few months ago.

He was very gracious and gave the credit to the airlines' helpful employees. As we prepared to board our flight I noticed Gary and his wife were in line with all the other passengers. He did not request or expect special or preferential treatment. I suspect most of the passengers on our flight had no idea that the president of the airline was flying with us.

I have enjoyed reading many of Gary's articles in the Southwest magazine. Many times he has stressed Southwest's philosophy of customer service. I am confident he models being a servant leader and putting the needs of others ahead of his own. There is a verse in the Bible that says, "Jesus did not come to be served but to serve others and give his life for us" (Mark 10:45). Let me encourage you to watch for opportunities to serve people around you – in your company, your community and on your school campus. They will be glad you did and you will too.

Autism Mom: Ice Cream

BY MELODY KRAEMER

"Don't let your ice cream melt by looking at someone else's sprinkles" Wow, isn't that the truth?

When I heard this the other day, it was so accurate. I am not sure there's even a better way to describe not to be envious or jealous of someone's blessings (sprinkles).

I used to let my ice cream melt by counting other people's "sprinkles."

Having two boys on the spectrum, it isn't easy and adjusting to the autism world was something that wasn't in my plans for my life. I started to get envious of people conversing with their children. I use to wish that my child could talk with me and hold a conversation.

I would see people playing with their children and think if I could only do that with my child. I would see a group of kids playing, and get teary-eyed and think I wish my child could play with other kids like that.

I spent a lot of time counting the sprinkles of others, but in the meantime, my ice cream was melting.

One day I decided to look at the heavens above and prayed about it all. The answer came back to count my sprinkles and quit letting my ice cream melt!

My boys are loving, kind, happy, and they may not be able to do all the things out there, but it's ok. They are uniquely made and have amazing qualities.

My sprinkles, my blessing from above, is precisely that, Blessings! In no way would I ever let my ice cream melt again by counting someone else's sprinkles because I've got plenty of sprinkles on my ice cream.

"Sometimes you have to let go of the picture of what you thought life would be like and learn to find joy in the story you are actually living." Quote By: Rachel Marie Martin

"Who Else Wants Wellness That Lasts at Lifetime?"

Dear Neighbor,

I remember when I felt anxious, lost, pulled in a million directions, like I had nothing to offer the world, and just plain depressed.

It's those very feelings that take us away from who we're supposed to be, and it's those feelings that keep us from reaching our full potential for the benefit of our family, friends, and the world as a whole.

The good news is that the answer turned out to be very simple and straight forward. But it's not for everyone, here's who I can help:

If you're someone who can trust the process, if you strive to find an authentic balance in order to live your best life, if you can stay open to new ideas, and if you are ready to finally become who you're intended to be, then I invite you to subscribe to my Daily Wellness Message.

Shining with Kindness

KELLI GILE

Walnut, CA—Westhoff Elementary launched its Great Kindness Challenge with a “Wheel of Fortune” game show on January 24 starring grade level teams competing to solve word puzzles in three categories: Great Kindness Challenge, Shine, and Rock Garden.

Counselor Erica Robledo performed as television host Pat Sajak during the interactive digital contest assisted by Student Council co-hosts and Elementary Learning Specialist Therapi Kaplan flipping letters in true Vanna White style.

Players took turns spinning the wheel and guessing letters of familiar phrases including Westhoff Shines, Smile at Others, The Golden Rule, Make A New Friend, Give a Compliment, Do Your Best, and more.

The kindness week kickoff also featured the unveiling of the new Westhoff Shines garden.

Six hundred rocks were painted bright yellow and then decorated by students and staff with powerful messages and affirmations aimed at inspiring kindness.

“We’re hoping the impact of this massive kindness movement will create a positive change throughout the school culture,” Robledo said.

“This will help decrease bullying and make kindness shine at Westhoff Elementary!”

Daily activities included students wearing nametags to encourage greeting each other by name, schoolwide Bingo, arts and crafts, and mindfulness exercises promoting the “Shining with Kindness” motto.

On Thursday, students dressed in sunny colors and classes joined a kindness garden walkthrough taking a moment to read messages written on the rocks like “You are loved” and “Be the light when others are in the dark”.

On January 31, the final day of the challenge, youngsters journaled feelings about kindness, including how they felt about giving and receiving gifts of thoughtfulness.

Fifth grader Sienna Duong successfully completed a personal goal of smiling at 25 schoolmates during the challenge.

“I liked that we set aside a week that was all about kindness – it was really fun!”

“When I look at the rock garden it makes me feel happy inside because of all the kind messages everyone wrote,” added second grader Jolyn Yu.

Teachers and staff members were also observed performing random acts of kindness by inviting students into their classes, making conversations with youngsters sitting alone at lunch, and pulling together to help alleviate the burden of a sick team member.

“This week, Westhoff Elementary took on the Great Kindness Challenge to inspire others, never give up, encourage teamwork, and shine!” said Interim Principal Denise Ren-

Protect Your Citrus

If you have orange, lemon or other citrus trees growing in your backyard, the California Department of Food and Agriculture (CDFA) urges you to continue to be on the lookout for symptoms of the incurable Huanglongbing, also known as HLB or citrus greening disease.

While not harmful to humans, HLB kills citrus trees and has no cure; it is spread by a pest called the Asian citrus psyllid as it feeds on citrus tree leaves and stems. Diseased trees need to be removed in order to protect other citrus trees on the property, neighbors' trees and the community's citrus.

To stop this pest and disease from spreading, the CDFA has specialists in the field surveying residential properties, treating citrus trees and removing infected plants. It also asks that residents regularly inspect the citrus trees on their properties and call the free hotline 800.491.1899 to report potential signs of the disease. Other actions to protect the community's citrus trees include the following:

- Visit your local nursery or garden center to get advice on products that can help protect your citrus tree.
- Do not move citrus plants, foliage or fruit into or out of your area, and especially across state or international borders. This could unknowingly contribute to spread of the pest and disease.
- When planting a new citrus tree, be sure to get your tree from a reputable, licensed nursery in your local area.
- Be sure to dry out citrus tree clippings or double bag them before removing the plant material from the property.

The first detection of HLB in California was in Hacienda Heights in 2012. In 2015, multiple incidences of the disease were found in San Gabriel. A total of 27 diseased citrus trees have been detected and removed, all within Los Angeles County.
