Eastvale - A homeless encampment has developed in Eastvale, on the south west side of Limonite and the 15 freeway on ramp, and residents are wondering who's responsible for the area.

"The jurisdiction of the camp falls under Caltrans," said Marc Donohue, Communications Director at the city of Eastvale. "Caltrans would be the ones to clear the area," he added.

The question remains bleak for Eastvale residents who have complained about the encampment. "It's unlikely that this would happen under the Governors current order of a moratorium with regards to moving homeless," Donohue added. Caltrans seems to agree, but Caltrans cites COVID-19 as their reason.

Upon contacting Caltrans they agreed, the encampment falls into their jurisdiction.

"Caltrans takes the health and safety of its employees very seriously and is monitoring and

The site was a former lumber yard in Claremont, California. The sign out front read simply, "The Air Museum." There was no need to be more specific. At the time, no other air museums existed west of the Mississippi River.

Mayor's Message

My heart and thoughts have been weighing heavy on the current civil unrest we are facing. Almost a month ago, I was able to attend the first peaceful protest in Eastvale. I was able to spend about 2 1/2 hours with protesters and visualize the pain and anguish that people of color are going through, particularly our youth. Later that night, as the protest finished and the deputies were being debriefed, I was able to talk with and show my appreciation to our deputies. They worked countless hours in hopes to keep the peace as they were immediately called to another City due to rioters and looters. This bilateral experience gave me a unique perspective. There were an abundance of good people that I met and saw that night, whether it be a protester or a deputy, but there is an ample amount of pain as well. There were two distinct sides; a clear division of good people. The only simplistic thought that was in my head was that we need to come together, but how? I feel that the issues are large in magnitude and that our positive impacts can feel so minuscule and finite. Then it hit me, rather than trying to change the Nation of this civil unrest, we can have a greater impact if we focus our efforts as a City. We can make greater progress on ourselves and be a beacon for others to view as a positive example for change. The City of Eastvale is one of the most diverse cities in California. As Residents we take great pride in that statement. However, this does not exempt us from the need to elevate our understanding for one another, to enhance connectivity, or to simply love each other. Allow me to explain; for too long we have allowed others to tell our own narrative, whether it be through various types of social media outlets, daily broadcasting news, political parties, etc. Rather, we need to take control of our own individual narrative. We need to tell and share our own stories and be WILLING to listen to other stories. For instance, I don't know what it's like to be Black, to be a Muslim or a Sikh, a first generation immigrant, or someone who chose their career in Law Enforcement or Fire. But I'm WILLING to take the time to listen, to understand and to grow an appreciation for backgrounds. The best way to share stories is with each other as individuals, through human interaction! My hope is that we get to know our neighbors that have different backgrounds. In our City we have an advantage to accomplish that task, all you have to do is step outside and more than likely your neighbors are quite different than you are. That's the beauty of where we live. But do you truly seize that opportunity to have a better understanding for one another? Or on the flipside, are you willing to share your story? There can be a widespread of misunderstandings when actual human dialogue does not occur. To some people the Black Lives Matter movement sounds somewhat militant which in lieu brings fear. For others, the Blue Lives Flag can have a feeling of social injustice. Neither of those narratives aforementioned are accurate collectively (to clarify I believe there are social injustices that exists in our Country, but the intent of the Blue Lives Flag is not one of those reasons). You can no longer simply allow someone or a group to control your narrative. We need to seek to learn, listen, share and most importantly LOVE. I want to challenge ALL RESIDENTS in Eastvale to get to know one another. Take one step out of your comfort zone and talk to somebody who is different from you. In doing this, there will be benefits to being more cultured and having a greater understanding for humanity. Let's take advantage of what it truly means to be diverse, let's learn from one another!

Planes of Fame Air Museum

Ed continued to grow the Museum, acquiring new aircraft, aviation artifacts, and memorabilia. By 1962, the Claremont facility had run out of space. At this same time, a new idea began to take shape – why not restore some aircraft to flight? To achieve this would require an airport-based location.

In June 1963, the Air Museum relocated to Ontario Airport in Ontario, California. Occupying two hangars, the Museum now had a home large enough to display the collection and room to conduct restoration work.

A few years later, in 1970, a unique opportunity surfaced. The non-flying, static aircraft moved to Buena Park, California to become part of the “Movie World: Cars of the Stars and Planes of Fame Museum.” Housed in two large buildings on Orangethorpe Avenue, the Southern California attraction remained open until 1973.

With the closure of Movie World, the next chapter in the Museum’s history saw yet another relocation. The Chino Airport, located on the border of the cities of Chino and Ontario, California, was an ideal location for the display of the ever-expanding collection, provided room for the important restoration work, and offered plenty of airspace for flying demonstrations.

Another significant change occurred with the opening in 1974 of the Chino facility. The Museum was given a new name. Combining the current “The Air Museum” with the “Planes of Fame” moniker, the Museum hereafter would be known as the “Planes of Fame Air Museum.”

Over the next forty-plus years, the Museum would continue to flourish. New additions to the collection continued. Restoration work put several rare and unique aircraft back into the sky, including the Mitsubishi A6M5 Zero, the Boeing P-26 Peashooter, and the Northrop N9MB Flying Wing. The annual Airshow commenced, thrilling the public with the sights and sounds of bygone eras. Film and television work, and several air racing victories by staff and volunteers brought added notoriety to the Museum.

Chino remains the base of operations for the Museum. Seven hangars house the collection with several additional buildings including the Aviation Discovery Center, the Research Library, the Model Room, and a small theater. Altogether, including structures and outside tarmac displays, the Chino location comprises a 14-acre campus. The collection now numbers close to 160 aircraft, and nearly a quarter of these fly regularly.

With our mission to guide us, and Ed’s vision to lead the way, the Museum flies on into a very bright future.

Planes of Fame Air Museum is located at 14998 Cal Aero Dr, Chino, CA 91710-9056 and can be reached at (909) 597-3722. They are open Wednesday through Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Visit planesoffame.org for more information and history.

their newly remodeled home; and their egg-processing machine can handle about 36,000 eggs per hour at its peak. If the average bird lays one egg about every 26 hours, that equals a lot of chickens at the Voortman ranch!

Did you know that you can tell how fresh an egg is by how high the yolk stands up in the frying pan after you crack it? Voortman’s will have your over-easies standing tall. Their fresh eggs are the highest in quality, with dark, nutrient-dense yolks. You will immediately notice a difference in your cooking and baking.

Have you ever wondered how long the eggs in the grocery stores have actually been sitting around? Despite the use-by date, there is really no way to know how long ago they were produced. With Voortman’s, the eggs are selected daily, on site, and readied for you in their store.

Third-generation egg rancher, Eddie Voortman, says, “We are a local, family-owned business that provides fresh, quality products to the public.”

Customers of Voortman’s rave about their all natural, cage free eggs, touting the freshness, and great pricing. One customer said, “They make the fluffiest scrambled eggs!”

The eggs come in all sizes and colors, depending on your needs. Whatever you choose, you will not be disappointed.

INCIDENT: Assault with a Deadly Weapon
INCIDENT DATE: June 1, 2020

WHERE: 13000 65th St. (Harada Heritage Park) Eastvale

Within the past couple of days, a video depicting a violent physical altercation at the Harada Heritage Park in Eastvale began circulating on social media. The video clearly depicts numerous male and female adults engaged in a physical altercation, which ended up in a shooting with one person shot suffering a non-life-threatening injury. At the time of the initial investigation, it was believed the shooting was possibly gang related; however, no suspects were initially arrested or identified.

The deputy assigned to the parks within the city of Eastvale was made aware of the video. In an effort to establish the identity of the victims, potential witnesses and suspects deputies assigned to the Jurupa Valley Special Enforcement Team (SET) in conjunction with the parks deputy immediately assumed the investigation. The suspect was later positively identified as 18-year old Alprentice Caleb Young, resident of Eastvale.

On June 17, 2020, about 1700 hours, SET deputies observed Young traveling westbound on 65th St. near Sumner Ave. A felony vehicle stop was conducted. Young was contacted and was in possession of a loaded firearm.

Overnight search warrants were executed in the 13500 block of Gray Hawk Ct. and the 6500 block of Acey St, in Eastvale. Multiple items of evidence related to the shooting, including a firearm were seized. Efforts to locate additional suspect as well as other persons of interest in this investigation are ongoing. Young was booked into Robert Presley Detention Center for assault with a deadly weapon and possession of a loaded firearm.

Anyone with information pertaining to this investigation is encouraged to contact Deputy Parham (951) 955-2600.

Father's Day Essay Contest Winners ~ June 2020

MAYA (17)

Dad, you are very special
You mean so much to me
There aren't many Dad's like you
Who give so selflessly and teach resilience
When life has turned my world completely inside out
You are always there to lean on
This world has many heroes, You'd know most by name, It's apparent they gave their personal best,
And they deserve the fame
But, among all of the heroes this world has ever had,
There is not one that I admire more than my precious, Dad
He's more than just a hero, he never looks for praise,
He's heroic in his in his quiet strength and in his various caring ways
He may not be famous as those you hear about or see,
But he's so much more than a hero ought to be Whenever things go wrong
And I don't understand
I know that you will be there to lend a helping hand
The years have brought so many memories and adventures

For those have helped me grow
Your guidance and empathy is what made me who I am

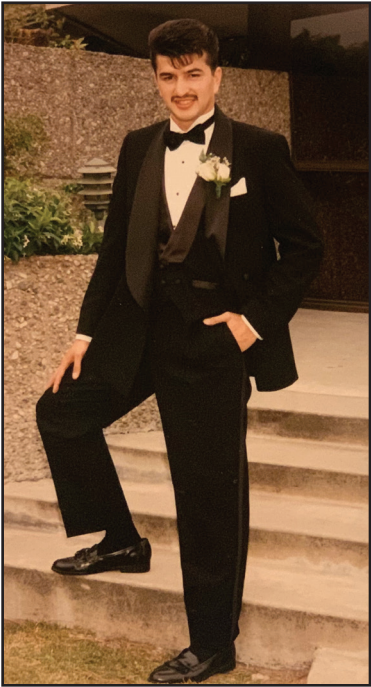

There's not another dad who can ever take your place
He keeps his word, its good as gold, on this you can depend He's honest and loyal just to name a few,
Compassionate, Kind, Supportive, and Adventurous
I'm proud to call him my father
When I hear about a hero and the special things they have done,
It reminds me of my Dad for he is the COOLEST one out there!

Honorable Mention

RITA (23)

Hi Dad , Happy Father's Day.
There are not enough words in the world to describe you and how great you are , but here are a few words that remind me of you.
F - Funny and Faithful to your family and God
A - Awesome to Sophia , mom , and I
T - Thinker ; you are very smart and remember everything
H - Holy ; you are dedicated to God
E - Early Bird ; you always wake up early ready for work with no excuses or sick days
R - Rock is cookin ; Rock to our family
Those are just a few words that describe you dad. I'm so thankful and blessed to have a dad like you. Thank you for always being there for Sophia , mom , and I.

God bless you dad , and may god give you health , happiness, and fish to catch when fishing.
Love you dada.

ALICE (37)

I truly appreciate that my dad always emphasized how he values me more than things. When I lost his favorite camera, after promising to take good care of it, and was sobbing as a high school freshman into the phone... I remember my dad asking if I can see my hands, then he asked me to focus on my pinkie. He told me my little pinkie finger was more valuable to him than that camera. He told me that items can be bought, but my well-being can not and that THAT was more important. Even years later, when I was in college, and crashed his car, I still remember my dad touching my pinkie and telling me that he was just happy that I was alive and unharmed.

I really appreciate how my dad loves me unconditionally. Even when I ran away from home and disobeyed all his house rules. He wanted to toss me out of the house in my rebellious years, but he never did. He tried hard to understand the filter of life that I was experiencing and compromised with me where he could. Even when I rejected his love back then, called him "uncool" and even yelled that I hated him (to his face), he didn't cease to stop loving me.

I don't think I truly realized all he did for me until I had my own child. Parenting isn't easy and it was then that I began to realize how much my dad did for me. He worked hard to provide for me. Loved me even in my worst moments. Now that I'm a parent myself, I understand now how his worry and love for me had resulted in how he reacted to my early years. I realized how lacking my parenting skills are in comparison to my dad's awesomeness. It was then I realized how cool he truly was... My dad is a cool dad indeed.

ADDISON (8) AND KAITLYN (6)

Our dad is the coolest because he is the best snowboarder we have ever seen. He is always so determined, and he fought for his life. He had a brain bleed in 2019 and fought so hard to stay alive. He is also a great fireman. He has saved many lives.
Our dad is hilarious and he always plays pranks on us. He always plays with us. My dad is always there for us when we really need him. He cuddles with us, laughs with us, and always loves us.

My dad once in a while he gives us wheel barrow rides. We have so much fun! Also he loves gardening. Every spring we plant a big garden. On special occasions my dad makes chicken piccata. It is our favorite food.
Another thing that makes our dad cool is because he loves to surf. My dad is a great surfer. Something that makes my dad special is he loves to go on bike rides. When my dad is home we always go on bike rides. My dad loves going to the beach. In the summertime we always go. When my dad was 14 years old he started playing water polo.

These are the reasons why our dad is the coolest.

wing flavors, beer on tap, a Pepsi Spire machine and a variety of sides. The Grand Opening date has not been announced yet.

On June 30, the city announced the success of the Automated License Plate Read (ALPR) systems that were installed last year. “ALPR systems are high-speed, computer-controlled cameras that automatically capture vehicles’ license plate information, compare the plate number to one or more databases available to law enforcement personnel, and send alerts when a vehicle of interest has been observed,” stated the City.

The City installed 30 fixed ALPR systems (located on entry and exit points of the city) that have “scanned over 32 million license plates, with approximately 14 thousand successful alerts. The mobile ALPR systems, installed on law enforcement vehicles servicing Eastvale, have scanned over 450 thousand license plates, with approximately 260 successful alerts. These combined alerts have led to the recovery of 43 stolen vehicles and 13 arrests for charges including the possession of a stolen vehicle. The data retrieved from these ALPR systems have also been used as evidence to assist in a large number of investigations that led to numerous arrests,” stated the City. See page 10 for more information.

On June 24 at the City Council Meeting, the City of Eastvale introduced our new CalFire Battalion Chief, Josh Janssen. “Chief Janssen served as the Riverside Training & Safety Chief in 2015, where he was responsible for overseeing the Unit’s Training & Safety Programs,” according to the City. “In 2017 he transferred to the BDU Training Chief position where he served for two years. He then transferred to the City of Highland Battalion Chief position for the remainder of his service before joining our community.”

On June 16 at the City Council Meeting, the City of Eastvale introduced our new Police Chief, Lieutenant Marc Boydd and our new Accounting Manager, Luis Hernandez.

On June 11, the City of Eastvale shared that the City will be updating their City’s General Plan. This plan “articulates the community vision and strategy through a series of eight required ‘elements’ or chapters which include: Land use, Circulation, Housing, Conservation, Open Space, Noise, Environmental Justice, and Safety,” according to the City. Visit engage.eastvaleca.gov to see the Eastvale 2040 “shorts” that discuss these elements.

Our Life: Eye of the Beholder

MICHAEL ARMIJO

It was a warm yet windy day filled with strong sorrow. The air reflected a deep sense of respect as people gathered to say goodbye to a friend whose spirit had left the earth.

As everyone gathered, the vibrant, wooden casket lay atop the ground as the family huddled closely around. The youngest, a young man, gazed at the casket while tears flowed from his swollen eyes. He walked up and laid his cheek on the rigid, shiny, wooden box, as his white-gloved hands gently caressed the top of the last home his father’s body would ever have. He laid gentle kisses on the top of the casket, as his unconditional love was reflected in front of all those who watched. A gentle whisper was heard a row back, “Did you see that? How sad.”

When I heard those words, I felt something deep inside that disagreed; something that didn’t see the message of sadness when the boy showed his emotions. Instead, I saw an act of love. A love so strong, it displayed the true meaning of unconditional love. Something deep inside that didn’t care if the world looked on or what people felt. A feeling of purity, of joy, and of strength.

I believe the old saying, “Beauty is in the eye of the beholder.” I believe we all see life in certain light, and sometimes, in certain darkness. I also believe that when we express the darkness which surrounds our lives, it spreads like a contagious and cancerous disease. It attaches by simple contact, clings like a dependent child, and deteriorates in a short amount of time.

I’ve learned that opinions are only perceptions of a person’s immediate thinking, and reflections of someone’s inner self. What we see is usually what we feel, what we feel deep inside. Without realizing it, we express past experiences, deep histories, insecurities about our future, and we reflect the perception of our own lives.

I also believe that when we see life in its darkest hour, we have the opportunity to see life through the brightest light. For some, it’s a short path traveled to a place inside that holds our mind hostage from our heart. For others, it’s a level of confidence that sits deep within that’s been damaged by a careless act from another.

I believe that the true meaning of life can only be understood through the light of beauty and the inner joy that sits deep in our hearts. I believe the vision of what will come can only be seen through the eyes of a believer. I feel the truest form of emotion can only be felt when a person can feel the presence of a higher power, a stronger entity, something or someone greater than themselves.

I understand that life is not always what it is expected to be. It changes moods like a spoiled child. But I also understand that life can be what we want it to be; all we have to do is apply our hearts in front of our minds. Following what we truly feel, not what we think we see, is the only way to put aside our petty angry thoughts and our insignificant bitterness. Because just as the young man who helped bury his father, the tears that flow from our swollen eyes are tears of love that can only be seen when beauty is in the eye of the beholder.

Autism Mom: Patience!

MELODY KRAEMER

“Be completely humble and gentle; be patient, bearing with one another in love”

~ Ephesians 4:2 | NIV

Someone once told me that they don’t pray to God for patience because if you ask God for more patience, he will give you more things to be patient about in the day.

With my two boys, I sure don’t need that.

So how do I ask God to get me through the day? I pray for peace and calmness within myself. My (autistic) boys will jump, climb and put anything they find in their mouths. They will lick windows, pick up bugs, once my son put a bee in his mouth!

Some days I feel like I’m a jumping bean watching after them. I find myself looking up to the heavens many times and saying, “I’m losing it here, help.” Usually, by noon, I am so drained, all my patience is gone. Though I know God heard my prayer because at that moment, my oldest boy will come up to me, put his arms around me and say, “Mom, I think you need a hug”. Or my little one who is not much on words will crawl up in my lap and put his head down on me, just at that moment when I feel I no longer have the patience to deal with life. I may get pushed over my limit on patience throughout the day, but I know God is there, putting calmness in my heart. Life and raising kids is all about love, understanding, grace and a whole lot of patience. I thank God daily for the patience I have.

following all recommendations from the Centers for Disease Control, California Department of Public Health, CalHR and others,” said Chris Clark, Media Relations Manager for Caltrans Sacramento Headquarters.

Clark cites the concerns over COVID-19 spreading among the homeless population as the reason they won’t clear the area in Eastvale.

“Caltrans has temporarily suspended encampment cleanups unless there is an immediate safety concern,” Clark said. “But will continue to work with local partners to move individuals into safer situations as available.”

“How safe is a freeway on ramp?” said Eastvale resident Rudy Delgado. “This is a huge safety concern for the homeless and for the residents.”

“They’ve been wandering into our neighborhood (68th and the 15), we saw a homeless man nearly incoherent and what I felt was hostile, and have been seen by the soccer fields,” said Cynthia R., via Facebook. “If he’s going to his campsite via our neighborhood it isn’t safe for our kids.”

The only way this encampment could be cleared is unless “there is an immediate safety concern,” according to Caltrans. The question remains if it is or not, or will it grow into a huge concern.

To voice concerns, you can contact Caltrans’ Media Relations Manager in Sacramento, Chris Clark (who we were referred to when contacting the local level). He can be emailed at Christopher.Clark@dot.ca.gov. His direct line is 916.416.8615. You can copy your email to Terri. Kasinga@dot.ca.gov to ensure the local level has a copy of your correspondence. Please watch verbosity, language, and remember that pictures are worth a thousand words.

Eastvale Reports Success of Automated License Plate Reader Systems

COURTESY: CITY OF EASTVALE

Eastvale – In 2019, the City of Eastvale installed Automated License Plate Reader (ALPR) systems at the entry and exit points of the City, and on law enforcement vehicles servicing the community. These installations were achieved as part of the City’s commitment to enhance public safety and to assist the Riverside County Sheriff’s Department with identifying reported vehicles and finding stolen cars and license plates. The City of Eastvale is pleased to report the effectiveness and success of these ALPR systems since inception.

“Since they’ve been installed, the Automated License Plate Reader camera systems have proven to be a vital tool used daily by our Riverside County Sheriff’s Department” Mayor Brandon Plott said. “This technology is an effective investigative resource that has contributed to the recovery of numerous stolen vehicles.”

ALPR systems are high-speed, computer-controlled cameras that automatically capture vehicles’ license plate information, compare the plate number to one or more databases available to law enforcement personnel, and send alerts when a vehicle of interest has been observed. The ALPR systems are separated into two categories: fixed ALPR and mobile ALPR. The City installed 30 fixed ALPR systems that have scanned over 32 million license plates, with approximately 14 thousand successful alerts. The mobile ALPR systems, installed on law enforcement vehicles servicing Eastvale, have scanned over 450 thousand license plates, with approximately 260 successful alerts. These combined alerts have led to the recovery of 43 stolen vehicles and 13 arrests for charges including the possession of a stolen vehicle. The data retrieved from these ALPR systems have also been used as evidence to assist in a large number of investigations that led to numerous arrests.

The ALPR systems installed throughout the City of Eastvale are provided by Vigilant Solutions. Riverside County Sheriff’s personnel that have acquired these systems are required to follow appropriate protocols and practices to ensure compiled data is observed and used with integrity, community confidence, and compliance. The use of ALPR systems and information is restricted to official and legitimate law enforce-
