New Sales Tax Revenue to Fund Eastvale Library & Police Station

STAFF REPORTS

Eastvale -The City of Eastvale announced that a sales tax revenue update will take place at the next City Council meeting, on July 28. The additional funding would help fund a future Eastvale Downtown area, which is expected to include a new Eastvale Library and Police Station.

Andy Nickerson, CEO of HdL Companies (the City's sales tax information consultant), will provide an update on the City's current and projected sales tax numbers at the next Council meeting.

"We anticipate an exciting update as a company within the City of Eastvale changed how they post and distribute their sales tax based on where their distribution centers are located," stated the City in a news release. "This change will result in additional sales tax revenue for the City of Eastvale and our community!"

New Housing Element Website Launched

STAFF REPORTS

Eastvale - The City of Eastvale recently announced that they created a new Housing Element website to keep the community informed and engaged about the latest Housing Element news. This website will include information, schedules, and upcoming opportunities to provide input on the Housing Element. The website will also include resources to track the progress of the Housing Element update from draft to approval. The new Housing Element website can be found at <https://engage.eastvaleca.gov/housing-element>.

The City of Eastvale provided the below statement regarding the Housing Element:

The Housing Element is

Eastvale's "housing plan" and a required chapter in the General Plan. By State law, the City is required to plan for the housing needs of everyone in the community by updating the Housing Element every 8 years. An important piece of the Housing Element is the Regional Housing Needs Allocation, referred to as the "RHNA", which establishes a "fair share" allocation for all cities and counties in the the State to meet their housing demand over the next 8 years. In March 2021, the State approved Eastvale's final RHNA, requiring the City to plan for 3,028 housing units over the next 8 years.

The City created a robust outreach program to give the community ample opportunities to provide input on the process.

OUR FEATURED BUSINESSES

Tint Your Windows At Mr. Tint

STAFF REPORTS

Norco - Car window tinting is one of the best ways to improve the look and comfort of your vehicle. You can protect the interior of the vehicle from sun damage by tinting the windows. Sunlight and heat can cause your interior, like seats and the dashboard, to fade, crack and deteriorate. Window tinting reduces the sunlight allowed into the vehicle, which in turn reduces how hot it gets inside your car. Likewise, homes and offices heat up during the day, and trying to keep your air-conditioner ahead of the game can be costly.

Car window tinting also increases the value of your vehi-

Our Life: The eye of the beholder

BY MICHAEL ARMIJO

It was a warm yet windy day filled with strong sorrow. The air reflected a deep sense of respect as people gathered to say goodbye to a friend whose spirit had left the earth. As everyone gathered, the vibrant wooden casket lay atop the ground as the family gathered closely around. The youngest boy, a young man, gazed at the casket while tears of sorrow flowed from his swollen eyes. He walked up and lay his cheek on top of the hard, shiny, wooden box, as his white-gloved hands gently caressed the top of the last home his fathers' body would ever have. He layed gentle kisses on the top of the casket, as his unconditional love reflected in front of all those who watched. A gentle whisper is heard a row back; "did you see that? how sad."

When I heard those words; "how sad," I felt something deep inside that disagreed. Something that didn't see the message of sadness when the boy showed his respect to his loved one. Instead, I saw an act of love. A love so strong, it displayed the true meaning of unconditional love. Something deep inside that didn't care if the world looked on or what people felt. A feeling of purity, of joy, of strength.

I believe the old saying; "beauty is in the eye of the beholder." I believe we all see life in a certain light, and sometimes, in a certain darkness.

I also believe that when we express the darkness that surrounds our lives, it spreads like a contagious and cancerous disease. It attaches by simple contact, clings like a dependent child, and deteriorates in a short amount of time.

I've learned that opinions are only perceptions of a person's immediate thinking, and reflections of someone's inner self. What we see is usually what we feel, what we feel deep inside. Without realizing it, we express past experiences, deep histories, our insecurities of our future; we reflect the perception of our own lives.

I also believe that when we see life in its darkest hour, we do have the opportunity to see life through the brightest light. For some it's a short path traveled to a place inside that holds our mind hostage from our heart. For others, it's a level of confidence that sits deep within that has been damaged by a careless act from an irresponsible adult.

I believe that the true meaning of life can only be understood through the light of beauty and the inner joy that sets deep in our hearts. I believe the vision of what will come can only be seen through the eyes of a believer. I feel the truest form of emotion can only be felt when a person can feel the presence of a higher power, a stronger entity, something or someone greater than ourselves.

I understand that life is not always what it intends itself to be, it changes moods like a spoiled child. But I also understand that life can be what we want it to be; all we have to do is apply our hearts in front of our minds. Following what we truly feel and not what we think we see, is the only way to put aside our petty angry thoughts and our insignificant bitterness. Because just as the boy who helped bury his only father, the tears that flow from our swollen eyes are tears of love that can only be seen when beauty is in the eye of the beholder.

referring to due to the “confidential nature of sales tax information and revenue”.

However, the City is excited for this announcement because additional sales tax revenue will “help fund key priority goals and initiatives outlined by the City Council in their 2021 Strategic Plan, such as Public Safety, Infrastructure, and funding our future downtown City Hall, Library, and Police Station!” stated the City. These new additions will be located at the Leal site at the corner of Limonite Ave. and Hamner Ave. The Leal site bound by Hamner, Limonite, Scholar and 58th is in escrow with a purchase and sale for a master developer, according to the City. The City Council approved the Master Plan in December 2017.

The City specified that the Police Station will belong to the City and will not be a Sheriff’s sub-station. They also stated that the City Council just authorized a five-year contract with the Riverside County Sheriff’s Department and added “two new Community Orientated Special Enforcement Team Deputies dedicated to the City to enhance quality of life and public safety,” according to a City Facebook post.

Many residents expressed concern that the community sales tax would be increased. However, the City reassured the community that their sales taxes are not going up in Eastvale. “We pride ourselves on having the lowest sales tax in the region!” stated the City. Instead, revenue will go up from this particular company that they are keeping confidential for now.

The City Council meeting will take place on July 28 at the Eastvale City Hall. If you are unable to attend the City Council meeting, you can watch it via live-stream by going to www.eastvaleca.gov.

Superchargers provide quick and convenient charging in as little as 30 minutes.

Another talk of the town is the future Eastvale downtown area, which is expected to be on the Leal property on the corner of Limonite Ave and Hamner Ave. This area plans to include an Eastvale Library, Eastvale City Hall, and an Eastvale Police Station. Read more about this on our front page story.

New additions are also being added online as the City of Eastvale has created a website dedicated to keeping the community informed and engaged on the Housing Element Update.

“The website is the go-to place for all the latest Housing Element news, information, schedules, and upcoming opportunities to provide input on the Housing Element,” said a

City statement. “You will also find resources to track the progress of the Housing Element update from draft to approval.” Read more about this on our front page cover story.

The City also launched a new “Eastvale Elevates” microsite for businesses. This is a new economic business attraction and development website for local and prospective businesses. “Eastvale Elevates is meant to attract and develop businesses to serve our community and enhance sales tax revenue to provide vital community services such as public safety and infrastructure!” stated the City. Visit the website at www.eastvaleelevates.com.

Lastly, the Little Eastvale Library is branching out to new locations. You can either create your own Little Library or submit an application to have one built for you at no cost. Students at ERHS STEM Academy will be building 30 little libraries this summer and Eastvale Target will be sponsoring the books, according to Mayor Yow in a social media post.

The Little Eastvale Library book exchange program is an excellent vehicle for fostering a love of learning and setting the stage for early educational success. This initiative was coordinated by the Eastvale Chamber of Commerce, Target, The Friends of the Eastvale Library, and the Eastvale STEM Academy.

Managing water supply to meet demand is a core function for JCSD. On average, each JCSD customer uses 185 gallons of water per day.

JCSD's water supply is 100% groundwater which is replenished by rain & snowmelt from neighboring mountains.

During times of drought, the amount of water in the groundwater basin is reduced and takes years to refill.

For this reason, we plan many years into the future for population growth, recreational needs, and the possibility of future droughts.

Wash Your Car & Meet Your Neighbors

Mark Hopper

I love the long summer evenings in Southern California. I love to get more things done after dinner with the extra daylight we enjoy in June and July. I was surprised the clock read 8:30 PM when I came into the house after washing my car.

An added bonus to the long summer evenings has been meeting more of my neighbors. There are a lot of men, women, and young adults walking past our house every evening. Many of them are doing laps around our block and come by several times. And many of them are walking with a spouse, children or exercise partner.

I like to pause what I am doing and say hello as people pass by. Some share encouraging comments on how nice my car looks. I like to return the compliment and tell them what a good job they are doing as they walk through our neighborhood.

Some people pause when I ask them their name or where they live. It has been challenging to learn new names and remember them the next time I see them. But I enjoy our brief conversations and I like getting to know my neighbors better.

There is a verse in the Bible that says, "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and love your neighbor as yourself" (Luke 10:27). It is hard to love your neighbors if you don't know your neighbors. One of the biggest obstacles to getting to know your neighbors is the garage door. People drive down the street, press the garage door opener, pull into their garage and close the door. It is pretty hard to get to know them when you can't even speak to them.

Other obstacles include the back yard patio and the indoor air conditioning. It is interesting that older homes were built with a front porch. People would get out of their warm house on a summer evening and sit outside to enjoy a cool evening breeze. The front porch provided a natural setting to greet people walking by. It enabled neighbors to meet other neighbors.

Let me encourage you to get to know the neighbors who live around you. Why not wash your car during these long summer evenings and say hello to the people who walk by. Why not set up a lawn chair in your front yard instead of sitting in your air conditioned house or the back yard patio. You will be glad you did and your neighbors will too!

You can read 365 more stories (one for every day of the year) in the book Let Me Encourage You. by Mark Hopper for only $25 (includes postage). Order your copy this week at markh@efreedb.org. Visit Mark's website to read his latest stories at Letmarkencourageyou.com.

Healing Faith

Pastor Dennis Morales

"Be of good cheer, daughter, your faith has made you well." Matthew 9:22

As Jesus would pass through the region, people would crowd him to see Him, hear Him, or seek to be healed by Him. His reputation preceded Him as a prophet and healer, but little did they know at the time that He was the Christ, who was prophesized about going back to Genesis 3:15. As Jesus made his way through this particular city, and as crowds were pressing into Him, He says "who touched me?" (Luke 8:45). One of His disciples says with exuberant confidence "Master everyone is touching you." Yes, obviously, many seemed to be touching Him, but Jesus said this was different. He says, "I perceive power has gone out from Me." (Luke 8:46). Something was different about this person's touch. When Jesus asked the question "who touched Me," the crowd dissipated a bit and all who was left was a woman on her knees trembling. This woman reached out and touched the hem of Jesus' garment and was healed instantly. She "reached out" as a last resort after 12 years of seeking physicians and exhausting her every dime. She was a woman most likely ostracized for her condition as she was considered "unclean." Ostracized from family, friends, and being able to worship at the temple. Jesus then reaches out to her and speaks to her. He calls her "daughter." Something that she needed and possibly longed to hear. A term of endearment. Having a stigma follow her for years, she had little contact with people. He fulfilled her emotional need, but most importantly, He says to her, "your faith has made you well." Her greatest need was for a Savior. Faith was necessary for her healing. She, in the midst of years of disappointment, believed God could heal her. Religion or a church cannot heal you, but if you reach out to Jesus and ask Him into your heart, He can touch you spiritually. Believe He can transform you today. Calvary Chapel Eastvale meets at Eastvale Elementary located at 13031 Orange St, Eastvale. Sundays 8:30/10:30am. Livestream, YouTube Live, and Facebook Live is also available. www.calvaryeastvale.org.

Autism Mom: This Little Light Of Mine

Melody Kraemer

This little light of mine, I'm going to let it shine. Let it shine, let it shine, let shine. I sing this to my boys almost daily to remind them that they have a light within them and let the world see it.

Being autistic, they may not fully understand the concept of what I am singing, but I know they are taking it in.

I pray my boys will grow up and be confident, have strength, follow their hearts, know they are essential in this world, and let their light shine.

I also take to heart that I need to shine my light and walk and talk with confidence. Not everyone I run into is kind or understanding of my boy's ASD. On social media, some people could be mean and rude behind their keyboards.

At times I have been defensive, or I feel defeated. I get unsure of myself, and I question things.

I know I am the best mother for my kids though I let people dim my light or shake my confidence from their nasty words. I have to remind myself who I am. I am a child of God and I don't need validation from anyone. We all have a light inside of us, so let's go out and brighten up the world and let it shine, let it shine, let it shine.

Deuteronomy 31:6
6 Be strong and courageous. Do not be afraid or terrified because of them, for the LORD your God goes with you; he will never leave you nor forsake you."

Learning To Trust Yourself

Nancy Stoops

Your instincts can guide you well if you can just learn to trust yourself. Remember when you were younger and taking a test and you were told to go with the answer you first thought was correct. This is truly the concept of trusting your instincts or your gut. Nobody knows you better than you know yourself so it makes sense to learn to trust yourself to know what is best for you. Think about how many times you have proven that you can trust your instincts. Look at the evidence in your life about how many times you have been right about something. So then why is it you still doubt yourself and feel you can't make good life decisions? It's probably some lie about yourself left over from your childhood. You can learn to combat that lie by looking at the truth about what an amazing person you are today.

Take a moment right now and think about how far you have come. Take some time to look at all of the evidence in your life that shows you that you are worthy of self-trust. Take some time to think about how proud you are of where you're at and that your mindset has really changed for the better. Now that you are learning to value yourself you are making healthier and more functional decisions about your life. Learn to journal as you continue to move forward in your personal growth and document each step as evidence that you can trust yourself and believe in yourself. It's really important that you start to recognize your progress and give credit to yourself to build the confidence you need to trust your instincts and in turn trust yourself. I believe in all of you and celebrate all of your personal growth and I'm here to tell you that you can trust yourself!

In January 2021, the City kicked off the program with an Introduction to the Housing Element holding several outreach events including a workshop with the Planning Commission and eventually City Council to begin the work of identifying how to accommodate the RHNA.

Since receiving the Regional Housing Needs Allocation of 3,028 housing units in late

March 2021, the City team and consultants have been evaluating vacant and potential parcels. 90% of the City is already built which includes 15,654 single family homes, 772 multiple family homes along with schools, parks, churches, commercial retail, warehouse, logistics and industrial land uses. Now that we have completed the evaluation of the vacant parcels, we are continuing our community engagement that will include a series of upcoming workshops with the Planning Commission and City Council, several "pop-up" events, and the rolling out of a simulation tool that will allow members of the public to be a "resident planner" and balance housing needs allocation and residential density across the City!

Visit the Housing Element project website and subscribe at <https://engage.eastvaleca.gov> to stay informed of progress, updates, and opportunities to provide input!
