Lights Out In Eastvale

STAFF REPORTS

Eastvale - Several communities in the city spent their Thanksgiving in the dark this year after Southern California Edison (SCE) shut down the power.

Some areas of Eastvale had their power shut off starting on Wednesday, Nov. 24 and others had it shut off on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 25. SCE said the reason was due to high winds in the area that could potentially cause wildfires.

“When there is a high risk for a wildfire, we may temporarily shut off power to your neighborhood to prevent our electric system from becoming the source of ignition,” states the SCE website. “Use the interactive map to search affected areas, as well as

Local Police Department Awarded Grants

STAFF REPORTS

Eastvale/Norco - The Jurupa Valley Station was recently awarded a grant totaling $102,546 to use in the cities of Eastvale and Norco. Specifically, Eastvale was awarded $53,110 and Norco was awarded $49,436.

Using these grants, the Jurupa Valley Station will roll out a police traffic services program to deter dangerous and illegal driving behaviors that increase the risk of crashes in the community. This program will run through September 2022.

“Impairment, speeding and other dangerous driving behaviors jeopardize the safety of other people on the road,” according to the Riverside County Sheriff Department. “This funding allows the Riverside County Sheriff’s Department to provide necessary traffic enforcement measures with the goal of reducing serious injury and fatal crashes on our roads.”

The Sheriff’s Department stated that the grant will pay for additional enforcement measures, including:

DUI checkpoints and patrols specifically focused on suspected impaired drivers

Enforcement operations focused on suspected distracted drivers in violation of California’s hands-free cell phone law

Bicycle and pedestrian safety enforcement operations focused on driver behaviors that put vulnerable road users at risk

Officer training and/or recertification: Standard Field Sobriety Test (SFST), Advanced Roadside Impaired Driving Enforcement (ARIDE) and Drug Recognition Expert (DRE).

Funding for this program was provided by a grant from the California Office of Traffic Safety, through the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

Tint Your Windows At Mr. Tint

STAFF REPORTS

Norco - Car window tinting is one of the best ways to improve the look and comfort of your vehicle. You can protect the interior of the vehicle from sun damage by tinting the windows. Sunlight and heat can cause your interior, like seats and the dashboard, to fade, crack and deteriorate. Window tinting reduces the sunlight allowed into the vehicle, which in turn reduces how hot it gets inside your car. Likewise, homes and offices heat up during the day, and trying to keep your air-conditioner ahead of the game can be costly.

see Tint page 10

Mr. Tint is conveniently located just minutes from Eastvale at 1780 Town and Country Drive, #104, in Norco (near the post office and DMV). Call them at (951) 737-7007 for more information.

Our Life: Why Remember?

MICHAEL ARMIJO

I once read a story about a 9-year old boy named Travis, whose mother died at home one day. Without telling a soul, little Travis covered her body with a coat and he placed sheets of notebook paper over her face. He learned to fix his own meals – mostly frozen pizza, cereal, and soup – cut his own hair, and attended school without fail. He did this for over a month because he was afraid he'd be placed into foster care if anyone found out his mother passed away. The mother's body was eventually discovered by family friends. Travis begged them not to call the police. When I read this story I was moved to write about it from my perspective. A friend asked me why I sought out areas in life that are so traumatic, so emotional, and so powerful. He asked me why I seemed to focus on elements of life that are painful, emotional and disturbing. "Why remember," he asked. It amazes me what life brings you. It's like an old, enormous tree that sits in your neighborhood. One day it catches your eye and you tell yourself, "Gee, I never noticed that huge obstacle in front of me before." Although that tree has been there throughout your life and you've had to go around it most every day, you just never really looked at it. You're so busy trying to survive that the small detour has become a part of your life, your routine. I kind of feel that my emotions are like that tree; I've driven past them for so many years without really paying attention. I kept wondering why it took so long to get anywhere productive; why life was such a hassle for me. And then one day, for some reason, I finally noticed this tremendous obstruction in my life that I was going around and avoiding over and over again. I became fed up and decided I wasn't going to avoid it anymore – I was going to drive right through that humongous tree of emotions. It was never my plan to have to go and examine the landscaping of my life. I thought I was supposed to follow the path that was laid out before me. But somewhere along the way, I developed a source of confidence that somehow convinced me that the path laid out before me was vulnerable to manipulation. I realized that I could change where I was going and how I was going to get there. I believe there are experiences in life that give you freedom and confidence, but sometimes you end up in a stagnant period where you have to take a moment to sit back and reflect. And during this reflection you might sometimes feel resentful of the circumstances that are before you. You might realize that someone in your life planted seeds that grew into this enormous tree that distanced you from the success you feel you deserve. And somehow - although you feel as though you never intended to water those seeds – this enormous tree has grown, survived, and even thrived in your life. When you realize this, you might have a tendency to be angry or resentful of the irresponsibility of someone else's sowing. You can't change what has happened in your life, and that in itself can be an obstacle preventing you from going forward. It's puzzling why we remember those horrible situations that have scarred our lives with darkness and pain. But as my dear friend said to me in a simple question, "Why remember?" After hearing those two words I realized I had no real answer for that question. I then felt compelled to just let the darkness go and try to remember how great life really is. I can appreciate that although the huge tree may have strong roots, with a little work I can uproot the unhappiness. And just like Travis, who used a few pieces of notebook paper to cover a painful sight, hoping that no one would discover it, we can ignore the obvious, or use those pages to write a new chapter in our lives. A chapter that will include a new path - right smack through that enormous tree.

the locations of our Community Crew Vehicles and Community Resource Centers.”

Several community members went to social media to express their frustration with the power outage. Many posted the inconsistent updates SCE sent. First, SCE sent out an update that there may be a potential power outage, but it was sent after the power was already turned off. Then SCE gave a time of when the power would turn back on, but the time they gave had already passed by the time the notification was received.

Others expressed their frustration with Thanksgiving plans ruined, food being spoiled, batteries dying, and the lack of communication from SCE ahead of time. Many also said they lived in the community for years and witnessed higher winds than that evening, so they were confused on why SCE shut the power off for so long.

The City of Eastvale posted a link to the map with the areas affected and stated, “SCE will restore power as soon as the weather conditions permit, and crews have inspected the power lines. Changes to weather, line damage, and other conditions may require additional time before service can be safely restored.” They stated that this was not a planned outage, and it was solely due to the high winds. They also stated they could not do anything to turn the power back on since it was done by SCE.

However, the City did try to help the community by opening

City Hall to the public so they can charge their electronic devices. This gesture was greatly appreciated by the community. Other members posted on social media that their home was open for those that needed to cook their turkey since their power was not out at the time.

Some community members made the best of the situation by using an ice chest to keep their food cold or a generator to obtain power. Many community members simply changed their Thanksgiving plans by going with family, friends, or to an open restaurant. Others stayed home and had a candlelit dinner with the foods they were able to make or buy. But ultimately, the power came back on later that Thanksgiving evening for some and the next day for many others.

For future power outages, it is highly recommended that you sign up for text or email updates on the SCE website at www.sce.com. To review wildfire safety, please visit www.sce.com/wildfire. For additional questions, you can contact SCE at 1-800-655-4555.

You Can Only Play So Much Golf

Mark Hopper

In the 1990's, I led a small team of adults from our church in California to Guatemala. We were going there to help with the construction of a school near Guatemala City. My wife and I had led a younger team of high school and college students to Guatemala in the 1970's. This time we went with a seasoned group of older adults.

Guatemala is a beautiful country with beautiful people. Several dormant volcanoes tower over the countryside. The vegetation is lush and green. Guatemala is known for its popular coffee beans and wonderful Avocadoes.

While we were working on the construction site we met a man who was doing electrical work. He was a retired engineer who had come by himself at his own expense to pull wires and install electrical outlets in the classrooms. He was planning to be there for a month.

I don't remember his name but I do remember something he said. When I asked him why he had come to Guatemala to work on this project he replied, "You can only play so much golf". He went on to explain that when he retired from his career as an electrical engineer he spent a lot of time playing golf with some of his buddies. But after a year of retirement he felt he needed to do something more with his time. When he heard about the project in Guatemala, he decided to put his golf clubs in the closet and spend some time helping other people.

Please don't misunderstand. I like golf. In fact, my wife says I don't play enough golf. But I think we all know that there are other things that are more important. We may get a sense of enjoyment from a good round of golf. But we can get an even greater sense of fulfillment when we use our time and talents to serve others.

There is a passage in the Bible that says, "Put yourself aside and help others get ahead. Don't be obsessed with your own interests. Forget yourselves long enough to lend a helping hand" (Philippians 2:4 - The Message Bible). You won't find lasting fulfillment just doing things that you like. Real fulfillment is found when we volunteer our time and use our abilities to help others. You won't find happiness looking for it. You stumble across it when you serve others. Let me encourage you to volunteer some of your time to serve at your church or in your community. Don't sit home and watch TV. Get off the couch and get into the community and help people. And allow yourself a little time for a round of golf with your buddies too! You will be glad you did!

Praise Him

Pastor Dennis Morales

"Through Him let us continually offer the sacrifice of praise to God, that is, the fruit of [our] lips, giving thanks to His name." Hebrews 13:15

Words are powerful, especially words of praise or thanks. God is honored with our words of praise and thanksgiving. It is easy to praise God when the sun is shining, or when our kids are getting good grades in school, or maybe if we have received a promotion at work. Scripture says that praise is also a sacrifice at times. That's when things are not too good. When we praise God in the difficulty, it is the praise of sacrifice. When we praise Him, we proclaim our faith in Him.

The Psalmist writes "As for me, I will always have hope. I will praise you more and more (Psalm 71:14). A sacrifice of praise is something that we offer to God — in times of well-being and in times of sorrow. Never allow praise to become a habit of only a celebratory activity. When times are tough, praise has the ability to lighten our hearts and fill us with a sense of possibility, love, and security that can only come from Heaven's throne. When you are able to praise

God in the difficulty, you are trusting what God sees and His provision.

In the late 1800's George Mueller operated an orphanage that at one time had 1,000 orphans. One morning there was no food to eat, but he called all the children and staff together and prayed thanking God for the provision of food, even though no food was on the table. A few moments later a baker knocked on the door. He told Mr. Muller that God had led him to bake bread the night before and give it to the orphanage. Before the bread was given to the children, a milkman knocked on the door.

He said that his milk truck had broken down and he wanted to give the milk to the orphanage. George Muller gave thanks, even when it took faith to do so.

Praise is another word for admiration, and it's often linked to thanksgiving. Take some time and praise Him today for all He has done. Praise Him because He is able. "Praise Him because He is worthy" (Psalm 145:3).

He Shouldn't Have to Wear a Sign

Melody Kraemer

It's my birthday month, and the one wish I have is: I wish every month is autism awareness month. I am not asking anyone to get a degree in autism, but to be aware of a few things. Autism is not contagious, and you don't need to be afraid around an autistic person nor be mean to someone that has autism,

This past month we had attended several "Halloween" events, and what I witnessed from many led me to my birthday wish.

At one outing where my son was flapping and dancing around, having fun, this woman acted as if my son had the plaque. Little kids came up to him and stared at him, and one even kicked him. My little one has no clue why he was kicked or could even express it hurt, and he got pushed too by one. Why do kids think its ok to bully someone differently?

At another event, my boy was doing his own thing in a pile of corn, the corn pit at Frosty's Pumpkin Patch. He was lying there covering himself in corn when a child decided to walk across him and stand on his stomach. My boy looked at him as I yelled to get off of him. A few minutes later, the boy came back and jumped on his legs. Just because he doesn't scream or say anything doesn't mean he's not feeling it.

Be kind. Teach your children to be kind. We are all created uniquely. None of us should have to wear a sign explaining ourselves. We all should be accepted.

Ephesians 4:2 NIV Be completely humble and gentle; be patient, bearing with one another in love.

Happy Thanksgiving

Nancy Stoops

I would like to start by wishing all of you a very happy and blessed Thanksgiving. I also want to remind you that we have so very much to be grateful for during this very difficult time in our world. Make every day a Thanksgiving not just one day a year. Think about all that you have in your life. Most of us have our health, a roof over our heads, food in our bellies, a car, hot and cold running water, family, pets, and so much more. We can spend our days feeling sorry for ourselves for what we don't get to do or have right now or we can focus on all that we have.

It really comes down to perspective and attitude or what I refer to a mindset. I believe it is really important for our well being to stay positive and grateful. If we give in to the darkness and all that is wrong then we will become depressed and anxious. If we can practice staying in the good and the light then our lives will be better and we will enjoy each and every-day no matter what is occurring in our world. The truth is all we really have control over is how we respond to everything. I say use this power to put good into our world and into ourselves.

Please remember different doesn't have to be bad it can be amazing. I know this year many of us will have a different type of celebration for Thanksgiving but remember you can still make it magical. This can be the year of some new fantastic traditions and a great opportunity to make magnificent memories!!!! Happy Thanksgiving to you all amazing beings and may your holiday be filled with the magic of positive thinking and all that is possibly and fabulous in our world!!!!!!

Norco College Apprenticeship

BY NORCO COLLEGE

Norco - Apprenticeship is an Earn & Learn model of training where employers structure a career pathway by combining an educational track alongside paid on-the-job training.
